DAILY EMERALD Tuesday, February 18, 1947 Page 4

Sports Head Boasts Impressive Record

Leo Harris, new athletic director and professor at the University of Oregon, represents an outstanding choice from both educational and athletic points-of-view President Harry K. Newburn said as he announced the appointment yesterday. Harris brings with him a record of 20 years outstanding service as coach, professor, principal, school superintendent, and Pacific Coast conference football official.

Harris was graduated from Stanford in 1927 after earning two letters in football under Pop Warner, three letters in basketball, and experience on the swimming team as well. He was a lineman on the 1926 Stanford team that played a 7-7 tie with Alabama in the 1927 Rose Bowl game.

In high school at Santa Cruz, California he lettered in four sports-football, basketball, baseball, and track.

Following graduation from college he assumed the role of director of athletics at Fresno high school. Harris remained there for five years, handling football, basketball, baseball, and some social studies.

Head Coach at Fresno

In 1932 he moved to Fresno State as head football coach, and associate professor of physical education. During his four-year stay Harris won one conference football championship and tied for another.

He then assumed the position of vice-principal at Edison technical high school in Fresno for one ND CONFERENCE STANDINGS quired number of laps. The boys broke into the win column in the year. In 1937 he accepted the school. He remained there for five years when he was granted leave in 1942 to accept a commission in the navy.

Harris was given a medical discharge eight months later, and then accepted a captaincy in the National guard, serving for two years as field director for the California high school cadets.

Upon returning to civilian status he became the district superintendent of schools at Carmel, California, his present position. He will complete the school year at his Carmel office, but is expected to spend sufficient time on the Oregon campus this spring to play an important part in drawing the 1947-48 athletic budget.

In June Harris will represent Coast conference.

Harris has remained active in ington State crept into the lead in dominated as veteran Tom Corbett athletic circles the last seven first three heats, but the final squeezed ahead of Benny Holyears by officiating PCC football State contestant became excited comb by a fraction of a point to games, and included in his 1946 and dived into the pool before his grab first-spot laurels. officiating schedule was the Ore- teammate had completed his re- The northern squad finally gon-Washington game in Seattle. He is married: has one son Keith, 11; and one daughter, Lorraine, 18. He was born in August, 1904. He continued his college studies at Stanford following his graduation, and earned an M. A. degree in 1930. He also has additional study at Stanford beyond his Master's degree.

LYNN WALDORF . . . newly appointed head football mentor at the from the start, they took the University of California, succeeding opening tip, going into a de-Frank Wickhorst, is the 19th coach liberate, set-play offensive. After to serve there since the Golden a minute had elapsed, Idaho fi-Bears abandoned Rugby football for nally cracked the scoring ledger the American variety in 1883. Wal- as Norm Fredekind dropped a dorf. 44. resigned as football coach free throw. at Northwestern where he has been the past 12 years to sign a threeyear contract at an undisclosed sal- for the first seven minutes until ary. The Bears won but two games Bob Lavey knotted the score 8-8 of their schedule last year.

Listless Ducks Clout Idaho Vandals 60-49

A listless Webfoot cage team staggered to a 60-49 win over the winless Idaho quintet last Saturday night at Mc-Arthur court, pushing the Vandals deeper into the Northern Division cellar. As Washington measured WSC 59-40 the same evening, the victory kept the Ducks still a half-game behind the third place Huskies.

In planting the 13th consecutive league loss on the Inland Empire invaders, Coach Howard Hobson's team was far below its performance of the previous night. This, combined with some extremely close calling by the referees, slowed the game at times almost to a walk.

The Vandals, contrary to their opening night's play, refused to run with the Webfoots, and

Vandals Take Lead

The visitors held on to the lead with a charity toss. At this juncture, Oregon's backboard ace Ken Hays went on a one-man scoring spree.

First Hays broke the deadlock by smacking in a rebound, and followed this up with two gift shots. He caged another tip-in for six consecutive points in less than two minutes to put the Ducks safely in front 14-8.

Although Oregon never trailed from that point, the Vandals persisted and several times inched to within a few points of tieing the count. Late in the period, the Lemon and Green spurted to a 30-18 margin, only to have the Idaho squad close the gap to 34-26 at intermission.

Guy Wick's team came back strong at the start of the second half and with 10 minutes remaining had cut Oregon's lead to two points, 43-41. The Vandals dumped shots from all parts of the floor and ran a hot streak at the free throw line.

For Oregon, the win kept them in the running for third place in the final standings. They travel to Seattle this weekend to meet the Huskies in the final two games between the teams which will in all probability decide the coveted third slot.

