

Oregon Hygiene Program Applauded at Conference

Oregon's social hygiene program was lavishly applauded as the best in the nation at the annual conference of Social Hygiene Executives of the American Social Hygiene association in New York City early this month, according to Mrs. George Moorhead, associate professor of physical education, who has just returned from the meetings.

Mrs. Moorhead was interviewed about the Oregon system by four of New York's leading newspapers during the conference, and Better Homes and Gardens magazine anticipates sending Associate Editor Robert Crossly here next month to write a feature on the state's social hygiene content in health education.

Miss Jean Pinney, who is assisting in the collection of social hygiene films for the United Nations, has advised Mrs. Moorhead that UNESCO is interested in seeing the University's new film on human growth and reproduction when it is released, with a view to placing copies of it in the U. S. embassies throughout the world. She also discussed the possibility of equipping the film with Spanish sound tracks.

Participating in the session on "How Can Family Life Education Be Made a Part of the School Curriculum," Mrs. Moorhead presented an outline of Oregon's social hygiene program. She made particular reference to the Oregon state joint committee and Oregon's new social hygiene and physical education laws, and the implementation of these by social hygiene programs.

She also presented background material leading to the production of the University's forthcoming motion picture on human reproduction, now being produced in Hollywood under the sponsorship of the E. C. Brown trust fund. The pilot version of the film was unanimously acclaimed by all the delegates, she said, with all expressing eagerness to receive copies of the film for their own states.

Dr. Baldinger to Speak

Dr. Wallace S. Baldinger, associate professor of art, will speak in Portland today before members of the Portland art class.

Topic of the Oregon professor will be the architecture of the late 19th century with reference to Catalan architecture of Antoni Gaudi, forerunner of modern surrealism in modern architecture.

Attending the conference was Fred Scherer, director of the social hygiene program of the Oregon Tuberculosis association, which is Oregon's affiliate of the American Social Hygiene association. He served as moderator on the panel discussion on "How Can We Reach the Child Through the Parent." The Oregon Tuberculosis association is carrying on an extensive program in behalf of parents, primarily through local health associations.

Sunrise Services Planned for Easter

Posters will go up today announcing the seventh annual Easter sunrise at Oregon, Beryl Howard, chairman of arrangements, announced Tuesday. The service, scheduled for 6:45 a.m. Easter in McArthur court, is sponsored by the University religious council and the Eugene Ministerial association.

Kwama, sophomore women's honorary, and Phi Theta, junior women's honorary, will act as ushers for the service, Miss Howard said.

The First Christian church choir under the direction of Hal Young will sing at the service and the organ which Donald W. Alton, assistant professor of organ, will use during the service will be loaned by the Jaquith music company.

Assisting in the arrangements are: Virginia Dryden, Donald Dole, Marie Peery, Dick Savinar, Kathryn Dobson, David Mortimer, Geneva Davis, Nina S. Fernimen, and Herb Penny.

The International Live Stock Exposition held its first show in Chicago in December, 1900.
