Apple Sale Head Junior to Perform Lead in Play; Names Committees Diane Barnhardt Shows Talent

By PAT KING

As the ultra-sophisticated Lorraine Sheldon in "The Man Who came to Dinner," Diane Barnhart, junior in drama, will appear in her first role on the University stage.

"I'm afraid I'll always play either a meanie or an angel," she said resignedly, and her piquant features seem to bear out her belief.

A tall girl, Diane's green eyes, ivory skin, and long dark brown hair should be to her advantage as Lorraine, the vamp. She is one of Sheridan Whiteside's (Cliff James) weapons to break up the love affair between his secretary (Marie DiLoreto) and young journalist (Lavorn Taylor).

DIANE BARNHART

To play leading role in "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Traveled in East
After traveling to most of the large eastern cities this summer where she saw several summer theaters, Diane decided she would like to go into summer theater after graduating.

"I have eventual hopes of Broadway, but that's a long way off," laughed Diane, who is a member of Delta Zeta. She is well aware of the training and hard work involved in the long hard climb to becoming a really good actress.

Likes Comedy
"Comedy is the most fun to play," she stated, "but I like to make people cry, too. It's relaxing for everybody to have a good cry once in a while."

Tickets are now on sale at the box office in Johnson hall for the first play of the season which will be performed Oct. 24, 25, 29, 30, 31, and Nov. 1.

Geraldine Hettinger, Don Smith, Bob Over, Jane Cordiner, Walter Payne, Patricia White, Ron Phillips, Emelie Jackull, Jeanette Grant, Sally Nicol, Charles Boice, Elton Allen, Virginia Woods, William Alley, Jane Sorum, and Dick Monnie complete the cast.

Hord earned his master's degree at the University of Southern California last year, and taught piano there during the summer session.
