

Three Campus Naval Reserve Units Formed; Meeting Scheduled Tonight

Plans Now Underway to Enable Members To Gain New Rates; Drill Pay Allowed

By BOB WALLACE

After a year of half-hearted attempts, a naval reserve unit has finally been formed on the campus.

Credit goes to R. E. Kerr Jr., former naval lieutenant commander, who has succeeded in organizing three groups, one surface unit, a communications unit, and an air unit which is still in the process of organizing.

All persons participating in the weekly drills will be put on a drill pay status, receiving a day's pay for the drills.

Plans are underway for a training program enabling members to gain new rates. Kerr cited an example of how a former chief in the Seabees was able to switch to a chief aviation machinist by this system.

All former naval veterans interested in forming an air group are urged to attend a meeting tonight at 8 p.m., 101 P.E. building. Plans for the unit will be explained and temporary officers will be elected.

Kerr stated that enlisted people, pilots and ground officers, should try and attend the meeting. If the plans can be worked out as hoped, a transport will come down every three weeks to fly personnel to Sand Point, Seattle, for their regular drill periods.

An efficient air group cannot be organized without the support of the enlisted personnel, Kerr said, and the trouble in the past has been the lack of knowledge of advantages given to them in a reserve air group.

Emerald Staff Meets Tonight

An organizational meeting for all Emerald reporters, and copy desk and night staff workers will be held in room 105 of the journalism building tonight at 7:30. Managing Editor Bill Stratton, who will be in charge of the meeting, requests that all members of last term's staff as well as any other aspiring journalists attend.

Bill Yates, news editor, said yesterday that all reporters who held reporting beats last term should contact him at the Emerald news office today if they desire beats again this term.

"Otherwise," Yates said, "I will assume that they no longer wish beats, and will assign all beat openings to new reporters attending the meeting tonight."

Barbara Twiford Named Ad Boss

Barbara Twiford, junior in journalism, has been appointed advertising manager of the Oregon Daily Emerald for spring term, replacing Doug Eden who held the position winter term. The appointment was made by George Pegg, Emerald business manager, and approved by the educational activities board.

Miss Twiford is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority and Gamma Alpha Chi, national women's advertising honorary. Her home is in Hillsboro.

Scholarship Date Extended to April 5

The final date for filing applications for state scholarships has been extended to April 5, according to C. E. Avery, University registrar. Appropriations by the state legislature have made additional opportunities for scholarship aid possible and there are still openings available, he said.

The scholarships cover tuition and laboratory and course fees (a total of $22.00 a term). Applicants, to be eligible, must have a grade-point average of 2.50 if they have attended a state institution of higher learning before, or must rank in the upper third of their high school graduating class if entering for the first time. Need for financial assistance must be shown.

Application blanks may be obtained at the registrar's office in Johnson hall.

Play Tickets on Sale

Mail order reservations are now being accepted by the University theater for the April 19 production of "The Green Pastures." Reserved seats are $2.40 and $1.80, general admission $1.20, and student tickets 60 cents.

YWCA Group to Sponsor Tea For Muriel Lester Next Tuesday

Muriel Lester, member of the International Fellowship of Reconciliation, is being honored by an informal tea sponsored by the International Affairs Committee of the YWCA, in Alumni hall at 4 p.m. April 8.

According to Co-chairmen Dido Misely and Laura Olson, the tea is open to students and townspeople alike, and campus clothes will be in order.

Round-World Tour

Miss Lester is in the midst of a round-the-world tour for the purpose of discussing conditions in Europe, India, and China. She plans to visit the Middle West in May and travel east in June. This is her first visit to the United States since 1941. In that year she spoke in 22 cities for the National Christ Mission of the Federal Council of Churches.

At the age of 19, in partnership with her sister, Miss Lester founded Kingsley Hall, a community center for the underprivileged in London. In 1938 she became the traveling secretary of the International Fellowship of Reconciliation. During a South American tour in 1941 she was stopped in Trinidad and returned to her home in England because of her public protests against the hunger blockage of Europe and British Imperialism in India.

Petitions Due For Federation

This will be the last week for filing petitions for Oregon federation representatives in towns and cities throughout Oregon. Harry Glickman, Oregon federation director, announced yesterday.

Towns still without representatives are Albany, Ashland, Astoria, Baker, Bend, Burns, Cottage Grove, Corvallis, Forest Grove, Lakeview, Roseburg, and The Dalles. These towns will definitely be visited for promotion purposes by the federation group this summer and it is imperative that each has a student representative, Glickman emphasized.

Towns which are not on the federation itinerary, but are still in need of student representatives are Canyon City, Condon, Dallas, Enterprise, Gold Beach, Gresham, Heppner, Independence, Madras, Milton - Freewater, Monmouth, Moro, Myrtle Point, Newberg, Newport, Reedsport, Seaside, St. Helens, Sweet Home, Union, Vale, and Woodburn.

Petitions may be obtained and handed in at the Oregon federation offices in Friendly hall. Representatives will be announced next Monday, Glickman said.

'Weekend' Committee Chairmen to Meet

A meeting of all committee chairmen on Junior Weekend has been scheduled today at 3 to select a theme for the affair. Bob Daggett, co-chairman, has requested that all heads of committees be present at the AWS room of McArthur court to vote on a subject.

MURIEL LESTER

Traveling Resumed

With the end of the war she again resumed her traveling for the fellowship, visiting France, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Norway, and Sweden. Miss Lester was present at the first postwar council meeting of the fellowship in March with 50 delegates from 12 nations.

