

October Payments Due on Wednesday

October payments for dormitory housing are due today and must be paid by October 5 to avoid penalty, Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, director of dormitories, has announced. A penalty for late payment of $1 per day will be charged up to $5, she said.

All University dormitory space, which houses 1,500 students, is taken, according to the director, who estimated that 150 enrollees were turned down for campus housing the first week of school or immediately preceding. Through cooperation of Eugene residents, Mrs. Turnipseed said, nearly all that number secured off-campus rooms.

Savage, Marshall

dean of the University personnel administration, Savage composed many of the U.N. documents and was the official link between Secretary Stettinius and his predecessor, Cordell Hull, during the conference.

Excellent Student

While an undergraduate, Onthank said, Savage was an excellent student. Although he was an exemplary ASUO president, he put scholarship before activities, according to the dean.

By conscientious study, Onthank added, Savage made himself an expert on diplomatic history, and especially on historical attempts at neutrality. He was constantly consulted by high officials during the uneasy period preceding the war, the dean continued.

Carleton Savage is not a politician or political diplomat. Onthank opinioned, rather he is an "expert behind the scenes" in the state department.

An authority on Woodrow Wilson, Savage co-authored a biography on that president with R. S. Baker. In addition he helped compile material for a diplomatic history of World War I, and wrote "The Policy of the United States Toward Maritime Commerce in War."

The barley crop last year was estimated to be about 263,350,000 bushels. This was 13 per cent below the ten-year average of 289,598,000 bushels for 1935-44.

WORLD HEADLINES

BOSTON, Sept. 30 (UP)—Former vice-president Henry A. Wallace, in a stinging criticism of American foreign policy, charged tonight that "every propoganda technique known to man is being used to win support for basically rotten policies."

In a speech at Boston Arena he said, "It is quite obviously not official concern with civil liberties that troubles the men who direct our foreign policy—even if that is the banner under which they would mobilize us."

"Is it the restriction of civil liberties within the Soviet Union that concerns the men who are directing American foreign policy? I think not... we embrace Peron. We arm other Latin American dictators... we let American-made arms suppress Indonesians without threatening the Dutch government."

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 30 (UP)—A Hollywood film company today said it had cabled Joseph Stalin for permission to send 10 players and a camera crew to Russia to make scenes for the movie "Assignment: Russia."

Carl Krueger Productions, announcing plans to film Richard G. Hubler's story of an American correspondent in Soviet Russia, said an identical telegram was sent to United Nations Russian delegate Andrei Vishinsky.
