CAMPAIGN BOSSES . . .

Red Cross Drive Gains Speed; Dance, Show, Movie on Agenda

The University Red Cross drive moves into the fourth day of its entertainment-packed week today with the record of student responses reported high.

The drive has been gaining momentum with the cooperation of individual students and living organizations, according to Barbara Johns, campaign co-chairman. She revealed that one house has voted to add $1 to each member's board bill to be donated to the drive, and another living organization has pledged $1.50 per person.

Funds Used Locally

Miss Johns pointed out that 76 per cent of all funds collected in this drive will be used locally.

The Red Cross out-door rally dance is scheduled for tonight at the library plaza with Herb Widmer and company furnishing the music, provided Oregon doesn't "mist." The hop is a stag and all living organizations are urged to turn out en masse.

Entertainment Slated

Side entertainment sponsored by the Red Cross Wednesday at 4 p. m. will feature songs by a campus male quartet, with Bud Hurst acting as MC. Thursday the Side goes Hawaiian when a trio of Hui-o-Kamiana men, Kihei Brown, Eric Rabe, and Bill Seal, sing a beach-boy song, "Out in the Cold Again."

A Red Cross film, "Facing Tomorrow," will be shown supplementary to the regular movies scheduled for Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in 107 Chapman hall.

'Yellow Jacket' Tickets

Tickets for the Chinese costume play, "The Yellow Jacket," may be purchased at the University ticket office in Johnson hall starting today. Office hours are 10 a. m. to noon and 1 to 5 p. m.

The play will run March 6, 7, 8, 11, 12, 13, and is under the direction of Mrs. Otilie T. Seybolt.

Mock Press Trial Set for Seminar

A mock libel trial, involving Bennett vs. the fictitious Eugene Record-Globe, will be held by the law of the press seminar in Judge Warren C. Price's circuit court in room 105, journalism building Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

The case involves an alienation of affections charge brought by a fictitious University professor against his graduate assistant. The story was printed in the Record-Globe, but the case was later dropped. The present libel case is being brought against the newspaper by the graduate assistant for defamation of character.

Jonathan K. Kahananui will be the attorney for the plaintiff, and Betty Mack Lynch and Vernon White will handle the defense. Ted Goodwin will act as court clerk and George Holcolmb will be sergeant-at-arms.

The jury will be composed of four men and four women chosen from the journalism school.

Class Cards Requested

The home economics department has requested that all class cards for spring term be turned in by Saturday at the latest. The offices in Chapman hall will be open all day Friday, March 7, and Saturday morning.

Seminars Scheduled For Math, Chemistry

The mathematics and chemistry departments hold their weekly seminars today at 4 p. m.

Roland McCully, graduate student in chemistry, speaks on "The Polarographic Behavior of Lignin" at the chemistry seminar in 103 McClure hall.

Miss Shirley Anderson, instructor in mathematics, talks on "Jensen's Inequality" at the mathematics seminar in 204 Deady hall.

Orientation Meeting

A meeting of all married students now living in or about to move into the Amazon housing project has been called for 7 p. m. Wednesday in 103 Fenton by Oge Young, manager.

Young will explain what tenants may do toward decorating and equipping their apartments in addition to what the University has already done. He will also describe plans for future improvements.

Ray Johnson Elected State AVC Chairman

Ray Johnson, junior in pre-law, was elected state chairman of the American Veterans' committee at that organization's first annual convention of the Oregon council, held in Portland Saturday and Sunday.

Johnson, who was elected by a unanimous vote of the 112 delegates attending the convention, is also chairman of the Eugene chapter of the AVC.

Another University student, Kieth Bacon, was elected secretary at the convention. He is a graduate student in political science.

The convention also elected Bruce Bishop, freshman in journalism, as editor of the organization's proposed publication, the Oregon State Bulletin, which is scheduled to make its first appearance in April. Carl Maxey, junior in pre-law, was chosen by the convention as state finance officer.

McArthur Court Concert Tonight Features 180-Voice UO Chorus

A program of wide interest and variation will highlight the first large post-war concert of the University choral union to be held tonight at 8:15 p. m. at McArthur court. Under the direction of Donald W. Allton, the choral union, composed of 180 voices, will present a program including sacred songs, Negro spirituals, folk songs, and a bit from "Alice in Wonderland."

Support Urged For F.E.P.C.

The people of the Northwest are perpetrating "spiritual lynchings" against Negroes, Edwin C. Berry, executive secretary of the Portland Urban league, said last night in his appeal for the support of the house bill 385, the fair employment practices bill now before the Oregon state senate.

Berry spoke at the Community Center under the auspices of the Eugene YWCA.

He urged that letters, wires, and phone calls in support of the bill be sent to the Lane county delegation at once since a house committee hearing will be held on it today at 1:30 p. m.

According to Berry, the bill states in part, "that it shall be deemed illegal in the state of Oregon to discriminate against people for jobs for which they are qualified and which are created by their own money."

In a comparison of Hitler's Neurnberg code with the laws of the United States, many parallels have been found concerning intermarriage, the place of non-Aryans in the society, job discrimination, and residential segregation, Berry said.

"We can no longer afford the luxury of racism," Berry said. "We have to get our head out of the sand because our time is running short. Any time Americans decide to end all this foolishness, it will be over."

Berry cited several places in the United States—Chicago, Milwaukee, Louisville, New York—where the free employment practices bill has worked. "We can learn by their experience if we will," he said. "This is not a bill for Negroes, or Jews, or Catholics. It is a bill for Americans."

The choral union, now a picked group of voices selected from try-outs of over 500 students last fall, presents a tonal balance of masculine and feminine voices. Tonight's concert will be the first major appearance of the group this year.

Virginia Walker, soprano, and Wayne Sherwood, bass-baritone, will be featured in incidental solos in the fourth part of the program.

Crombie, Hallock To Attend PNCC

Catherine Crombie, senior in political science, and Ted Hallock, senior in journalism, will attend the second Pacific Northwest College Congress at Reed college March 6 to 8 as representatives of the University.

Resolutions drawn up by representatives of 37 Pacific Northwest colleges will be presented to the University student body for ratification in an assembly to be held some time next week, according to Hallock.

Sponsored by the Portland League of Women Voters, Reed college and the Northwest Institute of International Relations, the congress will be divided into six sections: international, political, and legislative problems; disarmament and atomic energy; world economic problems; social problems and human rights; dependent peoples; and student aims in future college congresses.

Miss Crombie will attend the section on social problems and human rights and Hallock the discussion on disarmament and atomic energy.

Among the keynote speakers will be Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, recently named chairman of the section on human rights and civil liberties of the United Nations.
