

Coeds to Win $1000 In Fiction Contest

Mademoiselle, a magazine for young women, is awarding $1000 in prizes to the winners of its annual short story writing contest which is open to all women undergraduates. All college women interested in creative writing are urged by the magazine's publishers to submit their best works.

Manuscripts that are submitted should be from three thousand to five thousand words in length and should be typewritten and double-spaced, using one side of the paper only. The contestant's name and address, both home and college, and year in school should be clearly marked. The stories may have been used in a student publication but may not have been published elsewhere.

The judges of the contest will be the editors of Mademoiselle. All entries must be sent to College Fiction Contest, MADEMOISELLE, 122 East 42nd street, New York City 17, New York, postmarked not later than midnight, May 1, 1947.

The educational activities board was organized in 1936.

Vets' Loan Ratings In Oregon High

Of the 7000 GI loans approved in Oregon up to mid-March, only 51 have been in default, Charles Kupper, Veterans Administration representative here, stated today. Most of those in default were business loans.

Kupper explained that defaults may be reported by a lending agency after a veterans-borrower fails to make his payments. In only four cases in Oregon has the VA been required to pay out money on a guaranteed loan.

Of the 51 cases of default, nine have been cleared up by the veteran himself and most of the others are under negotiation. Nine cases are now in process of liquidation.

While defaults are few in number to date, especially in the home loan field, no great significance should be attached to this showing, because most contracts have been running only a short time, Kupper pointed out.

The VA cautions veterans against hasty use of their loan guaranty privilege in the current high-priced real estate market, he said, adding a reminder that GI loan benefits will be available for ten years after the official end of the war.

Smith to Talk on Floods

The "Flood Problem" will be the subject of Dr. Warren D. Smith's address to the Junction City Lion's club on Monday night, April 7. Dr. Smith, head of the department of geology, will deal with locality of Eugene, also treating the whole Willamette valley.

The library has proved a successful spot for either study or dating.

Fines in the reserve book room of the library mount up at the rate of 25 cents an hour until a maximum fine of $1 is reached. If library fines are not paid cash on the line, they are deducted from the delinquent student's breakage fee.

Instead of having library fines deducted from your breakage fee, return your books on time and donate the balance of your breakage fee to the student union fund.
