

OREGON Daily EMERALD

ALL-AMERICAN 1946-47

The Oregon Daily Emerald, official publication of the University of Oregon, published daily during the college year except Sundays, Mondays, and final examination periods. Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice, Eugene, Ore. Member of the Associated Collegiate Press

BOB FRAZIER, Editor

BOB CHAPMAN, Business Manager

We Did Our Best

The annual Oregon High School Press conference, which began Friday and will be concluded today, initiates what may become a tradition. The duties of the Emerald staff members were taken over by a group of six high school delegates from throughout the state.

It's quite a step from working on a high school weekly or semi-monthly to start almost from scratch and act as the editors of a daily paper such as the Emerald. To most of the delegates, the feeling was that of a "sheep out of pasture."

A great honor was bestowed upon these six high school students when they were selected to fill the various staff positions, but it is up to them to make this feature successful enough to be continued throughout the many high school press conferences to come. This is quite a responsibility.

This issue of the Emerald is more or less an experiment. The substitute staff members hope that any mistakes appearing today will be considered in their proper perspective. All we can do is our best and we will do our best to make this feature on that can be included as part of the conference in years to come. —C.B.R.

It Pays To Buy Christmas Seals

The theme of the Christmas Seal tuberculosis fund for the coming drive is "Protect Your Home From Tuberculosis." The campus drive opens Monday, December 8 and closes Friday, December 12.

Funds are needed greatly for the curing of those who are known to have the disease and also to assist those who do not have the slightest inkling that they have tuberculosis by conducting examinations and tests to discover the condition.

Christmas seals represent a very worthy cause that concerns us all. This cause is the continuing fight to stamp out the dread disease known as tuberculosis. When buying Christmas seals during the coming drive, and when using the seals, we should all stop and think of just what they mean and how much help their use renders. —D.A.R.

Bob Reed Observes

The house concession man—"What da ya mean, the machines broke? Ya put in a penny and got a peanut, didn't ya?"

* * * *

There is no fun for a child living in a family in which everything said at the dinner table can be repeated at school

* * * *

We note that the price of the turkey dinner with the traditional this and that remains the same this year. Diamonds and mink coats are also holding steady.

* * * *

The coy husband, lacking experience, leaves the door of opportunity open, when the Mrs. suggests he throw away that old, worn out jacket, and he replies that he might need it to do some heavy work about the yard. About the worst mistake a husband can make.

* * * *

Our gift suggestion of the week—A combination magnifying glass and tweezers for handling and locating that 5 cent candy bar.

* * * *

When Bob Hannegan took over the St. Louis Cardinals, he declared, "I have disassociated myself from politics." Of course, he could have bought the Browns and separated himself from everything.

* * * *

If an oncoming car doesn't dim his lights, switch back to your brights. No use messing around with any half-way accidents.

* * * *

With new developments in electronic devices by our scientists, the army has begun discarding several of its searchlight batteries. The confused citizen, however, wonders if radar

Editorial Staff This Issue

Editor Clara Belle Roth, Salem High
 Associate Editor Dave Ramstead, Eugene High
 Managing Editor Vern Stolen, Forest Grove High
 Sports Editor Danny Brown, Franklin High, Portland
 News Editor Gretchen Grondahl, Pendleton High
 Copy Editor Darlene Sayles, Beaverton High

Ticklers

By George

"John, for goodness sakes get out of your work clothes and dress up. The Smiths are coming over."

Trees Laud Past Classes

When Villard and Deady comprised the University of Oregon campus, the class of '78 started a new fad by planting a large English laurel on the northwest corner of Deady hall. Since then, 19 classes have donated trees to the campus.

Among the more famous of these trees is an elm given by the father of a '83 graduate, then U.S. Senator Slater. Originally a slip from an elm at Washington's tomb at Mount Vernon, it is now at the northwest corner of Deady hall.

The class of '93 left in their memory a basalt pillar carried from Skinner's Butte. A myrtle given by the class of '98 has the honor of being the last class tree. The huge oaks northwest of Villard hall are tagged by various graduating classes.

The English cedar left by the graduates of '91 died but one of the alumni donated another tree.

Other trees donated include a Japanese cedar, California big tree, Port Oxford cedar, mountain cedar, incense cedar, silver pine, fir tree, arbor vitae, Oregon fir, spruce, California redwoods and linden trees.

has solved the problem of the blonde on the seventh floor who always has the shades drawn tight.

* * * *

Note to "Basil Metabolism"—If these have stumped you, cheer up, my memoirs on "How I Loused Up This Job" will appear shortly.

* * * *

Some students have been endorsing a certain cigarette. However, we are holding out until we can associate our name with only the best two-bit cigar.

* * * *

In more informed circles, the Marshall plan is known as the European Recovery Program, or (with due apologies) ERP.

* * * *

With the old wooden stadium about to collapse, the cheer leader for the Alkali U. Unquenchables calls for, "Split five for Pug Rantwhistle as gently as possible."

* * * *

No need to worry even if the Russians do have the A-bomb. We can always rely on our home pressure cookers and 5 million housewives—all experts at aiming the gadget.

* * * *

Interesting fellow tells us he spends his winters in Montana and his summers in Virginia, admitting cheerfully that either he's screwy or the ducks are.

* * * *

Beer cans are about to disappear again and just when Cousin Dillingwater had his pucker readjusted to drink from them.

* * * *

A rhetorical question is one in which the asker knows there is only one possible answer, like when the loan company ad says: "Do you need money?"

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Saturday, 11 a.m.: AWS congress meeting at the Theta house. It is important that all representatives be present at this meeting.

Saturday, 2-4 p.m.: AWS benefit tea at Gerlinger hall.

Sunday, 4 p.m.: Mu Phi Epsilon and Phi Mu Aljha Sinfonia Christmas concert in the music school auditorium.

Sunday, 6:30 p.m.: Wesley house town meeting forum for all interested students. Dinner will be served at 5:30 p.m. followed by singing and devotions before the forum begins.

Sunday, 6:30 p.m.: Final forum at Westminster house featuring Willis Caldwell, student-explorer.

Sunday, 7:15 p.m.: Lutheran student association and Gamma Delta joint meeting at the Grace Lutheran church.

Sunday, 7 p.m.: International affairs committee Christmas party for foreign students at Nancy's Beltz' house, 1893 Alder street. All University students are invited to attend.

Monday, 7 a.m.: Catholic mass at the YMCA.

Tuesday, 3:15 p.m., 5:15 p.m., 7:15 p.m., 9:15 p.m.—"La Barraca," Spanish dialogue movie at the State theater. Tickets may be purchased from Spanish club members and Romance language teachers.

Tuesday, 8:30 p.m.: Eugene women's choral club concert in McArthur court.

Thursday noon: Sigma Delta Chi luncheon for Kenneth W. Youel at the Side.

Thursday, 8:00 p.m.: University lecture series talk on "The Don Quixote and Reality" by Dr. P. J. Powers in 207 Chapman hall.

Sunday, Dec. 14, 5:30 p.m. Christmas program and supper at the First Methodist church.

Methodist Church Sets Yule Program

A special Christmas program will be presented at the First Methodist church on Sunday, December 14. The Wesley choir, made up of University students, will sing several numbers during this service. University students may attend a Christmas supper at Wesley house, starting at 5:30, and then proceed to the church with the group. After the program a group will be made up to carol the homes of shut-ins and invalids. Everyone welcome.

BEFORE that DANCE

Bring your best gal out of the cold for a LITTLE TREAT!

BROTHER—She'll Love You!

THE LEMON

"O"

Corner 13th and Alder "Doc" Ireland, Prop.