

Job Possibilities Good For Graduating Seniors

By CHUCK de GANAHL
Staff Writer, The Emerald

The employment opportunities for seniors being graduated this June will be very good this spring, Karl Onthank, dean of personnel administration and director of the graduate placement service, indicated Thursday.

The placement service, Dean Onthank explained, acts as a go-between agency between the students and the employers.

As openings occur many employers notify the office. The placement service then notifies students registered with the office of the vacancies.

Confidential recommendations of the students' instructors and department head are turned over to Dean Onthank, who in turn forwards copies of the recommendations to interested employers. In addition the graduate placement service distributes job application blanks to the interested students.

Interviews Arranged

Concerns desiring to hire students often send men to interview prospective employees. The placement service arranges these interviews with the students.

Among the jobs now open for graduating seniors, Dean Onthank reported many in accounting fields. The dean said that the accounting jobs called for varying amounts of experience but that general and cost accountants were in particular demand.

Accounting Offered

He explained that the jobs would offer a great deal of training in the particular field of accounting. Among the hiring firms are many construction concerns and the Mountain States Power company.

In the field of employment, finance looks bright, Dean Onthank said, particularly in the credit corporations and in the stock dealers field. Among the possible employers in this field are the General Motors acceptance corporation, the Blythe company, and the Commercial Credit corporation.

For these jobs, he said, a knowledge of business administration or of economics is essential.

Public Relation Jobs

The placement service has requests from the St. Helens and the Newberg chambers of commerce for secretaries. These jobs, requiring some knowledge of public relations, Dean Onthank said, offer an excellent springboard into many business fields.

For the undergraduates there are many summer jobs offered by the employment bureau of the YMCA, under the direction of Mrs. Lucille Perkins. These jobs include guides, laborers and many other types of work in both the Sea Lion Caves park in southern Oregon and at Crater lake park. Also jobs are available with the state forestry department and with the Lane county protective association.

Salaries Vary

Jobs with the bureau of entomology of the department of agriculture in rust prevention in northern California and southern Oregon were reported by Mrs. Perkins. Salaries with this department range from $180 to $220 a month.

Underclassmen interested in these summer jobs should contact Mrs. Perkins in the employment bureau of the YMCA for full information about the jobs.

Students are guaranteed 15 days free lodging at the local infirmary if ill, however, no one is obligated to use that time.

University to Celebrate Army Week April 6-12 Honoring U.S. War Dead

By JUNE McCONNELL

"A Strong America is a Peaceful America," is the theme of Army Week which will be observed from April 6 to 12 on the University campus and in Eugene, in connection with the national celebration, as proclaimed by President Harry Truman this year, to honor both the living and the dead members who have served with the United States army.

Col. J. E. McCammon, head of the military science department, is the army officer responsible for the commemoration program of the army in Eugene. Project officer working on the celebration is Lt. Col. Henry W. Hall, assistant professor of military science and head of public relations. The Eugene chamber of commerce is sponsoring the events of Army Week.

According to Col. Hall, a display of different types of military equipment will be on exhibit all next week at the campus ROTC headquarters.

The "jump-off" speech in the program of army events was given last night by Major Gen. Willis H. Hale, commanding general of the 4th air force, at the regular meeting of the chamber of commerce group in Eugene.

Numerous other activities are scheduled for next week, in honor of the army. Among the important features of the week on the campus will be the daily showing of motion pictures at the ROTC building, 15th and Onyx street, in room 1. The schedule for the movies is as follows:

- April 7, 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.—"Liberation of Rome" and "Battle of San Pietro,"
- April 8, 9 a. m. and 2 p. m.—"Attack! Battle of New Britain,"
- April 9, 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.—"Westward is Bataan,"
- April 10, 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.—"Price of Rendova," "Seeds of Destiny," and "Eve of Battle."
- April 11, 9 a. m. and 2 p. m.—"The True Glory."

Big '47 Broadcast Scheduled for May

The "Big Broadcast of 1947," an annual feature of the "Let's Sing, America," program, will be produced in McArthur court May 8, it was announced this week by Maude Garnett, associate professor of public school music and director of the weekly radio broadcast.

The broadcast will climax the year's program of the "participating" feature of Station KOAC's school of the air, started four years ago as a participating program for the state's one and two-room schools.

Feature of the May broadcast will be music by the University of Oregon band, under the direction of John Stehn, as a part of the entertainment provided for school children who come to the campus to take part in the event. Other activities will include folk dancing and a picnic lunch, with surprise entertainment also planned, Miss Garnett said. Eugene city school children will assist in the plans.

Miss Garnett announced that registration for the broadcast is now open, and will close May 1. Information needed includes the name of the school, the number of children planning to attend, and the company of the students. All schools are invited to send students to the broadcast, she said.

Emerald Change Effective Monday

Bill Stratton, sophomore in journalism, has announced his resignation as Emerald managing editor effective April 7, it was announced Friday by Marguerite Wittwer-Wright, Emerald editor. Stratton will be replaced by Jeanne Simmonds, junior in journalism and former feature editor.

Stratton, who replaced Jack Billings as managing editor winter term, said although he is unable to continue as managing editor because of financial reasons, he will continue to work on a part time basis for the Emerald.

Before accepting the news side position winter term, Stratton served as assistant sports editor fall term.

Serenades must be registered at least 24 hours in advance at the dean of men's office.

On Saturday morning from 9 a. m. through 11:30 a. m., requests may be made for the re-showing of any of the films shown during the week. The time required for the showing of the pictures is about 50 minutes on the average, Col. Hall said.

The setting aside of April 6 each year for Army Day was done by a resolution passed by congress in 1937, but this is the first year that a whole week has been scheduled by the nation in honor of the United States army.

The University coop association was organized in 1920.
