 tenced Ralph Huestis in the breaststroke.

One of the highlights of the hotly-contested ND struggle was the 440 marathon that saw Oregon distance star Hiatt and Canning put on another two-way duel, but this time Canning never slackened his gruelling pace, and Hiatt, a slow starter, was never able to squeeze past him. It was a photo finish, and the judges ruled that Canning's fingers touched the pool's edge a few inches before Hiatt.
