

Quarterly Bulletin Appears in Spring

The latest addition to campus publications is the Graduate Quarterly Bulletin, which is scheduled to make its appearance spring term.

Published independently by University graduate students, it will include abstracts of honor theses from 1940 to 1946, abstracts of theses recommended by the sociology, history, anthropology, geography and Romance languages departments, reports by the newly-organized graduate committees, and excerpts from term papers. It will also include the names of all graduate students.

Editor of the Quarterly is Roy Francis, graduate student in the sociology department. He will be assisted by Bill Webster of the political science department, and Shirlee Higgins of the history department.

The purpose of the publication is to demonstrate and publicize progress in graduate research and will act as a source of encouragement and information to graduate students.

Fifty-five years ago the University of Mississippi provided its students with a dry storage space where they might leave their guns when they arrived at school.

Chimpanzee couples differ little from human beings in their domestic relationships, it is said. The longest boxing match on record was 110 rounds (7 hours and 19 minutes).

Library Receives Lincoln Biography

A facsimile of Abraham Lincoln's handwritten autobiography was presented to the University on the birthday of the nation's sixteenth president by Walter P. Fell of Eugene, Dr. R. C. Swank, librarian, has announced.

The autobiography was written in 1859 because Jesse W. Fell, grand uncle of the Eugene man, thought the people should know more about their leader, and so asked Lincoln to write it. The facsimile shows the original to be three pages long and in Lincoln's own handwriting.

The original manuscript was presented to the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C., Wednesday by Rev. Robert Dale Richardson of Medford, Mass., Jesse Fell's great grandson. Several facsimiles of the original were published in 1872, one of which the University now possesses.

Lincoln ends his short autobiography with these words:

"If any personal description is thought desirable, it may be said, I am in height, six feet four inches, nearly; lean in flesh, weighing on an average 180 pounds; dark complexion with coarse black hair, and grey eyes—no other marks or brands recollected."

Early American tennis rules called for eight umpires. Today there are 15 officials for a single match.
