

Idaho Cagers Limp Into Oregon Camp

Plowed Under in Aggieville, Vandals Out for Vengeance

By BERNIE HAMMERBECK
Sports Editor

Oregon's fourth-place Ducks take on the cellar-dwelling Idaho Vandals tonight at 8 o'clock in the first of a two-game series at McArthur court. The same two teams will meet again tomorrow night. For the lemon and green Webfoots a pair of wins are necessary if they are to overhaul the third-place Washington Huskies. For the Idaho Vandals a win will mean their first division victory of the 1947 season.

The Hobby Hobson-coached Ducks will take the floor as odds-on favorites to bounce the invading Vandals, but the possibility of an upset is not remote. The Lemon and Green downed the 1946 ND champs twice at Moscow earlier this year, but had a narrow squeeze in the second contest, winning 45-43.

Drop Pair to OSC

The loss-weary Vandals limp down from Corvallis wheeler earlier this week they fell before the onslaught of the high-riding Oregon State Beavers. The Vandals had been marked at mid-season as having a good chance of shaking their early season slump and possibly racking up a few wins before the current season expired.

The Beavers showed little mercy on the hapless Idaho five, however, thumping them 77-40 and 71-37. It was in the first victory that Oragne center Red Rocha set a new northern division scoring mark of 38 points for a single contest.

Actress Grandma, Then Child; Drama's Cat Gives Bad Time

By LeJEUNE GRIFFITH

Tuesday night's performance of "I Remember Mama" got under way with a bang, Alaska-born Florence Hawkesworth related after removing the last evidences of her role as the eight-year-old Dagmar.

In the middle of one of the play's early laughs, the warehouse fire explosion echoed through Guild hall. The remaining part of the first act lines were given to the intermitted wails of sirens and the tumult caused by the disaster.

"In spite of all of this confusion the play proceeded as planned," said Miss Hawkesworth. "The show must go on—or as Aunt Trina would have said, 'The nails must go through!'"

Cat Problem

Another of Miss Hawkesworth's problems, but one which happens every night, is the proper handling of Purrl, the cat who plays Uncle Elizabeth. Uncle Elizabeth and Dagmar are constant companions in

By BETTY JO BLEDSOE

The traditional Oregon Heart Hop will swing forth tonight beginning its first festivity between halves of the Oregon-Idaho game at McArthur court. During the half-time entertainment the elected King of Hearts will be revealed and crowned by Marge Skordahl, president of the YWCA.

Votes will be tabulated at noon today and the winner will remain secret until tonight's game. The six men competing for the title are Bill Abbey, Malcolm MacGregor, Marty Pond, Jack Burris, Paul Pierson and Bob Barrett.

Two knaves of the king, all three then being turned over to Marv Rasmussen, last year's King of Hearts, who will take charge of the dunking. Assisted by members of the Order of the O, Rasmussen will dunk the three winners in front of the Pi Beta Phi house on 15th street.

Tickets may be purchased at the Co-op today until 3 p. m., but voting will terminate at noon. One ticket entitles a couple to enter any or all of the open houses. Punch and cookies will be sold at the Pi Beta Phi, Delta Gamma and Chi Omega houses, and ice cream bars can be purchased at Susan Campbell and at the Alpha Chi Omega house.

Other finalists in the selection were Lois Roeder and Gay Edwards. The judges, which included the editor, the managing editor, and the three associate editors, deliberated a long time before making a choice from the long list of senior contestants.

Denying allegations that the Miss Oregon contest was just a publicity stunt to sell one more Oregon, staff members nevertheless informed inquiring Kappas that orders for the annual may still be placed in the educational activities office.

"Uneasy lies the head that wears the crown,"
Will never be debunked;
With Heart Hop royalty bowing down
To have it humbly dunked.

Board to Hold Mixer Dances

Approval for a program of all-campus Saturday night mixers was granted by the educational activities board Wednesday night. The mixers were first suggested by the student affairs committee to provide inexpensive entertainment for students not otherwise occupied on nights when no other all-campus functions are scheduled.

The dances will be underwritten by the educational activities board and will be operated on a non-profit basis. Admission will be 50 cents and if profits are made, the price of tickets will be lowered.

Student Sponsorship

Dates for the dances have not been decided, but the board specified that music will be provided by Ted Hallock's band and Herb Widmer's band on alternate dates. If attendants and interest in the dances warrants continuation of the program, each dance may be sponsored by different honoraries and service organizations. Entertainment for intermissions, handling of tickets, decorations, etc. will be the responsibility of the sponsoring student groups.

The truck, which has carried many students on field trips sponsored by the anthropology, geology, and other departments, escaped damage and is still available for more trips, Cressman said.
