

Polish Diplomat Fears UN Veto; Free Terrace Hop Puts United Nations Over League To Follow Ritual

The feeling of nationalism in Europe at the end of World War II is stronger than ever before and the problem of having unity of mankind and still retain the valuable feeling of nationalism is a difficult one, according to Dr. Wladyslaw W. Kulski, former Polish ambassador to England. Dr. Kulski spoke in Chapman hall Friday evening on, "The Comparison Between the United Nations and the League of Nations as a Guarantee of World Peace."

Small nations are forced to relinquish their sovereignty once they join the United Nations because they have to abide by the decisions of the security council, even if they disagree, the diplomat said. Though Dr. Kulski believes an international organization is necessary to maintain world peace, he said that he does not approve of the dominance of the great powers over their weaker neighbors.

"The United Nations is an improvement over the League of Nations," Dr. Kulski, who was associated with the League for some time, said. All the great powers are represented and a permanent meeting place is provided for the world statesmen and diplomats, where they can meet and discuss world affairs, he explained.

Dr. Kulski believes the right of veto in the United Nations charter is the most dangerous weak point. "I have tried hard not to be optimistic or pessimistic but to see things as they really are because by being critical in a constructive way, we may be able to aid world peace," Dr. Kulski said.

An open forum was held at the conclusion of the speech in which Dr. Kulski answered several questions from the audience pertaining to his views on various world problems.

Newman Elections Slated for Tonight

Important to all Catholic students on the campus are the Newman club elections to be held tonight at 6:45 at the YMCA. Voting was postponed one week because of insufficient notice to the members.

The executive council of the club will present a slate of officers. However, nominations from the floor will be welcome.

The new position of corresponding secretary has been added to the five elective officers. The council's eight appointive positions will be announced next week.

Speaker for the evening will be Dr. Charles D. Byrne, secretary of the state board of higher education, who will address the group on the development of higher education in the United States.

German Club Hosts To Kremer, Underwood

The Deutsche Gesellschaft will have two guests at their meeting tonight at 7 on Gerlinger sunporch.

Dr. E. P. Kremer, professor of German, will speak on University life in Germany, and Rex John Underwood will play a violin solo by Mozart. The talk will be in German, but Dr. Kremer says it will be easily followed by the elementary students. It will be followed by questions and discussion.

A short business meeting, singing, and refreshments will fill the remainder of the meeting.

In tune with other Junior Weekend activities is the terrace dance on Friday afternoon, May 9, from 4 to 5:15 p.m. The dance, which will be a free, no-date affair, follows the coronation ceremony and has as its chairman, Pat Webber, junior in journalism.

Entertainment along the "Gay Nineties" line will feature a barber shop quartet backed by Herb Widmer and his band. The decorations will follow the theme of the weekend with bowery sign posts, figures, lamp-posts and a coke stand sponsored by the "Y" and arranged as an old fashioned bar. The decorations are under the direction of Dedo Misely, junior in business.

Publicity for the event will be headed by Janet Beigel, sophomore in journalism. Other committee heads chosen last week are Treva Torsen, entertainment, Bob Bovlein, music, Jackie Moore, clean-up, Maxine Jamieson, promotion, and Jane Thompson, refreshments.

'Caged Bird' Proves Popular as Theme

"A Bird in a Gilded Cage" has proved the most popular theme of the Gay Nineties, according to Warren Smith, chairman of the float parade. Smith asserts that the first three entries of living organizations into the parade, scheduled May 10 of Junior Weekend, listed the caged creature as their first choice, but, because of the rules of the contest, only the first submitted, Alpha Omicron Pi and Hunter hall, will carry out the subject.

Barber shop quartets, nickel beers, and the "Perils of Pauline" will wend their ways down Thirteenth avenue, when various paired living organizations carry out these motifs.

Subjects for the floats must be submitted by April 25 at the educational activities office, Smith recently warned late houses.

The first football game was played at the University of Oregon in 1896.

BA Conference Helps Students

By SALLY WALLER

"To help the student get in touch with the field of work in which he is interested," was cited by Dr. Victor P. Morris, dean of the business administration school, as the purpose of the sixth annual Student Business Conference, at the concluding meeting of the Thursday afternoon.

The concluding conference, which was in the form of a panel discussion, had as its theme, the ways and means of getting in touch with a job.

Dr. Norris pointed out that the conference was originally designed to help freshman and sophomore students decide what their interests were in the field of business, but that the conference had developed into a type of "guidance clinic" for upperclassmen with business interests.

W. C. Ballaine, chairman of the event, spoke briefly on the ways of preparing for a job, by means of self-appraisal and self-capacity. C. F. Ziebarth, professor of business administration, gave the methods for approach to the prospective employer, the interview and letter of application.

A. B. Stillman, professor of business administration gave a statement on the "student interview" system which is being adopted by the business administration school for interviewing all seniors in business by the school's staff, to determine their interests, wants, and qualifications.

Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration, spoke on the University employment bureau, and gave a few methods for the student to "line up a job." He stated that the bureau covers the entire University with the exception of the school of education.
