

New Campus Club To Assist WSSF

Plans were formulated last week by the new International Relations club to aid the campus World Student Service fund drive, according to Walt Crosby, president of the organization.

"We are assisting the drive because of the international character it possesses," Crosby said, "and because of the definite need for the drive to be successful, our part will consist of contacting and explaining the purpose of the drive to the various campus organizations."

Crosby requested that anyone interested in participating in the club's phase of the drive should contact him personally, or leave a slip with his name in Dr. Paul Dull's office in Oregon hall.

Proceeds from the WSSF drive will be used for the assistance of students all over the world. The money will be used to purchase text books, clothing, medical supplies, and food, Crosby said.
