

Honorary Elects New Secretary

John Benneth, junior in journalism, was elected secretary of Sigma Delta Chi, men's national journalism honorary, at the group's meeting Thursday noon at the Side. Benneth, who replaces Thomas Wright, was editor of the Junior Weekend "Lemon Punch," and associate editor of the 1947 Oregonian.

Fall initiation of the organization will be held at the Oregon High School Press association's annual banquet on December 6, according to President Ross Yates.

The preppers will be presented a variety show, under the chairmanship of Bert Moore, Old Oregon editor, during the affair at the Hotel Osburn.

Hans Wold, junior in journalism, left Eugene Thursday to represent the Oregon chapter at the Sigma Delta Chi national convention in Washington, D. C., on November 11, 12, 13 and 14. He is the first delegate from Oregon since the war.

Missing Students Sought by Pigger's

Each freshman woman majoring in liberal arts is requested to check her identification card in case she is Bessie D. Samuelson. Records for Miss Samuelson can not be found, making her the only women student not yet listed in the new Piggers guide.

According to Howard Ramey, editor of the student directory, men students are harder to trace than women.

Home addresses for five men, Robert J. Quick, Harold D. Rohrs, Harris R. Sherrit, James Glenn Walker, and Harry J. Jenks, and university addresses for Felix Bachmeier, Robert Nelson Bailey, Robert L. Coughlin, Henry A. Dussault, Henry C. Ide, Harry J. Jenks, Robert A. Monson, Richard A. Myrick, William H. O'Hara, Stanley Spaid, and Richard L. Stewart are missing.

Ramey said the directory will be printed when telephone changes are complete.

Grad Students Will be Guests

Graduate students of the University of Oregon will be honored by the Women's Faculty club at a reception Sunday in alumni hall, Gerlinger. Graduate students and faculty members and their wives or husbands are invited.

In the receiving line will be President and Mrs. Harry K. Newburn, Chancellor and Mrs. Paul C. Packer, and Dean and Mrs. Eldon Johnson.

Mrs. Theodore Kratt, Mrs. S. W. Little, Mrs. F. M. Jacobsen and Mrs. R. W. Leighton will pour. Social committee in charge of the tea will consist of Mrs. C. J. Sullivan and Mrs. J. M. McGee. Wives of the graduate council and other faculty wives will assist.

Dull Analyzes

ready lost, for the future struggle, if it comes, the friendship of approximately a billion people," he declared.

In presenting opinions and facts on the ever-increasing misunderstandings and problems connected with U.S.-Russian relations, Dr. Dull commented, "I disagree with Mr. Adamic. I do not feel that the primary struggle of man is the needy against the greedy. I am not enough Marxian to place such primacy upon economic causation. I believe the nature of the struggle is and has been the struggle of man for freedom, political as well as economic freedom."

Dr. Dull said he admits that the struggle of the needy against the greedy is part of this larger struggle, but that he feels it is a false analysis to say this is the intrinsic nature of the conflict.

"If you accept my definition, then you can find the struggle going on within Russia, within the United States. It does not become a struggle where one state is the hero of the drama and the other the villain, as Mr. Adamic proposed," he continued.

Democracy "Afraid"

"We seem to be afraid of democracy in this country," Dull asserted.

"In this fear, we have been afraid of peoples in revolution. We seem to lose faith in democracy, in peoples, in revolution establishing democracy. We have thrown our support to those who maintain economic and political conditions which if they existed in the United States, would just as surely evoke revolt as they did in the days of our own Revolution," he declared.

"We seem afraid to allow the same opportunity for a wider distribution of income that we guard so jealously in the United States today," Dr. Dull said.

He declared that in the countries of the Far East, a wider distribution of income would mean confiscation, which he termed "an emotion word that we fear" even though people in the United States practice such confiscation, calling it a graduated income tax, corporation taxes, or anti-monopoly laws.

"Revolution in Asia does not necessarily mean Communism unless that become the only means of escape for the common man," he declared.

Police State Denounced

"I wish to see freedom in the world, economic and political freedom. I do not believe communism is the means to that end. I do not believe in the police state or totalitarian methods, however good the end may be. I believe that the best and perhaps the only means man has of acquiring a reasonable amount of political and economic freedom is through democracy," he stated.

The expediency in time of war was given by Dr. Dull, as one of the causes of the mix-up the U.S. has gotten itself into, in relation to Chinese affairs and policies.

"In China by backing the Kuomintang, we have already thrown 120 million people into the camp of Russia; as late as 1945 it might have been possible to contain the Chinese peasant revolt within the framework of democracy," said Dr. Dull.

Communism Changed

In explaining to the audience his views on the Russian question, Dull remarked that there was a great difference between communism according to Karl Marx's theory and the Stalin type of communism.

"Personally I think that the spirit of communism was lost when Russia returned to nationalism and the great love of the fatherland," he said. "All over the world, people seem to have forgotten that they are sons of God, and now consider themselves sons of their state," the speaker injected.

Spirit Lacking

Asked his views on the United Nations organization as a hope in the solution of world problems, Dull commented that he could not have much faith in it as it was being run today simply because of the lack of spirit to make it work.

Dr. Dull pointed out the value of teaching the scientific method in universities and of reason against emotion, as an important means in solving any problems, including the world dilemmas.

Preceding Dull's talk, Estella Allen, a senior in business administration was appointed by the president of the club, Helen Sigismund, to head the committee in charge of the One World party to be held November 16 at the YWCA.

"I'll read the last line first—it says Dentyne Chewing Gum."

"My eyesight may be weak, but I can always see Dentyne. It stands right out for flavor. Yes, sir, Dentyne Chewing Gum's in a class by itself for refreshing, long-lasting flavor. And it sure helps keep teeth white, too!"
