PNCC Delegates, OF Head Chosen

Glickman Appointed To Head Federation

Harry Glickman, Old Oregon editor and junior in journalism, was named director of the Oregon Federation by a vote of 5 to 3 of the ASUO executive council at its meeting Tuesday. The Federation works with Les Anderson, alumni secretary, throughout the year in contacting prospective students for the University.

Recommendations and petitions for the position included Al Popick, sophomore in liberal arts and president of the Order of the O; Gil Roberts, senior in physical education and first vice-president of the executive council; Howard Lemons, junior in business and ISA president; and Glickman.

Also approved at the meeting were three new members of the rally squad recommended by Yell King Tom Hazzard, Marilyn Anderson and Jane Dagget, freshmen rally squad members, and Bill O'Hearn, freshman in physical education, were named to fill three vacancies on the squad.

Two Seniors Picked To Attend Conference

Catherine Crombie, senior in law, and Ted Hallock, senior in journalism, were appointed delegates to the Pacific Northwest College congress by the executive council Tuesday.

The council acted on the recommendations of Dean Victor P. Morris, who selected last year's delegates, and Professor Paul Dull, adviser of the International Relations club.

The second annual Pacific Northwest College congress will be held at Reed college in Portland March 6, 7, and 8 and will be attended by representatives from 36 Northwest colleges, including those in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Canada, and Alaska.

The University's delegates at last year's congress were Lois McConkey Putnam and Lloyd Fresse. Mrs. Putnam and a delegate from the College of Puget Sound were later sent to present the proposals to the American delegation to the United Nations.

Schuster Concert Tonight

By LAURA OLSON

When Joseph Schuster, cellist, arrives in Eugene today, he will bring his most pampered possession with him—his cello. His wife admits that both she and her husband play second fiddle to the instrument, which always rates the best.

Eugene Civic Music association members and ASUO members will have a chance to see both Schuster and the cello when he appears at the Igloo at 8:15 p.m. tonight. The audience will note that Schuster is smaller than his instrument when he sits down to play it.

The cello travels in an alligator-skin case, is placed in an upper berth when the Schusters travel by train, and is swathed in silk and has potato halves in the pockets of the case to equalize the moisture.

Incidentally, no one except Schuster carries the instrument, since, it might be dropped or damaged in some way by a person not adept in handling the huge instrument.

Schuster owns two cellos: one is a Montagnana of approximately 1758, with a beautiful, mellow tone. The other is a David Techler, which because of its size and more brilliant tone, he uses when playing in the bigger concert halls.

Schuster has been married for almost three years. His first meeting with his wife came several weeks after she first noticed him. Mrs. Schuster first fell in love with her husband from a seat in the orchestra of Carnegie hall when he appeared as soloist with the New York Philharmonic.

She came to every concert he played—soon he noticed her and began to look for her at each performance. Apparently this could be going on today if a friend of her family hadn't introduced them. They were married a short time later.

Mrs. Schuster doesn't mind the women thinking her husband is a glamour boy, say the press releases, because she thinks so too; only she likes to believe she really married him for his music.

Thieves Get $80 Of 'Dimes' Money

Approximately $80 belonging to the March of Dimes fund was stolen from a window sill in the Kappa Sigma house some time Sunday. The theft was reported Tuesday by Mary Rasmussen, campus chairman of the dime drive.

The money, which included a $50 check, the proceeds of the KUGN record auction, was placed there by Jack Burris, a member of the March of Dimes committee, after he had made collections through the fraternity house. About $30 in cash was donated by Kappa Sigma members, Burris said.

Believing that the money had been called for by another member of the committee, Burris did not report the theft until Monday, when it became evident that none of the other committeemen was responsible for the absence of the money.

Burris reported that the front door of the house was open, affording ample opportunity for anyone who knew of the collections to enter and take the money without detection.

Bill Loud, in charge of the drive for the city of Eugene, said Tuesday: "It is certainly very shocking that there are people in this community who don't have more respect for a community project which . . . is for the protection of the community. I only hope that the persons in charge of collections will . . . guard carefully this money, which is for the benefit of all."

Sh

I covered Johnson hall today. Big time stuff too. What did they say?

They said—well, now, that's confidential, But be assured it's quite essential. The biggest yet, a front page boomer.

For print? My no! It's just for rumor. —G.M.S.

STRINGARTIST . . .

Joseph Schuster, noted cellist, who will appear in a concert to be held tonight in McArthur court. The concert is held under the auspices of the Eugene Civic Music association.

