

Students Purchase Egg, Truman Favored Co-op Membership

Approximately 2600 students and faculty members have joined the University Co-op since the beginning of the fall term, according to M. F. McClain, Co-op manager.

Though the main drive for members is over, membership can still be gained by purchasing the $1 ticket at the cashier's counter in the Co-op. The dollar, with the annual rebate, will be returned at the end of the year.

Once it was "Black Friday;" yesterday it was "Truman Tuesday" The reaction to the first meatless Tuesday was mild. The women liked the vegetables, and the men were just plain philosophic. At th Sigma Nu house, the Emerald surveyor was told by telephone, "We ail talked about meat, but we got by." Most of the comments were of this "We're doing all right, but we're getting tired of eggs" type.

John Straub was hardest hit. No one said much until the football team who perhaps are in the "invalid" class came to dinner. They had steaks "this big, and with juice oozing out of them," as one on-looker exclaimed. However Pi Phi and Kappa houses reported that their football team ate the same food as their sisters.

An unofficial spokesman for one of the vets' dorms said in an unhappy voice that the "boys" did not like meatless Tuesday. "It's too much like rationing." Then, brightening, he added as an afterthought that they had had a very good dinner—creamed turkey. (In the plan, turkey is not considered meat)

One girl whose uncle raises cougars, agreed heartily with Truman's plan. "My uncle starves the cougars one day a week—on Sunday. Maybe it's good for humans, too." she said.
