Music Group To Arrange Yule Program

Sing Set for Dec. 8 In Auditorium

Mu Phi Epsilon, women's national music honorary, and Phi Mu Alpha symphonia, men's national music honorary, will sponsor and present a complimentary program of Christmas music Sunday afternoon, December 8, at 4 p. m., in the music building auditorium. All participants are members of one of the organizations, and all arrangements are being made by the members.

The program will include a mixed chorus of 20 voices, under the direction of Johnette King, senior in music and former director of the University vesper choir. The choir will be accompanied by Virgene Lindley at the organ and Jim Murie at the piano.

Solos Scheduled

Mary Margaret Dundore will present incidental vocal solos. Numbers will include both traditional and modern Christmas music. Featured will be "Snow Shine at Bethlehem," a composition by Milton Dietrich, professor of theory in the school of music.

Pat Heinrichs will play several selections on the four manual pipe

Two-Hour Finals Set For December 16-21

A revision in the final-examination schedule for the present term was made Monday afternoon by the schedule committee, C. E. Avery, University registrar, disclosed today.

Changes in the new type of examination week, necessitated this year by the University's large enrollment, will affect the time schedule and the length of final examinations.

Two-Hour Finals

All finals will be of two-hour duration and are to be given during the first two regular class periods in the last week of classes, December 16 to 21. Examinations for three-hour classes which meet on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Fridays will be given in two parts, the first half on December 16 and the second half on December 18.

Finals for three-hour courses meeting on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays will be given on December 17 and 19. Students in four and five-hour classes will likewise be given examinations in those courses during the first two class periods of the week.

In answer to the question of whether or not professors must give the full two-hour examinations as in the past, Registrar Avery said, "It is the expectation of the schedule committee that professors will give the traditional two-hour examinations."

Melchior Adds to Long List of 'Firsts'; Acts As Own Conductor, Accompanist

Previously Signed Autographs Given

By LAURA OLSON

Lauritz Melchior has added another first to his list. He not only sings while the orchestra plays but conducts them at the same time. While the "Great Dane" stood amidst the waves of applause which greeted the conclusion of his concert Sunday afternoon, his wife explained the situation. Saturday night Melchior was to appear in Seattle; he arrived; the orchestra assembled—no conductor. When concert time arrive, the artist took action. He sang and conducted the orchestra simultaneously, much to the amazement of the audience.

Singer Has Worries

The night before, in Vancouver, B. C., the orchestra didn't arrive until 10 p. m. "Mr. Melchior was quite worried," Mrs. Melchior explained, "but he solved the problem by entertaining the crowd as he sang and accompanied himself on the piano. The audience was quite pleased," she added, "and stayed until the orchestra arrived and the concert was concluded."

The diminutive wife of the artist is called "Kleinchen" by her husband which means "little one." She is five feet tall and Melchior, who stands six feet four inches towers above her.

Conductor Lauds Melchior

When Melchior came into the dressing room, he called the members of the orchestra in and bade them goodbye. The orchestra was composed of men and women from Seattle and Portland, since the original orchestra remained in Los Angeles because they preferred not to fly as flying conditions were too irregular. After the Met star concluded, Otto Seyfert, conductor, declared, "Your performance tonight was the best you have given since we have worked together, perhaps the enthusiasm of the students and townspeople was the cause of it."

While he made preparations to meet the autograph seekers who could be heard outside the door, Melchior declared, "If I do not have time to answer your questions, just ask my wife because she knows everything that I do."

He explained that the word Melchior has no other meaning in Danish. "It is just a name," he said, "but it is a good one, I think."

New Autograph Twist

Melchior met the demands of the autograph seekers by handing out slips of paper which he had signed previously. About one person in ten greeted the star with a sudden burst of Danish (or was it Swedish) which pleased the tenor.

As the Danish pair departed from the dressing room, Melchior turned and declared, "I wish there was more time to talk, but we have a bus, which is chartered, to catch. Please say, however, that this concert is one which I especially enjoyed. The audience was most appreciative."