Dime Hop Date Set for Friday Prize Slated for Winning House

Dime Deposit Time At 15-Minute Periods

The Dime Hop, a progressive dance scheduled to hit each women's living organization on the campus, is on the March of Dimes program for Friday evening from 6:30 to 7:30.

Men will visit any or all women's houses during the hour dance, and are asked to deposit a dime for the campaign when a bell rings at 15-minute intervals. Jordis Benke, sophomore in liberal arts and chairman of the dance, has announced that a cup will be given the women's house collecting the most money.

The cooperation of students as needed to raise the $2,000 campus quota, due to the loss of an estimated $600 to $800 through the failure of the public address system at Friday night's game, according to Mary Rasmussen, general chairman of the drive.

The committee estimates that an average of $35 will be needed from each living organization. A grand prize will be given to the house turning in the largest collection.

Group Will Present 'Life of Friendly'

The life of Samson H. Friendly, former regent of the University, will be presented on the weekly Campus Headlines broadcast over KOAC at 9:00 p.m. Wednesday, and will be transcribed for release at 9:30 p.m., Thursday, over KEX.

The script is an original radio play written by Marvin A. Krenk, production director of University radio studios, and has been taken from authentic and documentary sources.

The broadcast will be produced by Eloise M. Rockwell, senior in English. Members of the cast are Paul Marcotte, Alan Foster, Pat Smith, Paul Ryman, John MacDonald, Theo Feikert, Dick Shelton, Marion Macy, Marv Horenstein, Ted Bouck, Jerry Thomas, and Don Stewart.

This is one of several University sponsored and student produced programs presented over KOAC. The regular Monday night schedule features discussion groups from Dean George S. Turnbull's senior editing classes.

Phi Delt Pledges Stage Kissing Bee

They tell us it's an old Phi Delt custom, but initiates and pledges of five sororities are still wondering about that sudden onslaught of males who invaded their houses Monday night.

The Phi Delta Theta initiates, 16 strong, revived what they insist is a prewar custom when they visited the Delta Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Phi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Kappa Alpha Theta houses to receive (or to plant) oscular felicitations in honor of their newly-elevated status.

According to Emerald statistics, the lads created some kind of a record, when a total of 65 girls were kissed by each of the 16 boys in something less than two hours, a rate of more than one every two minutes.

Heavy Schedule Calls Off Educational Movie

Movies will not be shown in 207 Chapman Wednesday night because of the crowded activity schedule, Activities Manager Dick Williams said Tuesday. Lectures of Dr. Henri Frankfort of the University of Chicago, and the concert of Joseph Schuster are scheduled for this week.

Regular movie schedules will resume January 29. Beginning February 3, the series "Why We Fight," sponsored by the war department and directed by Colonel Frank Capra, will be shown.

Senior Ball Plans Near Completion

Oregon coeds will have their first opportunity of the year to wear those winter formals at this Saturday's Senior ball at McArthur court. Dancing from 9 until 12 p.m. to the music of Art Holman and his popular band will be highlighted by decorations which have been kept secret by the seniors in their plans for the gala event.

Patrons and patronesses for the dance as announced Tuesday by Dorris Spearow, chairman of the patrons committee, include: President and Mrs. Harry K. Newburn, Chancellor and Mrs. Paul C. Packer, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil D. Earl, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Wickham, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Pallett, Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Onthank, Mr. and Mrs. George Hall, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hayden, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dull, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Hollis, Mrs. Marjorie Cunningham.

Tickets for the ball are selling rapidly at $1.20 per couple and dancers are urged to arrive on time at Mac court to receive one of the programs, which are only to be given to the first 600 persons attending. Tickets may be purchased through representatives in each men's living organization or at the Co-op Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

As was announced previously dark suits will be in order for the men attending the dance and corsages will be given to girls wearing formals.

Lost Items Go Thursday

Almost every miscellaneous item that you've been looking for, from fountain pens to charm bracelets, will be sold for a song at the AWS auction Thursday afternoon, from 3 to 5 in front of the Side.

A pair of real silk stockings and a compact have been donated by downtown stores to augment the large variety of items to be auctioned by Dick Savinar and Bob Moran, Prudy McCroskey, auction chairman, revealed.

The lost and found department has provided most of the articles to be purchased by the highest bidders. Proceeds from the annual auction will be used in a special scholarship fund from which worthy girls will be awarded scholarships at the end of the school year.

Items not disposed of by the auctioneers will be sold by Kwamas at the Side Friday. Articles remaining from this sale will be donated to charitable organizations.
