

McCarthy Added To ROTC Staff

Staff Sergeant Joseph E. McCarthy was added to the instructors' staff of the ROTC department last week, according to information obtained from the local school.

Stationed at Mojave field, California before coming to Eugene, Sgt. McCarthy will help in the University air unit.

When asked about himself, the sergeant replied that he was with the 8th Air Force in Europe for two years during the war. Besides his military activities in England, McCarthy found time to win the heart and hand of an English girl. Mrs. McCarthy is in Cincinnati, Ohio, at present and will make her first trip to Oregon as soon as Sgt. McCarthy can make housing arrangements.

Terrace Dance Set for May 9

"Up in Central Park" will be the theme of the Junior Weekend terrace dance to be held immediately after the coronation on Friday from 3 to 5. Music will be provided by Herb Widmer and his band for the free, stag affair. Decorations will follow the general theme of the Gay Nineties weekend.

All Mothers are invited to attend especially for the entertainment which will feature a bowery quartet and other acts presenting the gay feeling of Central Park in "those good old days."

Ice-cold cokes will be sold at the YWCA booth for all attending the afternoon dance. Committee head for the dance is Pat Webber. Other committee members are Bob Lovlien, music; Maxine Jamieson, promotion; Jane Thomason, coke booth; Dido Mistry, decorations; Janet Beigal, publicity; Treva Torsoli, entertainment and Jackie Moore, clean-up.

'Y' Coordinator Schedules Visit

Miss Fern Babcock, national program coordinator of the student YWCA, will be a guest of the University on May 8 and 9 to discuss program planning for student Christian organizations.

Miss Babcock will meet with the Y directors on Thursday at 11, the Y luncheon club at 12, the advisory board at 1, and with the duckling counselors and junior advisors at 4. She will be a guest of the YWCA cabinet at a dinner at the Anchorage at 5:30. Joan Williams is in charge of the schedule.

The Oregon State round table has invited the University Y cabinet to attend their dinner and meeting for Miss Babcock in Corvallis Wednesday evening, May 7.

A former regional secretary of the Southwest YWCA, Miss Babcock is also the author of a program book used by both the YWCA and the YMCA.

Turnbull's Article Published in April

George S. Turnbull dean of the school of journalism, is the author of an article, "Interpretative Reporting Debated Among 50 Editors," which appeared in an April issue of Editor and Publisher, weekly magazine for publishers and advertisers.

Questions concerning interpretative and objective reporting in news columns were sent by Dean Turnbull to 150 editors and newsmen throughout the country. Answers of 50 editors were covered in the article.

Pant-leg In Flames Professor Mutter

Professor W. A. Dahlberg's lunch budget was thrown temporarily out of gear Wednesday noon when he had to include the price of a pair of new trousers with his lunch check.

While chatting amiably with a friend at lunch at the Eugene hotel, he scarcely noticed a man hurry by and throw something in his direction. As he felt his body temperature rise rapidly in one concentrated region he leaned over to investigate. There in the crease of his trouser leg nestled a smoldering match which had greedily eaten a hole about the size of a quarter.

The rest of the afternoon mutterings about careless people and matches could be heard drifting steadily through the keyhole of Professor Dahlberg's office.

TICKET SALE WED SET

Tickets for the Junior Prom will be on sale at the Co-op for the remainder of this week. Marty Pond, ticket chairman, announced yesterday.

Price will be $2.70 per couple. Les Brown's band will be featured at the event.

Physical Education Convention Draws Faculty to Seattle Parley

Substitute physical education teachers breathed more easily this week following the return of the regular faculty from the National Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation convention held in Seattle April 21-27. Sponsored this year by the northwest district with the cooperation of the southwest district, the convention was the first national convention of this organization ever held on the West Coast.

Discussions, exhibits, work shops, and demonstrations all centered around the 1947 theme "Problems and Plans." Recommendations for a plan of action to be taken in the fields of health, physical education, and recreation were discussed.

Miss Rosamund Wentworth, assistant professor of physical education, was presiding chairman of the national dance section. This section included all types of folk, social, and modern dance. One outstanding group of dancers featured at the convention will be presented in Eugene sometime in May. Plans for this concert are being formulated by the women's physical education club.

Participating in convention discussions from the University were

Dean Ralph W. Leighton, Raymond Kirelis, H. S. Hayman, Paul Washke, and Miss Margaret Brewster, all members of the school of physical education faculty. Phyllis Wells and Wanda Lou Payne acted as discussion leaders in the convention's student section.

Business activities were abandoned for 24 hours in the middle of the week so that delegates could take a sight-seeing tour in and around Seattle. Some of the Oregon delegates went up as far as Victoria, Canada. To complete the day of pleasure, a Smorgasbord dinner followed by dancing and entertainment was held at Seattle's Olympic hotel.

One highlight of the week was an all-convention physical education pageant sponsored by the Seattle public schools and the University of Washington, but from all reports leaking from Gerlinger and the P. E. building, everything and the hospitality in Seattle was of superior quality.

Only 5 of the original cherubims in the New York cast of "The Green Pastures" remained small enough to last the first five years of production.
