

Jobs Available For Graduates

Students graduating from the University this spring or before who are interested in obtaining permanent employment should notify the office of personnel administration, room 6, Friendly, immediately, Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration, said Tuesday.

Companies with jobs available for graduates are listed with this office and interviews will be arranged for students interested in the positions.

Opportunities in the fields of insurance and oil are open for immediate placement, Onthank stated.

Friday of this week, applicants for jobs with the North American Life Insurance companies will be interviewed. The positions available include special agents, underwriters and technical representatives and are jobs paid on a salary basis. Experience is not essential as special training is offered in these fields. Students graduating this spring can obtain positions with an insurance company now.

Immediate jobs for men interested in working into a large oil company are available for graduates or students graduating in March. Positions in Eugene and Cottage Grove are open with fine prospects for promotion.

Men interested in these positions should check with the personnel office at once.

Ducks Level

From there on in the nearest the Huskies could come to the fast-breaking Oregonians was four points at the 44-48 mark, and then the winners forged ahead with a decisive lead. Largest margin was recording at the 18:10 mark when Hays tipped in Reddie Berg's missed free throw to bring the score to 61-50.

Coach Hobby Hobson's Ducks changed their offensive tactics at the 15-minute mark playing a five-man-out weave to preserve their lead. The Huskies pressed hard through the remaining portion of the game, but fell far short despite a pair of long howitzers by Les Eathorne.

Eathorne, who was afflicted with rheumatic fever, suffered a mild stomach-disorder attack in the dressing room following the game.

He was treated by Oregon's team physician Dr. D. F. Guldager, and the attack was reported as not serious.

The fast-breaking ten-point win was sparked by a juggled Oregon lineup as Coach Hobson started Ed Dick and Dick Wilkins at forward, Ken Hays at center, and Stan Williamson and Reddie Berg at guards.

Hays gave an outstanding performance at the center post holding Washington Center Jack Nichols to four field goals and picking up 15 points for himself. Sharing top scoring honors with Hays was Dick, also with 15.

White continued his sensational scoring for the Huskies dropping 7 out of 10 shots from the floor and a single free throw for 15 points. In Monday night's Husky win White connected for six out of seven field tries, giving him a series shooting total of 13 out of 17.

Oregon completely dominated the first half scoring parade with 59 field tries as against 36 for the Huskies.

Contest to Select '47 Miss Oregon

Details of a contest to select a Miss Oregon for the 1947 Oregon were announced Tuesday by Roy Paul Nelson, editor, who said the winner will be selected from among pictures submitted by women's living organizations on the campus.

Pictures must be turned in by February 11 in order to be eligible, Nelson said. The candidate must be a senior, and houses are limited to one candidate only.

"A 3.8 grade average would be highly desirable, but we'll take anything over 1.5," Nelson said.

A full-page spread is being planned for the winner of the contest, Nelson declared. The winner will be announced February 12.

Story Contest Rules Stressed

Strict observance of rules in the Marshall-Case-Haycox short story contest was emphasized by Dr. W. F. G. Thacher, professor of English in charge of the contest. Unless the stories are turned in as designated, they will be disqualified, he said.

Saturday, February 15 is the deadline for the stories, but Dr. Thacher will accept anything that is in his office by Monday morning, February 17. Two copies must be submitted, neither of which must have the author's name on it. The writer's name must be in an envelope with the name of the story on the front of it, and turned in with the story. Manuscripts have already begun to come in, according to Dr. Thacher.

Judges for the contest will be Mrs. Gwendolyn Hayden, Robert Hunt, and C. E. Avery. Mrs. Hayden is a graduate of the University. She is a writer, and recently published a book entitled "Muslin Town." Hunt is a former student of the University, and is now employed as traveling passenger agent of the Southern Pacific. Avery is registrar at the University, and a professor of English.

Dr. Thacher, in choosing the judges, covered three fields: the faculty, represented by Avery; an author, preferably of fiction, represented by Mrs. Hayden; and the reader, represented by Mr. Hunt.

The contest is one of the oldest on the campus, having been held annually for approximately 25 years. Prizes consist of awards of $50, $30, and $20.

Jane Ellsworth, chairman of the special events committee of the WSSF drive under the general chairmanship of Tom Hazzard, announced Tuesday that a Shaeffer Admiral fountain pen donated by the Co-op will be given as a prize to the person who chooses the winning name for the new duck. The duck will be on display at the Side today and Thursday.

Two trophies will be awarded for the winners of the living organization contest, Dido Misley, chairman of the contest, has announced.

The trophies will be on display at the Co-op. They have been donated by the Eugene Register-Guard, Jim Thayer, chairman of the off-campus drive, has revealed.

A campaign has now begun to have Webfoots donate their Co-op receipts to the WSSF, Hazzard said Tuesday. The donation of these receipts will be conducted as a part of the campus drive headed by Hal Brevig.

Persons wishing to contribute to the drive may contact Brevig. Persons in living organizations who wish to aid the drive may contact Miss Misley at the Chi Omega sorority. Faculty members may contact Hazel Trollinger, chairman of the faculty drive, at the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority.
