Seniors Eye Speech Prizes

Five seniors are eyeing the $300 in prizes to be awarded in the Failing Beekman oratorical contest which will be held on the campus during commencement weekend.

Women have apparently found the $150 first prize, and the $100 and $50 second and third prizes more appealing than the men. Beverly Carroll, sociology major; Gloria Carrolian and Marjorie Skordahl, both majors in Romance languages; Raymond T. Anderson, psychology major; and Alfred Smith, chemistry major, have entered.

The participants may prepare a 15 minute speech on any subject they choose. The entry deadline is May 1.

Because there are relatively few entrants in this contest, the opportunities of winning a prize are great, according to Professor W. A. Dahlberg, acting head of the speech drama department. Further information may be obtained from him in room 107A, Friendly hall.

Egyptian to Speak On Independence

Ahmad Hussein, leader of the Young Egypt party, will speak on Egypt's independence effort Wednesday, April 23, at 7:30 p.m. in Gerlinger hall. One of Egypt's outstanding youth leaders, Hussein is currently touring the United States speaking to college groups.

He founded the Young Egypt movement when a junior in college. Since that time the party has grown from an initial group of 12 members to include 12,000.

Hussein's speech is sponsored by the One World club and Dr. V. P. Morris. He is scheduled to appear before an Oregon State audience April 22.

Webfoots Win

After a two-game pause, in 1946 the Webfoots hit the win column when Hal Saltzman tossed the Hobsonmen to an 8 to 5 win over Washington State. The Duck crew pounded Buck Bailey's tossers for 11 bingles.

Petitions Due April 19

Petitions for the positions of Emerald editor and business manager and Oregon editor and business manager must be turned in to the educational activities office in McArthur court before noon, April 19.

Dr. V.P. Morris, Deane Seeger Discuss Problems of Marriage

By WILLIAM GARDNER

The social and economic aspects of marriage were discussed Tuesday evening at the weekly "Youth and Marriage" series by Deane Seeger, Eugene city manager, and Dr. Victor P. Morris, dean of the school of business administration.

Mr. Seeger, speaking upon "The Contributions and Interests of the Community Regarding the Successful Marriage," stated that "The community is going to be just what the families make it;" therefore the community can give no more to his need" is applicable to any successful marriage.

Community Projects

The communities' interests in the family can be exemplified by the recent zoning restrictions which have protected residential properties, increased school funds, and the construction of recreational facilities for young and old alike, he continued.

But the speed by which these advancements take place is largely in the hands of the family unit, he asserted. And through the use of their voting privileges the family can bring to bear that legislation which will make their community a better place in which to live. In conclusion, Dean Seeger reminded, "The family makes the tone of community life—not the local government."

Economic Phases Told

Dr. Morris, in the second part of the "double feature", spoke upon "The Economic Considerations of Marriage."

"The economic basis of the successful family is co-operation", he asserted. "This calls for frankness and, above all, joint decisions on vital matters." Dr. Morris believes that the communistic principal of "from each according to his ability—to each according to

Dr. Morris stated that the following economic problems should be decided by the couple:

- (1) savings policy, (2) insurance reserves, and (3) borrowing and installment buying. If the family has the right scale of values, he believes, and stresses cooperation, the marriage has the earmarks of success.

Next Tuesday at 7:15 p.m. in room 3 Fenton hall Rev. Wesley G. Nicholson, pastor of the Eugene Congregational church, will speak upon "The Protestant View of Marriage." These lectures are presented under the joint sponsorship of the E. C. Brown trust and the general extension division, state system of higher education.
