

Suspense Play Set For Today On Radio Hour.

"The Devil's Flower," a mystery-drama with the accent on suspense, will be broadcast today over the University hour radio show at 4 p.m.

Produced and directed by Harry White, the mystery's cast will include the following members of the radio workshop staff: Paul Ryman, John MacDonald, Bert Moore, Ken Lomax, Bob Houghlum, Mary Ester Brock, and Joan Herron.

Two freshman women from the school of music will star in the popular music program of today's University hour. Georgene Shanklin will play three piano solos, "Deep Purple," "Valse Blue," "Stairway to the Stars." Sally Peabody, student vocalist, will sing "Lover," "September Song," and "If I Could Tell You." The musical pops program will be produced by Jessie Binford.

Concluding the radio hour will be a recorded interview of explorer-author Vilhjalmur Stefansson, conducted by Paul Ryman. Stefansson, a recent lecture guest at the University, will discuss his experiences while exploring the polar Arctic regions.

The late Mrs. Hazel Schwering, dean of women for 13 years, has junior woman's scholarship named in her honor. Women's exchange dinner tonight will finance the scholarship.

Art Display Set To Open Friday

The AAA arts bazaar—a display and sale of students' work, will open Friday for three days in the little gallery of the art school.

Among the objects shown will be paintings, drawings, ceramics, jewelry, Christmas cards, sculpture, weaving, textiles and novelties.

On Friday and Sunday the exhibit will be shown from 1 to 9 p.m. The doors will be open from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m., and from 1 to 9 p.m. on Saturday.

This year the display will center around a Christmas theme, Henry Heine, president of the planning committee announced. An annual project of the school of architecture and allied arts, the bazaar gives students a chance to exhibit and sell their work.
