

Snowbelle's Entry Flips Political Lid

SDX News Service

All leading ASUO election candidates retired early last night in anticipation of today's balloting, even though the belated entry of Darkhorse in the Student Union presidential race set the campus ablaze yesterday afternoon.

Stan Williamson has remained in top shape since the close of basketball season. No nightowl he, sleep has been his long suit. Recent developments, however, have upset young Stanislaus. So Guardian Don Mullarkey early last night placed the aspiring male charger incommunicado, far from the reaches of an inquiring press.

Salmon Not Floundering

The Salmon has taken the campaign in comparative calm. Several times he brunched with opponent Howard Lemons. The two, in coalition, had mapped an effective campaign to neutralize supporters of Anyface and had stalled the third party movement in the SU presidential race.

Darkhorse Entered

The entrance of Darkhorse into the campaign, however, has caused grave alarm, for Darkhorse has never been defeated in any race. If this four-legged runner can waltz off with the prized SU presidential package, a severe blow may be dealt to the traditional two-party system.

Sources close to the millrace reveal that late yesterday afternoon

Williamson phoned his hoop buddy in Corn Valley—bounding Lew Beck.

"What can I do with Darkhorse," Stan queried.

Beck Stymied

Beck, though pastured on a campus which knows much about horses, was stymied. First he suggested a Slat's Gill weave; then he volunteered to enter Darkhorse in the Pendleton Roundup (Pendleton is Beck's home.) Finally he gave up. "You've got me licked on that one, Stan," Lou concluded.

It is believed that Williamson did develop some plan. He was noticeably calm after dinner. This morning

ASUO Elections Today

ASUO elections are being held today. Polling places have been set up at McArthur court and at the YMCA. Voting will start at 8 a. m. and will continue until 6 p. m. Registration cards only will be accepted as identification for voting students.

Candidates for Number 1 spot on the ASUO are Howard Lemons, ISA, and Stan Williamson, ASA. Vying for Number 2 spot are Jeanne Simmonds, ISA, and Bobbe Fullmer, ASA.

Running for senior representative to the ASUO are Ralph Himmelsbach, ISA, and Marty Pond, ASA; for junior representative, Andy Iskra, ISA, and Dean Bond, ASA; for sophomore representative, Art Johnson, ISA, and Norman Bishop, ASA.

In the class elections, the ISA is running Si Ellingson and Joyce Niedermeyer for Number 1 and 2 in the senior class, while the ASA is running Bob Wallace and Kay Schneider.

The ISA is pitting Joe Conroy and Trudi Chernis against Hank Kinsell and Beth Basler for Number 1 and 2 in the Junior class.

Battling for Number 1 and 2 in the sophomore class are ISA candidates Mike Mitchell and Virginia Thompson and ASA candidates Jim Wallace and Joanne Frydenlund.

ISA is running Johnny Backlund for yell king against ASA's Don Lindstedt and non-party candidate Steve Gann.

Six students are vying for the three positions open on next year's Co-op board. They are Don Dole, Joan Williams, Ann Woodworth, Jordis Benke, Wes Nicholson, and Margaret Johns.

Personnel Head Makes Startling Disclosure

In an exclusive report released by a reliable source late yesterday it was disclosed that Karl Onthank, dean of personnel administration, left the campus last Tuesday to attend the northwest regional committee meeting of the student YMCA.

"I came back Wednesday," Dean Onthank said.

PETITIONS DUE

Petitions are now being accepted, according to the chairman.

Robbie in Uncozy Spot

Robbieurr Courtney is sitting atop 300 Oreganas waiting for students to come and pick them up.

"If they don't show up pretty soon, I'm going home," she said.

They are in the activities office in McArthur court.

Anyface Kicked Downstairs, Will Run for Banister Wiper

SPECIAL, SDX

Students today will crowd the polls to elect the University's first Student Union president. Polling places designated are the Side, Robinson's, the Pioneer, Tiny's, and the steps of the Student Union building.

Tiny's will remain open until midnight, election managers disclosed.

Until 10 a. m. yesterday Anyface, junior in something, was

Roberts Tells Balloting Rules

Unless ballots are properly marked in today's ASUO and class elections, they will be thrown out, Gil Roberts, ASUO vice-president who is in charge of balloting, warned yesterday.

All student who vote will be handed three separate ballots—an ASUO ballot, a Co-op board ballot, and a ballot of officers for the class of which he will be a member next year. Instructions for marking will be printed on each ballot, Roberts said.

Roberts urged students to pay particular attention to the preferential ballots, which must be marked with numerals to be legal. Any preferential ballots marked with x's or checks will be destroyed, he said.

Sweeping Changes Made by Newburn

Harry K. Newburn, president of the University of Oregon, announced Monday the appointment of I. S. Broome and Otto Moppe to janitorial positions on the campus. The appointments were confirmed by the state board of higher education in a sweeping unanimous vote.

Broome, former assistant janitor in the school of education at Iowa, will assume his duties in Fenton hall at the beginning of fall term. Moppe, for 16 years head janitor at Iowa, has accepted a similar position at the University.

Anyone can play bridge, but it takes a cannibal to throw up a hand.

ticketed No. 1 for the position by the Affiliated-Independents, a new campus political party that emerged three weeks ago from the Eleventh street excavation.

But a barn door was left open someplace. And at noon yesterday Snowbelle, Affiliated-Independent party boss, barked that Darkhorse would head the ticket. Anyface had agreed to run for bannister polisher, Snowbelle said.

ASA and ISA readers were reported to have trembled upon learning that Darkhorse had entered the SU presidential race. Alphabet captains feared that the SU race, with Darkhorse and Anyface on the same card, would steal the spotlight from today's ASUO elections.

A source close to both ISA and ASA tooled snafus intimated that a strong movement was underway to run two coalition candidates in opposition to the Affiliated-Independent combination.

When informed of this possible ISA-ASA action, Snowbelle growled, "We're not piddling with their elections. I don't see why they should piddle with ours."

Snowbelle announced also that Darkhorse's platform included many planks not concerned strictly with the Student Union. "For example," Snowbelle said, "Darkhorse promises to do his utmost to fill the millrace. He also pledges to plump for making the executive council more the voice of the students, in spite of the fact that the students usually are hoarse."

Political Forces Gather

There will be a meeting of the house librarians today, at 4 p.m., at Westminster house. Election of officers for next year will be held. Neither ISA or ASA had announced its candidates at the time of this writing.
