

Newburn Back From Capital

Dr. Harry K. Newburn, University president, returned to the campus recently from a trip to Washington, D. C., where he attended the second meeting of President Truman's commission on higher education, December 8 to 11. Dr. Newburn serves as chairman of the sub-committee on finance for higher education, one of five such committees functioning within the commission.

At present the commission is working on five sub-committee reports, which are scheduled for President Truman about July 1. The report will later be made public, Dr. Newburn said.

Phases Stated

The five phases of higher education which the sub-committees are studying are the purpose of higher education in America, extension of educational opportunity, the organization of higher education, financing, and the method of support for the commission's program.

"The primary motivation for the reports," Newburn said, "will be to affect and influence the thinking of the general public on matters of higher education." For this reason the reports are being compiled in such a manner as to make them suitable for general consumption.

While in Washington, Dr. Newburn met with University alumni at the Army-Navy club. He also met with another group of alumni in New York.

Interviews Candidates

The remainder of the trip Newburn spent in interviewing possible candidates for University vacancies which will arise at the end of the present academic year.

Dr. Newburn will return to Washington in March to attend the third meeting of the commission.

Sale of Oreganas Again Open Here

New students may order an Oregana at the time they pay their registration fees in Johnson hall, Dick Williams, educational activities manager, said Thursday as he announced the re-opening of sales of the University year-book.

Old students, and new students who have already paid the registration fees, can order an Oregana at the educational activities office in room 1, McArthur court. Price of the book is six dollars.

Cancellations of orders from students who have dropped out of school has made it possible to re-open sales for a limited time, Williams said. Sales were closed late last term.

College to Install Fraternity Triad

Three University fraternities will have brother fraternities at Willamette university in Salem when chapters of Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Chi, and Phi Delta Theta are installed at that school this weekend.

The Miami Triad, name given to these three fraternities because they were founded at Miami university in Oxford, Ohio, will take over three existing local fraternities at Willamette in ceremonies opening tonight and concluding with a joint banquet in Portland Saturday night.

Representatives from the University chapters will attend the installation ceremonies.

dining room will feed students living in Susan Campbell hall, John Straub, and Thacher house, and also any outside students who wish meals there.

Temporary housing, which will be utilized until the veterans' dorm is completed, includes Villard hall, the physical education building, the other veterans' dorm, and private homes.

Editor Schedules Emerald Meeting

Winter term' first meeting for students planning to join the Oregon Daily Emerald staff has been set for 7:30 p.m., January 7, in 105 Journalism, Editor Marguerite Wright announced Thursday.

A larger staff than ever before will be needed this term to publish the kind of newspaper students specified they wanted in the Emerald survey conducted late fall term. The more complete coverage of all campus affairs as well as daily reports of national and international news requested by students and faculty members polled in December will require more reporters, headline writers, and night staff workers.

Students interested in newspaper work, whether or not they are majoring in journalism, are invited to attend the meeting. Positions are open in all Emerald departments including sports, reporting and copy desk, night staff, advertising, and features. Experienced workers are needed to handle Associated Press wire copy in the world news department headed by Gloria Smith.

Those who are registered for Emerald work fall term but were not called upon after the existing positions were filled, may fill out new cards at the Tuesday meeting.

Seal Sale Nets $540

A total of $540 worth of Christmas seals was sold during the campus drive last month, Chairman Joanne Frydenlund, freshman in journalism, announced recently.

Honors in the iterhouse contest held in conjunction with the drive went to Alpha Delta Pi sorority and Sigma Nu fraternity. The two houses hold a total of $48.60 worth of seals, Miss Frydenlund stated.

Veterans Lead

The cafeteria, which is designed to accommodate 1000 students an of veterans in the University as the reason for not mailing grades as was done in past terms. He pointed out that the campus mailing addresses are of no use as most of the students leave Eugene during the holidays, and that a home-town address is often different from the address where the student spends his vacation.

A list of all students who failed in one or more courses during fall term has been posted on the bulletin board on the first floor of Johnson hall. This, Avery said, has been done to assist students in changing any courses that require a passing grade in the course during the previous term.
