

Journalism Group To Hear Leeper

Dr. Robert W. Leeper, associate professor of psychology, will speak before the men's professional journalism fraternity, Sigma Delta Chi, today at 4 p.m. in room 105 journalism building.

He is the first of a series of speakers who will be invited to talk at coming meetings. The purpose of the talks is to promote greater mutual understanding and cooperation between journalism and other professional fields.

Dr. Leeper will speak on the relation between psychology and journalism. He has received in advance some questions which members wish to have answered, and will lead discussions along these lines.

"No doubt other questions will arise during the talk as psychology in journalism is becoming an increasingly pertinent subject for journalists," Dr. Leeper said Wednesday.

Student Show Hits Air Today

Three student-produced programs released through radio station KOAC in Corvallis from studios located on the University campus will be aired today from 4 to 5 p.m. with an all-student participation.

A half-hour psychological drama opens the hour under the direction of Lloyd Domaschofsky, sophomore in liberal arts. The play is an adaptation of Wilbur Daniel Steele's "Luck" and tells the story of a suicide. Featured in the cast are Keith Cockburn, freshman in liberal arts, Dick Rayburn, freshman in journalism, Helen Nelson, sophomore in business administration, Ed Lyons, John H. MacDonald, junior in law, Marie DiLoreto, sophomore in liberal arts, and Harry White, sophomore in liberal arts.

Dr. Kenneth Scott Wood, assistant professor of speech and drama, and director of the University Speech Correction and Hearing clinic will be interviewed during the fifteen-minute Campus Interviews program by producer Shirley Peters, junior in journalism, concerning the work done by the clinic in aiding persons who have speech defects and impediments.

The 4:45 to 5:00 spot will be filled by a popular music program produced by John Tasnady, sophomore in journalism, and featuring Bob Weber, freshman in journalism who will present a program of "piano populars" including Twilight Time and Begin the Beguine as well as an original Weber Boogie and his own interpretation of Rhapsody in Blue. Announcing will be Dick Shelton, junior in journalism.

H. G. Leach to Lecture On Nordic Democracy

Henry Goddard Leach, president of the American-Scandinavian foundation, will give his second lecture at the University tonight when he speaks on "Scandinavian versus American Democracy" at 7:30 p.m. in 207 Chapman hall.

Dr. Leach spent the spring of 1946 studying the revival of the democratic institutions of the Scandinavian countries after the war.

campus will be limited to two contestants who will vie for house possession of a 24-inch gold cup to be presented the final winner, Chan said. Entrants will be charged a 25-cent entrance fee.

Dates for the playoffs of semifinals and final matches will be announced later. No dates will be set for preliminary matches.

A second tourney for students living off campus will be sponsored at the same time. Registrations for this contest are being handled at the YMCA building.