Vet Loans to Be Given

For the benefit of veterans whose government checks have not yet arrived, the Lane County Red Cross has announced that loans will be granted by them to any student veterans in need of financial aid.

Applications for these loans should be made at the Lane County Red Cross office located at 43 West Eighth street.

UO Officials Say-- Classes Meet Today

Flood Rumors Flood Campus Tuesday Night; Millrace Carries Water During Afternoon

By BILL YATES

Contrary to the rumors which deluged the campus Tuesday, classes will be held today as scheduled. Official announcement of this was issued from President Newburn's office shortly before it closed yesterday afternoon.

The decision not to close the University was based on reliable reports from the American Automobile Assn., which reported at 4 p. m. that no roads either north or south were closed, and that expectations were that the present dangerous high-water situation would not reach flood proportions.

Disciplinary Code Officially Approved

Official approval has been given the new University discipline code, adopted recently by the Student Discipline committee, the office of President Harry K. Newburn revealed yesterday.

Members of the committee formulating the code, which goes into effect immediately, include three students, five faculty members, and the dean of men, and the dean of women, who serve in a non-voting capacity, E. L. Johnson, head of the political science department, is chairman of the Student Discipline committee.

Code for Minority

Although University officials recognize that only a small minority of students need a discipline code to guide their actions, it was

Rumors Are Flying

Reports that classes would be canceled today so that students could leave for Thanksgiving vacation before a possible closing of main highways could prevent their departure, began circulating shortly before noon yesterday. Nearly all University agencies were immediately bombarded with telephone calls, which continued to be received all afternoon and on into the evening.

A careful check of reports showed that most were without substantial evidence to back up claims that students would be unable to leave Eugene after today.

No Flood

A weather bureau report at 9 p. m. last night indicated that the Willamette river, which could, if a flood peak were reached, over-

Discipline Code Stated

"The University presents this disciplinary code in full recognition of the fact that the overwhelming majority of students need no code imposed upon them and that the offenses outlined are uncommon on the campus. Nevertheless, it is in the interest of the entire University community that the student body know what general policies and procedures the Student Discipline committee, the dean of men, and the dean of women intend to follow in their disposition of such disciplinary cases as may arise. The following code is deliberately kept flexible in order that each case may be decided on its own merit."

ARTICLE I—Expulsions*

The following offenses are punishable by expulsion or such other penalties as may be imposed. (Expulsion means final and unconditional dismissal.)

1. Wanton destruction of property.
 2. Drunkenness.
 3. Robbery, larceny, and theft.
 4. Immorality.
 5. Gross indecency.
 6. Misbehavior punishable under the State of Oregon Criminal Code.
- * Students may also be expelled for fraudulent registration.

ARTICLE II—Suspensions.

The following offenses are punishable by suspension or such other penalties as may be imposed. (Suspension means involuntary removal for a fixed period of time or until specific conditions are met.)

1. Cheating.
2. Unauthorized absences from living organizations after closing hours.
3. False information concerning overnight off-campus privileges.
4. Traffic in or possession of liquor at any University-sponsored activity.
5. Any other action which brings discredit upon the University of Oregon.

ARTICLE III—Organizations

1. The administration of the University of Oregon expects each group organization that exists on the campus by the sanction of the University to conduct its affairs in such a manner as will reflect credit upon the good name of the group and the University.
2. Student organizations which violate the provisions of Articles I and II or whose members do so in such a manner as to fix responsibility on the organization are subject to such penalties as the dean of men, the dean of women, or the student discipline committee may impose.

ARTICLE IV—Administration

1. Administration of this code shall be the primary responsibility of the dean of men, the dean of women, or the student discipline committee of all cases involving punishment short of expulsion from the University.
2. The dean of women and dean of men shall refer to the student discipline committee all cases in which they wish to recommend expulsion from the University.
3. The deans may at their discretion refer any case to the committee and the committee will consider the referral itself as evidence of the gravity of the alleged offense.
