Yugoslavian Ballet Star To Dance At Mac Court

Ten Outstanding Ballet Performers Will Feature American Folk Dances

By JUNE FITZGIBBONS

"If the dance expresses a mood, it is that mood which captures my imagination and holds my attention," Mia Slavenska, ballerina who is coming to Mac court tonight at 8:15, has said. "I like to lose myself in the part I am playing, defying the laws of gravity as I float through space."

According to advance notice Miss Slavenska has a splendid technique at her command. It is said to be the result of strenuous practice through the years, plus a generous helping of talent.

Won Olympics

Miss Slavenska, who has honors such as winning first prize in the 1936 Olympics dance competition, has organized her own dance company of ten outstanding performers who travel with her. The "Slavenska Ballet Variante" group started their cross-country tour in November.

Miss Slavenska, who is a native of Yugoslavia, began dancing as a child and at the age of sixteen gave her first performance in a program entirely arranged and choreographed by herself. She joined the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo in Europe in 1939 and came to America with them in 1940.

Designs Costumes

She personally designs many of the costumes for the ballets which she choreographs. These original costume sketches have been shown at various times also in art museums.

Picture Deadline Moved to Nov. 26

The deadline for off-campus senior pictures has been extended by the Kennell-Ellis studios through Wednesday, November 26. This extra time may also be used by students living off-campus who are members of clubs and societies and by house members who missed their house schedules.

Until Next Fall

No Phone Changes

No change in the present operation of dormitory telephones will be made at least until next fall when the dial system in Eugene nears readiness for operation, Dr. H. K. Newburn, president, announced Monday. His announcement followed a meeting with representatives of the telephone company.

J. L. Filsinger and J. W. Parthemer, representing the telephone company, presented the results of a campus survey to the University along with recommendations to enable the company to provide more effective service. Although the present operation of dormitory telephones is not in accordance with tariff agreements with the state, the company is cooperating with the University in not requiring a change until necessitated by the dial system.

With installation of the dial system in Eugene, some changes may be required because of the necessity of controlling long distance calls from dormitory phones. Oregon State college at the present time has a semi-public telephone system in its dormitories.

Messrs. Filsinger and Parthemer plan to spend several days on the campus conferring with University dormitory officials, students, and other interested parties before any final decision is reached.

6 Students Escape Injuries in Wreck

Six University of Oregon students escaped serious injury in an automobile accident 60 miles east of Eugene on the McKenzie River highway, 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

The car, driven by Art Walters, Phi Sigma Kappa, skidded on a patch of ice on the road and rolled down a 150-foot slope. Passengers included Jane Grace, Marilyn Hill, Margery Neer, all of Alpha Chi Omega, and Bob Glasgow and Larry Schott of Phi Sigma Kappa.

Three of the occupants were thrown out of the car and one was knocked unconscious but no one was sufficiently injured to require hospitalization.

Fraternity Starts Hunt For M-Girl

Search will begin at the University this weekend to find a girl who will represent the Oregon chapter of Phi Sigma Kappa in a nationwide contest to find a Phi Sig "Moonlight Girl."

The winning coed will be chosen by the Phi Sigs from photographs which will be submitted by each women's living organization on the campus. Each house has been asked by the fraternity to choose one girl to represent them.

Honor Guest

The winner will be the guest of honor at the Phi Sig house dance to be held Dec. 6, where she will officially be crowned the Oregon "Moonlight Girl." A gift will be presented to the winner.

Her picture will then be entered in the national contest and it will appear in the January issue of the fraternity's national magazine. Pictures will be judged by all the members and alumni of the fraternity.

The "Moonlight Girl" will be announced in May, 1948.

Free Trip

She will receive a trip with all expenses paid to Boston next summer where she will be crowned the national "Moonlight Girl" of Phi Sigma Kappa at a dinner dance to be held in her honor.

The contest, destined to become an annual event on the Oregon campus, is being held to help celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of Phi Sigma Kappa.

Annual Bazaar Set For Art Gallery

The Allied Arts league annual bazaar will be presented in the Little Art gallery December 5, 6, and 7, according to Chairman Hank Heine.

The exhibit will feature jewelry, painting, drawings, sculpture, ceramics, textiles, Christmas cards, and novelties.

The purpose of the bazaar, Heine said, is to provide an exhibition of student work done during the year and a market for student projects.

