PORTLAND, Oct. 2. Bonneville power rates were under the scrutiny of a House appropriations subcommittee headed by U. S. Rep. Ben F. Jensen, R., Iowa, here today. Jensen suggested at the hearing that the Bonneville rate of $17.50 a kilowatt year for power may be too low. He said, "If these power rates are too low, we plan to find out. If they are raised, it will be by such a small amount you won't notice it."

SHANGHAI, China, Friday, Oct. 3. An American woman freelance correspondent and a British newsman were among 26 passengers and crewmen killed in the crash of a Chinese air force transport west of the great wall pass of Chiayukwan last July 31, the newspaper Sinwanpao reported today.

SANTA ANA, Cal., Oct. 2. The Timebomb murder case against George (Bud) Gollum, 21, and Beulah Louise Overell, 18, accused of killing her parents, will go to the jury tomorrow, Judge Kenneth Morrison said tonight. The judge's statement came as the last of six attorneys was still engaged in final arguments.

CARSON VALLEY, Nev., Oct. 2. Dr. Eliza Cook, Nevada's first woman doctor and an early and vigorous leader in women's suffrage movement, died at her home today at the age of 91.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2. Florida's sharp-spoken Sen. Claude Pepper today opposed any attempts to resume an investigation of aircraft builder Howard Hughes' war contracts. Describing the recent hearing as a smear of the two Roosevelts, the Florida senator said that he and others on the Senate war contracts investigating committee would have something to say if an attempt is made to cover the same ground.

PORTLAND, Oct. 2. Deer hunting kills on the opening day of the season in Oregon were light, but conditions were expected to improve. Hunters were especially concentrated in the Ochoco national forest around Prineville and the Fremont national forest out of Lakeview.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 2. The four upper basin Colorado river states today in effect lined themselves solidly behind Arizona in Arizona's battle with California over allocation of vital water from the stream. Members of the Colorado river basin states committee hearing the conclusion of a two-day meeting here unanimously adopted an Arizona resolution, designed to clarify terms of a controversial Colorado river compact.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. President Truman's citizens' food committee moved to enlist distillers and brewers in the new food conservation drive today, arousing speculation that cutbacks in whisky and beer output or greater use of substitute ingredients might be sought to save grain for Europe.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 2. Two persons were rescued here today from icy, storm-driven waters which poured over them for five hours as they clung to the wheelhouse roof of their swamped boat.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 2. Harold E. Stassen, candidate for the 1948 Republican nomination, said tonight that if he is elected he will appoint at least two west coast men to his cabinet.

"I think the west coast is becoming of increased national importance," Stassen told Republican leaders here. It is extremely important that the secretary of agriculture come from that area, because of its recent growth and problems."

Dean to Speak At Public Meet Monday Night

Dr. Robert B. Dean, assistant professor of chemistry, will deliver a public Sigma Xi lecture entitled "Big Molecules: Plastics, Fibers, and Rubbers" on Monday night at 8 p.m. in 103 Deady hall.

Stressing the subject of plastics in his lecture, Dr. Dean will also emphasize the big molecules in nylons, silks, wools, cottons, and rubbers.

"By means of pictures, models, and diagrams, I hope to explain the strength of nylons and the elasticity of rubber," stated Dr. Dean.

The assistant chemistry professor arrived here at Oregon last February, from Hawaii, where he had been teaching for the past two and a half years. He was graduated from the University of California, from where he received his BA; later he earned his doctor's degree from the University of Cambridge in England after studying in both England and Denmark. Recently, Dr. Dean has conducted research in chemistry at Stanford, worked in two war projects, and is presently drawing diagrams which will be used as illustrations in a chemistry book.

Following his hour lecture there will be an open discussion period from the floor.

Magazine Offers Guest Positions

On November 1, just a little less than a month away, the deadline for Mademoiselle's College Board is scheduled. The fashion magazine for women is sponsoring its annual contest to choose guests editors for next August's edition of the publication from college and university women throughout the country.

A guest editorship on the magazine guarantees a trip to New York, paid by Mademoiselle, and attendance at the career conference, sponsored by the publication's jobs and futures department. The trip, which will materialize in June 1948, will provide an opportunity to work on the issue and be paid for the job.

Requirements for the contest are that the student must be an undergraduate attending an accredited college or junior college and that she be available for the entire month of June. Entrants must submit a double-spaced article, approximately two pages in length, on any new phase of campus life, as something new in academic courses, fashions, fads, activities, organizations or trends. This must be mailed, together with a snapshot of the contestant and all data on college and home address, class year, major and minor, and a job history, to The College Board Editor, Mademoiselle, 122 East 42 Street, New York 17.
