

Part of the secret of Oregon's fast moving offense lies in its guard supply. The Webfoots are equipped with four veteran speed merchants in the guard slots this season, who are in and out of the lineup repeatedly to keep up the scorching pace. Reedy Berg (above), is back for his fourth year of varsity action at guard, while Bob Lavey earned his letter as a freshman flash last season.

Athletic Ticket Books Should be Saved

Students are warned to save their athletic association ticket books, even though all the tickets are now used.

The University of Oregon hoop squad will make one more home appearance before the end of the term, and at that time the book covers will be turned in for admittance.

Joe Ready To Battle Jersey Joe

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., Dec. 2—(UP)—Champion Joe Lewis disclosed his supreme confidence of retaining his heavyweight title against Jersey Joe Walcott Friday night by signing contracts today for $80,000 worth of "champion's appearances" in London.

Should Louis lose his heavyweight crown, the London appearances automatically will be cancelled.

The London venture—which will prevent another Louis fight at Madison Square Garden in March—was announced just before Louis hammered through four fast rounds with three sparmates before more than 300 spectators.

When asked if the cancellation of his proposed March bout in New York indicated that he might retire, the champion grinned and replied, "I expect to fight again in June, if I beat Walcott. What's everybody want to retire me for, anyhow?"

Louis said he weighed 213 pounds before today's workout, and he expected to scale 212 for the bout—the heaviest he ever has been for any fight. He said, however, that the extra weight had not slowed him up.

Honored

JIM AIKEN

Head Mentor Draws Honor

Head grid coach Jim Aiken was honored for his successful first year in Pacific coast football last night by the Portland chapter of the Oregon Duck club, alumni organization, in a stag dinner held at the Multnomah hotel in Portland.

Aiken's varsity assistants, line coach Dick Miller, and backfield coach Frank Zazula, along with Freshmen mentor Carl Heldt and Athletic Director Leo Harris were also guests at the banquet.

Colored motion pictures of the Oregon-Oregon State grid battle, along with scenes of the Eugene Homecoming weekend, were shown. Tom Stoddard, former graduate manager at the University, acted as toastmaster for the occasion.

Sigma Kappas Ask For Return of Hats

Two hats taken from the dummies in the Sigma Kappa Homecoming sign are still missing. The hats, a Stetson derby and a straw hat, were borrowed from townspeople, and they would like to have them returned.

Webfoots Take Tilt

The Ducks had little chance to open up with a running game, as the carefully-instructed Pilots played a deliberate brand of ball. The Oregon five of Williamson, Bob Lavey, Wiley, Bartelt, and Kenny Seeborg showed the most fire of the units used by Warren. But speed was of little value where points were concerned.

Wiley was runnerup for Oregon with 11 points and Bartelt scored 8. Winters of Portland scored 9 and Leo Grosjaques, a set-shot specialist, canned 8.

Oregon has one more home appearance this term. The Ducks will entertain Willamette University at Mac court December 10.

Nurse: "Doctor, every time I bend over this patient to listen to his heart, his pulse increases. What should I do?"

Doctor: "Button your collar."

SKI SCENES: Seems that a large part of the campi was up on the slopes of Mt. Hood over the holidays. Seen there on the slats were George Bell, Bob Oas and Nancy Fitzhugh. Bell wasn't quite as at home on the snow as on the gridiron but was getting the knack of the sport.

According to CARL GREVE, Jeweler in Portland, quite a few students dropped into his fancy store over the holidays. You can't find a better place than at Carl's for gifts.

SPORTS: The hoop team rolled into high gear on its first trip and the boys are shaping up. However, nicknames have been added to several of the hoopsters. Bob Lavey is now known as "Scrapbook" Lavey. And Trainer Tom Hughes picked up the monicker "Teacups." There's a story about Bom Don, but we'll save it for another issue.

CAMPUS: Norm Morrison is the proud possessor of a new Chevrolet. Take it from Norm it is the only cream and green one on the quad.

SKI SCENES: Also seen at the mountains. Don Londer and Sandy Kowitt. Both boys looked pretty tired and the lodge beckoned to them just like it did everyone else. Blue Ox wasn't open during the hot hours either.

Newest spot to have your clothes cleaned is the CHARM CLEANERS, 1469 Willamette. They have ultra modern facilities and are stressing "Quick Service." That we need around here. Phone 6109-J.

CAMPUS: Seems that a large portion of the student body also spent time in the Portland City libe over the weekends. Just happened to drop in there on a little tour and saw Marty Pond scanning the papers and Dotty Wightman surrying around for advertising notes.

If you were like some other studes, you probably missed the service of RENELLS during the holiday. Well, you can make up for last time now. Just writing about it makes us hungry. Chili beans at the house today. Ugh!

CLASSES: The gals have a special ski class this year. But what about the men. Don't tell us the school is going to renig on us—we want instruction too. Especially when it is for credit.

MOVIES: Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis are the stars of the current flicker at the MAYFLOWER, "Spirit of West Point." For football thrills by Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside this is the film.
