Late Librarian Wills University Theater Fund

Robinson to Handle Fund Disbursement

Establishment of the Ethel Sawyer University theater fund was announced this week by President Harry K. Newburn, when a $1000 gift was accepted from the estate of the late Ethel Sawyer, former University browsing room librarian.

Gift conditions specified that the fund be used for some tangible and permanent improvement in the University theater. Horace W. Robinson, director of the University theater, was named to handle disbursement of the fund.

Interested in Drama

Knowledge of Miss Sawyer's intense interest in drama and her belief in its potential powers in creative and interpretative channels motivated the offer of the money by the administrator of the estate.

Miss Sawyer believed that the library and theater were the two roads through which enlightenment of the people could be accomplished most effectively. She became interested in the new theater and came to believe that the theater was a greater social force than the library, because of its greater loyalty to artistic and humanistic values.

Experimental Work Backed

Robinson recalls particularly Miss Sawyer's interest in experimental theatrical productions and plans to use part of the fund in attempting this type of production.

"The Skin of Our Teeth" by Thornton Wilder was presented by the University theater as a memorial production to Miss Sawyer in 1944.

Miss Sawyer served as browsing room librarian from 1937 until her death in 1942. The first gift to the University from her estate was $1000 for the establishment of the Ethel Sawyer collection in the library, which included a cross section of 560 volumes of her personal library.

affairs, the club will hold regular monthly meetings. "All students of the University are eligible for membership," Crosby said, "and all persons interested are invited to attend Tuesday's meeting."

Contact Other Units

The club is at present assisting the World Student Service Fund drive by contacting various campus organizations to explain the purpose of the drive, and to aid in collecting contributions.

Recently received by the club are four books presented by the Carnegie Endowment for Peace. The books, "Modern Latin America," by R. A. Humphrey, "Thunder Out of China," by White and Jacoby, "Where Are We Heading," by Sumner Welles, and "While Time Remains," by Leland Stowe, will be placed in the browsing room of the library.

Dr. Paul Dull, assistant professor of political science, is the group adviser.

Oregana Entrants Need No Pictures

Pictures of nominees for the position of Miss Oregana in the 1947 annual will not have to accompany nominations, Roy Paul Nelson, Oregana editor, announced Wednesday.

Names of entrants should be phoned in to the Oregana office not later than Tuesday, February 11, he said. The winner will be announced on the following day.

Judges will be the editor, the three associate editors, and the managing editor, Nelson said. Each women's living organization has been asked to submit the name of a senior girl for the judging. The winner will be given a full-page picture in the Oregana.

Side Fun to Hit Top At WSSF Program

Merry-making Side Patter will reach its height today when an entertainment program MC'd by Sam Gillette and under the chairmanship of Jane Ellsworth on behalf of the WSSF drive is presented at 4:15 p.m. in the College Side Inn. Today is also the second and last day to enter the duck-naming contest, Chairman Tom Hazzard said Wednesday.

The WSSF will request a ten cent "cover charge" to enter campus restaurants from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. today to aid the drive, Miss Ellsworth said.

Kwamas Assist

Kwamas assisting in collecting the voluntary "cover charge" will be: Prudy McCroskey, Colleen Mariott, Mary Hibbitt, Jordis Benke, June Goetze, and Roxie Sears. Restaurants featuring the "cover charge" are: College Side Inn, Taylor's, Rush Inn, Rennell's, Del's Inn, and Lemon 'O.'

Featured in the entertainment program at the Side today are Keith Baird and Carl Miller, the Harlem Hams, in a vaudeville act, and a quartet composed of Don Edwards, Norm Lamb, Bob Moran, and Norm Henrood. Fred Young will give a speech on the World Student Service Fund. Ken Maine will do a takeoff on Phil Harris.

Contest Underway

A living organization contest is now underway, under the chairmanship of Dedo Misley. Trophies, donated by the Eugene Register-Guard, will be presented to the two organizations which distribute the most to the drive. The trophies will be on display at the Co-op. Award for the duck-naming contest will be a Shaeffer fountain pen donated by the Co-op.

Speaking on behalf of WSSF in various living organizations during the week is Giovanna Ribet, student at the University of Rome.

Journalism Faculty Victims of Sneak Punch

The University of Oregon discovered last night how traditions were initiated, when the Sigma Delta Chi lads, some 30 strong, took members of the school of journalism faculty for a, er, dinner. The men's journalism fraternity entertained nine members of the school of journalism faculty at the Eugene hotel, softening them up first with a good dinner and then pelting them unmercifully with libelous scripts, varied implications on journalism courses offered at the University, and further agenda unavailable to the Emerald at this time.

The school of journalism will hold classes today as scheduled.

Emotionalists Hold Spot in UO Lecture On Chapman Slate

Dr. Peter H. Odegard, president of Reed college will speak tonight on "The Sentimentalist and the Cynic" in 207 Chapman hall at 7:30. Dr. Odegard is presented by the University Lecture series.

Dr. Odegard, besides holding social science teaching positions in Columbia, Williams, Ohio state, Amherst and Dwight Morrow colleges, was vice-president in 1943 of the American Political Science association. He was assistant to the secretary of the treasury of the United States in 1942 and 1943. Dr. Odegard has received his A.B., A.M., Ph.D., and an honorary A.M. Dr. Odegard has written several books, and contributed articles to Plain Talk, Current History, The Nation, and professional journals. He has been associate editor of Public Opinion Quarterly since 1940.

Clifton James to Portray 'Uncle Chris' in Guild Play

By LeJEUNE GRIFFITH

"You know how Uncle Chris was lame . . . how he walked always with a limp. It was his one thought . . . lame people. He would have liked to be a doctor and help them."

Mama speaks thus of the controversial Uncle Chris. Aunt Jenny has her ideas on the subject, too. "Black! I'll say he's black. Black in his heart. Cursing and swearing . . ."

Part Unlimited

Uncle Chris of "I Remember Mama," the next University theater production which opens February 7, is a part of unlimited possibilities for the actor, according to Clifton G. James. And James is an authority on the subject by now, having been intimately associated with Uncle Chris since rehearsals first started.

"The play seems to grow on you," said James. "Each time we go through it I like it a little more. Un-

Campus Clean-up Planned For Dads

A campus clean-up contest will be held on Friday from 3 until 5 p.m., Dads' Day committee members announced Wednesday. Living organizations will be paired off and assigned to areas to accomplish the cleaning job.

Prizes will be offered to the houses which do the best job on their assigned areas and winners will be announced at the basketball game Saturday night.

Dean Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration, urges that all students notify their fathers to write for luncheon tickets as soon as possible. The luncheon for dads and students will be at John Straub hall at noon Saturday. Colonel Thomas F. Gunn, president of the Oregon Dads' association will preside.

Winners of recent Dads' day contests may receive their prizes from Ralph Haley at Sigma hall.