Anonymous Phone Tip Is Partially Confirmed By Athletic Manager

By LARRY LAU

A phoned-in tip to the Emerald was partially confirmed last night when Anson B. Cornell, for 11 years Oregon's athletic business manager, admitted that he might hand in his resignation on or about January 1, 1948. Cornell said, "Leo Harris has known of this for a long time," and added, "I haven't resigned yet."

A report that Lyle Nelson, publicity director for the University, would hire an assistant to assume some of the additional duties Cornell's resignation would place on his shoulders, and that no one would be hired to replace Cornell, was neither confirmed nor denied by University officials.

Harris to Consult

Leo Harris, athletic director, said he "will discuss the matter with President Newburn." Queried concerning a possible assistant, Lyle Nelson said it was an impossibility and that a combination job of that nature "would not work out."

He said he "guessed" that the University would not hire a man to act in Cornell's capacity. Nelson admitted having heard from downtown sources several weeks ago of Cornell's contemplated resignation.

Dick Williams, educational activities director, gave reporters a terse, "no comment". It is known that Cornell has an active interest in a Eugene laundry. Leo Harris said he was aware that Cornell had a business opportunity.

Quarterbacked Ducks

Thirty years ago, at 135 pounds, Cornell was one of the lightest quarterbacks in Oregon football history. He was captain of the 1915 Webfoot eleven and a three year letterman when he graduated in 1916. He was head football coach at the College of Idaho for 16 years, and for two years, coached at Pacific College. In 1936, twenty years after he left Oregon as a student he returned to take over the managership of the newly formed athletic board.

During the next ten years under his guidance, the figures on the balance sheet were turned from red to black.

AWS Sponsors Christmas Tea

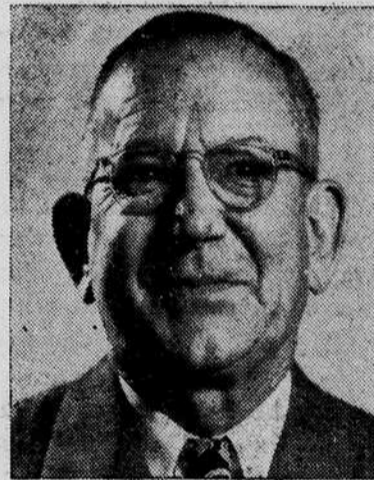

Gifts from women's living organizations for needy Eugene families are to be brought to the AWS benefit tea December 6 it was decided at committee meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Townpeople, faculty, and students living off campus will be invited to attend the tea.

Welfare Chairmen Norma Stearns and Marjorie Petersen are giving names of needy families to the living organizations. Boxes of food, toys, and clothing are to be made up suiting individual needs.

Co-chairmen Renee Cowell and Jean O'Neill have stressed that clever wrappings and cards should be used to add to the Christmas spirit. Each student is asked to spend about fifty cents, according to the committee.

Committee members include Joanne Frydenlund and Donna Kletzing, contact; Jeannine Macaulay, posters; Pat King and Jeri Boylen, refreshments; Mary Stadelman and Carol Becker, entertainment; Marguerite Johns, arrangements; and Nancy Peterson, publicity.

Music Groups Plan Christmas Concert Dec. 7

Committee chairmen for the combined Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and Mu Phi Epsilon annual Christmas concert on December 7 have been announced by Beverley Howard and Wayne Sherwood, general co-chairmen. A prelude to the concert, which will be presented in the school of music auditorium, will be Christmas selections, played by a brass quartet and broadcast from the top of the music building.

The varied program will feature several soloists and informal community singing by the audience, in addition to the more serious choral Christmas music.

The list of committee chairmen includes choral director, Wayne Sherwood; publicity, Dorothy Schaefer and Allen Kirk; program printing, Bob Reeves and Joanne Tweedt; decorations, Lucretia Prentiss and Carl Gutman; and usher, Virgene Roffe.

Pictures of ASUO officers and representatives to the executive council, AWS officers, class officers and the ISA president will be taken December 2 and 3. These officers are asked to meet in front of the Oriental Art museum at any time between 1:30 and 4 p.m. on either of these days.

The men are asked to wear either sweaters or coats and slacks. The women are asked to wear cardigan jackets with blouses and skirts.

Library Meet Canceled
