

JANIS PETERSEN

Pretty, Petite Princess Janis, Utah Transfer, Prefers Oregon

Adding to the grace of the Junior Weekend court is Princess Janis Petersen, a petite, blue-eyed, honey blonde. She is new to the University of Oregon this year, coming from Brigham Young University in Utah.

After visiting many of the United State's largest cities—New York, Chicago, San Francisco—Janis would still be quite content to spend the rest of her life in Portland, the city which has been her home since she was five years old. She very definitely favors the West, preferring the life of the western girl to that of the more sophisticated easterner.

Oregon Preference

Janis is also definite in her preference for Oregon, where she is an art major. Her special field is oil painting and she is happiest at her work when she "can paint alone in the hills." She will probably stay at home after graduation and do freelance painting but her favorite dream ambition is to take a painting tour of Europe.

On campus, Janis spends most of her activity time on art decorations and in serving her sorority,

Alpha Phi, as rushing chairman. At Grant high school in Portland, she was freshman class president and then student body vice-president.

Likes Sports

Princess Jan is also a sport enthusiast, favoring swimming, skiing, and mountain climbing. Mt. Hood will be her peak-scaling goal for this summer. For additional leisure time pleasure she has taken piano and vocal lessons.

Three sisters, a brother, her parents and Tippy compose Jan's large, active family. Tippy is the family dog who, Janis claims, "... is of no special variety but we love him anyway."

Banking Jobs Now Prevalent

The field of banking offers more jobs to the college graduate now, than it has in many years, Karl Onthank, dean of personnel management and director of the graduate placement service, has announced.

The banking business, Dean Onthank explained, was forced to fill many of its wartime vacancies with temporary personnel, and now these employees are rapidly leaving the business leaving vacancies for trained college graduates.

The usual starting salary for men having been graduated from college is between $200 and $250 a month, the job placement director said. New employees are given a few months training in banking procedures and then are put on tellers jobs. Advancement in the banking business is quite fast in these days, Dean Onthank said.

A college degree and a knowledge of economics and a substantial background in business administration are requisites for a career in banking, he said. Those interested in obtaining information on jobs in banking should contact Dean Onthank in the graduate placement bureau in Friendly hall.

Banks desiring college trained personnel who have sent out a call to Dean Onthank are: the Portland Pacific First National, the Eugene First National and the United States First National bank of Eugene, and many other banks on the Pacific coast.

Summer Session Book Ready at Johnson Hall

The University catalog for summer session is off the press, according to G. N. Belknap, University editor, and may be obtained at the infirmation window at Johnson hall, or at the summer sessions office at 3 Oregon hall.

First color picture ever used in an Oregonian appeared in 1938.

Music Abstract Art Asserts Dr. Elston

An address by Dr. Arnold Elston, assistant professor of music, on the approach to music from the modern composer's viewpoint, high-lighted the combined business and social meeting of Phi Mu Alpha, men's national music fraternity, recently evening.

The meeting was held at the home of Dr. L. A. White, Eugene physician and active Mu Phi Mu alumnus.

Dr. Elston stressed the evolution of music from basic emotional patterns to a highly conceptual and abstract art, as the apparent difference between modern composition and that of the period dating back from the early nineteenth century.

A portion of Dr. Elston's work will be performed during the three-day contemporary music festival to be held at the University later this month.

Library Displays To Open Today

Plans are now being completed for the eleventh annual library day, to be held this weekend on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday afternoons.

Displays will be placed throughout the building. In the main corridor will be the student private libraries which have been entered in the prize contest sponsored by the association of patrons and friends of the library, and by the House Librarians organization. Exhibits from various collections will be set up in the Adelaide Church memorial room.

Selections of books donated to the library and other exhibits will be shown in the circulation room.

The first excursion train of the Santa Fe Railway reached Las Vegas, New Mexico, in the year 1879.

Federation Directors Name Program Head

Jordis Benke and Bob Chaney, co-directors of the Portland branch of Oregon Federation activities, announced yesterday the appointment of Don Londer, freshman in business, as program chairman for the Oregon picnic.

All committee chairmen are requested to attend a meeting at noon on Monday in the upstairs Side.