Her books include, "It Occurred To Me," "Ways of Praying," "Why Worship," "Dare You Face Facts," "Entertaining Gandhi."

All-Campus Dance, Preview of UO Set

Oregon Spirit Revives As Associated Women Plan Festive Weekend for High School Seniors

A revival of pre-war Oregon enthusiasm, incorporating the AWS Nickel Hop with a preview of the University of Oregon for high school seniors, has been scheduled April 18, 19, and 20, Barbara Johns, AWS president and weekend chairman, announced yesterday.

The Hop, which will be held April 18, will open all women's living organizations Friday night. The men, who may visit any or all groups, will pay five cents for three dances.

The Oregon Preview, being sponsored and presented by the Associated Women students as a publicity and promotion measure "to sell the University to potential students" will be held for about 300 Oregon high school senior women, whose names have been selected at random from lists compiled by the high schools' girls' leagues, University living organizations, and the AWS.

The seniors will be housed in campus living organizations, and will participate in a full program now being formulated by the AWS.

A Tremendous Weekend

Teas, luncheons, dinners, rallies, style and talent shows, and tours of the campus, as well as the Hop and the production, "Green Pastures," at which the girls will be guests, are being presented the seniors. "A tremendous weekend is anticipated," Miss Johns declared.

In charge of housing for the girls are Dorothy Rasmussen, Pat Spencer, president of Heads of Houses, Geneva Davis, president of cooperative living organizations, and Barbara Williams, Panhellenic head.

Trudi Chernis will handle arrangements and registration, and Helen Sherman is in charge of invitations and programs.

Other workers will include Alice May Robertson, tea; Mary Hibbitt and Roxie Sears, luncheon; Victoria Utz, Sunday dinner; Sally Waller and Mary Stadelman, contacts; Sis Scott and Nancy Bedingfield, rally; and Joan O'Neill, Saturday tour.

Barbara Fullmer, Phi Theta Upsilon president, and Joan Williams, Kwama head, will be in charge of campus guides.

Cabinet to Assist

All AWS cabinet officers will also assist with the sponsorship of the event, the first of its kind on the campus, with Vice-President Helen Hicks aiding Miss Johns; Bev Pitman, secretary, recording the weekend;

Prudy McCroskey, treasurer, handling funds; Marie Lombard, reporter, assisting with publicity; and Mildred Chetty, sergeant-at-arms, helping with arrangements.

Associated Women Student members holding the chairmanship of the Hop are Beth Basler and Laura Olson, while Jeannine Macaulay and Carol Becker will handle posters for the affair.

Jackie Wachhorst and Margie Harrison are in charge of collections, and Jane Daggett and Carol Nickerson will plot the prizes. Jordis Benke is in charge of publicity. Funds from the hop will be used in obtaining scholarships by the AWS.

Girls who wish to work on the weekend or the hop are asked to contact any of the committee heads.

Dean, Manager To Give Talks

The second lecture in the "Youth and Marriage" series, co-sponsored by the general extension division and the E. C. Brown trust, will feature two prominent speakers from Eugene and the University of Oregon. The speeches are scheduled for next Tuesday evening at 7:15 p.m. in room 3, Fenton hall.

Topics Announced

Deane Seeger, Eugene city manager, will discuss "The Contributions and Interests of the Community Regarding the Successful Marriage." Dr. Victor P. Morris, dean of the school of business administration, will speak on the "Economic Considerations of Marriage."

Eleven Speakers

Meetings will be held on Tuesday evenings from April 1 until June 3, and will include eleven prominent speakers. The first meeting on April 1 featured Mrs. George Moorhead, field secretary of the E. C. Brown trust.

The fee for the entire series has been set at $3 per person.

Other speakers include Dr. J. V. Berreman, associate professor of sociology, Mrs. Golda P. Wickham, dean of women, and Dr. Lester Beck, associate professor of psychology.

Officers, Advisors To Meet Saturday

The annual meeting of old and new officers and the advisory board of the YWCA for the purpose of outlining plans for the ensuing year will be held this Saturday at their retreat on the McKenzie river, according to the new president, Bjorg Hansen.

Miss Hansen has also announced the appointment of Beryl Howard as finance chairman of the regional executive council of the Y.

Plans are going forward for the junior-senior luncheon sponsored by the YWCA under the chairmanship of Nila Desinger. Junior members of women's living organizations traditionally ask the seniors to attend this affair, which usually takes place at one of the Eugene hotel dining rooms about the middle of May.

Art Gallery Shows Oregon Paintings

An art exhibit, featuring the paintings of Portland artist Carl Morris, and the sculpture works of his wife, Hilda Morris, are now being shown at the little art gallery in the University art school between 2 and 5 p.m. daily.

Exhibiting a great sense of color, Morris has interpreted "the language expressive of the inner tensions of man relative to his world." This highly-developed sense of color is partly attributed to the moisture-laden climate of the Northwest which intensifies natural colors.

The murals in the Eugene post office were painted by Morris in 1941.

His wife, the former Hilda Deutsch, worked under Morris when he headed the Spokane art center in 1939 and 1940.

Frosh Petitions Due

Petitions for committees and committee chairmen for the Frosh Glee, all campus dance to be held April 26, must be turned in to Jeannine Macaulay at the Alpha Gamma Delta house by 4 p.m. today.

Committees still open for petition are: promotion, programs, tickets, chaperones, decorations, and entertainment.
