State Jurist Visits Campus

Justice Douglas L. Edmonds of the California supreme court met with members of Phi Alpha Delta, professional law fraternity, last month during a short visit to Eugene.

Justice Edmonds discussed plans for the coming year with the Oregon law school members and tentatively arranged for a return trip to Eugene during the school year. He explained the objectives of the national chapter, and discussed the coming convention in Los Angeles in the spring.

Youngest Justice

Many of the difficult questions confronting a supreme court justice were discussed by those present including many practicing attorneys from Eugene. The justice, at one time one of the youngest in the nation on a state supreme court, assisted the Oregon students and alumni in solving legal problems and to aid in efficient organization of the local chapter.

Master of ceremonies at the meeting was Dudley Walton, justice of the Oregon chapter.

The Oregon (Williams) chapter of the fraternity has completed extensive plans for activities in the law school for the year, and plans to engage in some all-campus functions.