Oregon Paddlers Submerge Cougars in Final Home Clash

Oregon 4 1 grasp. W. S. C. 3 2 .600 .200 Oregon State 1 4 Idaho 0 5 .000

By ELWIN PAXSON

Oregon's paddlers clinched runner-up honors in the 1947 Northern Division title race Saturday afternoon as they edged out a potent Washington State squad, 44-31, before a capacity crowd in the final home meet of the year.

The outcome of the crucial meet was not decided until the last event on the program, the 400 tank. yard free-style relay. With the score 31-37 in Oregon's favor and a fat seven points to be awarded to the victor in the four heat conthe University of Oregon, along test, Oregon battled desperately to with Dean Orlando Hollis at the preserve her slim margin, and the semi-annual meeting of the Pacific Cougars fought to annex the meet by a one point advantage. Wash-

W L Pct. collided, touched the bottom of the 100 yard free-style as Bob De-.800 victory virtually within their slipped past George Moorhead to

Relay Team Gets Lead

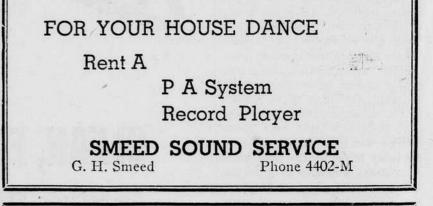

The first race of the afternoon saw the Oregon medley relayers, Earl Walters, Ralph Huestis, and Alden Sundlie enable the Ducks to forge into an early lead. Big Bob Hiatt pushed Oregon still further ahead in the 220 free-style as he staged a thrilling duel with Cougar Byron Canning in the home stretch, after trailing the field for a large part of the race. Hiatt was less than a stroke ahead of the small but powerful Canning when he touched the end of the Another nip-and-tuck affair was the 60 yard sprint with George Moorhead, Duck ace, nosing out Washington Stater Don Campbell, after the pair stroked shoulder-to-shoulder the entire three lengths.

Diving was entirely Oregon push their club back into the running.

Earl Walters and Johnny Miller bounced back and finished in their usual one-two order, to aid the Webfoot cause. Their aqua-opponents wasted no time in nullifying this gain, however, as Doc Fuller and Jim Nelson outdis-(Please turn to page six)

Duckling Cagers Rack Up 23rd Win Against University High Five, 52-23

Experience and maturity came in handy for the Duckling basketball squad in McArthur court last Saturday when they ran into difficulty in subduing the well-coached University high Golden Tide 52-33 for their 23rd victory.

In the first two quarters, the visitors, playing without substitutions, displayed a well-balanced ball club. In the final two periods, the more experienced Frosh had things their own way by finally wearing the younger team down with their speed and stamina. The Ducklings led 38-28 at the end of the third quarter.

University high nabbed the lead at the beginning, with two free throws by Howie Burks, and a one-handed push shot by Jerry McInroe. Center Elton Lantz countered for the Frosh with a jump shot from the key. Back came Burks with a basket and Lantz, not to be outdone, dribbled the length of the floor for a lay-in with the Frosh still trailing 6-4.

Roger Pitchford plopped in a gift shot for the Golden Tide and he was They checked close and followed followed by Duckling Don Kimball plays, which nettled the Frosh no with a field goal. Pitchford was end. On top of that they could shoot. fouled again and made the toss good. Tom Patton set the Frosh ahead briefly 9-8 with a lay-in, after Lantz had canned a foul shot.

University high, hawking the backboards, captured the lead again 12-9 with a basket by Burks and two free throws by Lloyd Brown as the first quarter ended.

The Frosh finally got under way with two foul shots by Pat Woh-lers, a lay-in by Rod Downey, and a basket on a hook shot by Ken Johnson to put the Ducklings ahead 15-12. Pitchford narrowed the lead with a hook shot but the frosh were never behind again. The half ended 21-19 for the Ducklings, the margin provided by Chuck Rufner with a lay-in from a pass by Ed Gudgel.

Lineups:
Frosh (52)		(33) Uni High
Green, 5	F	6, McInroe
Kimball, 5	F
Gudgel, 5	G	8, Pitchford
Rufner, 11	G	6, Dwyer
Substitution	is: Fi	rosh — Downey
6, Wohlers 5,	John	son 3, Patton 2,
Sherwood. Un	iversi	ty - Chapman
Gould, Torre	y, N	ewburn, Lynch,
Williams, Cot	intry	man 1, Anawalt
2.	-

GIVE THE INSIDE OF YOUR CAR A LIFT

Your car will look fresh and new even if it's running on its last cylinder with a a new set of Seat Covers

From

