

Campus Gronp Entertains Vets

A short program sponsored by the campus Red Cross was presented Sunday afternoon to the patients at the Roseburg veterans' hospital, Helen McFetridge, program chairman, revealed Monday. First in a bi-weekly series from the University to be taken to the Roseburg hospital, this program was "more-or-less experimental in nature," Miss McFetridge explained.

Including light classical music and a brief skit in their presentation, the student participants were: Fran Robson, Jackie Tetz, Harriette Stewart, Lois Baer, and Miss McFetridge. The informal entertainment was carried into some of the individual wards, Miss McFetridge said.

Mrs. P. B. Means, faculty adviser to the Red Cross campus unit, provided transportation.

At 26, Fresno Professor Says, You're Over the Hill, Bill

FRESNO, Cal. (UP)—A Fresno state college associate professor of psychology claimed yesterday you are over the hill if you are 26 years old.

That is the year Dr. M. Bruce Fisher says old age begins to set in. That is when people start losing their strength.

From then on, he said, they just get weaker.

Based on Study

Fisher based his statements on a study he made in collaboration with Dr. James F. Birren of the United States public health service. What they did was to measure the hand strength of 552 industrial workers, all of the men getting a lot of exercise.

They found that the hand might still be quicker than the eye, but the older its owner, the weaker it was becoming.

The research, completed when Fisher was a senior psychologist at the naval medical research institute in Bethesda, Md., during the war, showed strength increases up to the middle 20's.

Man, then, reaches his peak at 25. Life, according to the professor does not begin at 40. At 40 a man has been an old man for 15 years.

The decrease in strength, Fisher said, is gradual—but it becomes sharper as age continues. At 60, the average loss of strength is 16.5 per cent.

All the tests were made on men, but the psychologist pointed out old age comes to women, too—beginning in that same year, the 26th. He said other measurements of ability, including mental agility, also are on the down grade.

Marshall Plan

Yugoslavian affairs today, but if the nation were not in the Russian orbit it certainly would "insist on coming in."

The recently announced "Cominform" is merely a reaction to the Truman doctrine, and aims at the complementary end, he believes.

Mr. Adamic does not believe in the Central European and Balkan confederation suggested a month ago by Dr. Kurt von Schuschnigg. When the former Austrian chancellor was in Eugene, he said he felt the small nations of Central and Southern Europe would have to band together if they were to survive. Mr. Adamic feels that such a union would be impossible unless Russia and the United States should prove they could get along together. Otherwise, he says, it would be a mere buffer state, which would benefit no party.
