

Olympic Hockey Dispute Near Settlement Stage

By United Press

ST. MORITZ, Jan. 27—(UP)—Reliable U. S. Olympic sources predicted tonight that a settlement will be reached in the dispute over the American hockey representative which will permit all the other U. S. teams to compete in the winter Olympics which open here Friday.

The prediction, the first hopeful sign that a solution to the controversy was being worked out, followed day-long conferences which left Avery Brundage, chairman of the U. S. Olympic committee, "optimistic" as to the outcome.

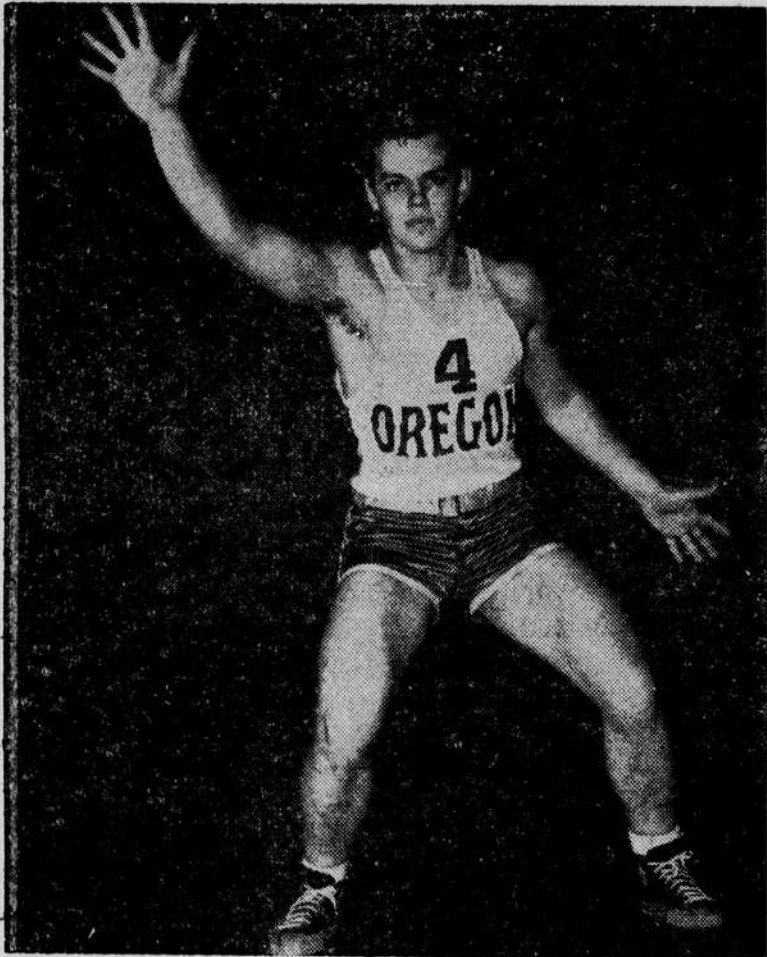

Brundage is striving to reverse the Swiss organizing committee's acceptance of the Amateur Hockey association team, as the official U. S. representative and have the U. S. O. C.'s team substituted. Failing in that, Brundage wants both teams barred.

The U. S. Olympic head remained adamant, however, in his position that if the AHA team is permitted to compete all other American athletes will be withdrawn from the games.

The American sources were confident that the full international executive committee would resolve the hockey dispute in a manner satisfactory to both the factions—the U. S. O. C. and the A. H. A.

Brundage, the central figure in the fight, conferred this morning with the executive committee of the international organization although two of the six members failed to arrive. Despite the absence of Lord Aberdare of England and F. W. Scharromney of Holland, however, Brundage said the hockey question was discussed "informally."

UW Picks Marv Franklin To Coach Frosh Football

SEATTLE, Jan. 27—(UP)—Signing of the University of Washington football coaching staff for 1948 neared completion today with announcement that Marvin Franklin, end coach at Yale last season, had been hired as Washington's freshman grid mentor.

Athletic director Harvey Cassill said he had been informed of (Howie) Odell, newly-appointed Husky head coach, who is in New Haven, Conn., arranging for completion of his staff. Odell recently resigned as Yale head coach to accept the Washington position.

Earlier, Cassill announced that Odell had telephoned from New Haven that he had signed Reginald Root, line coach and chief assistant to Odell at Yale for three years, and Morris (Red) Badgro, end coach at the University of Washington under Ralph (Pest) Welch.

PCL Baseball Owners Consent to Stock Ruling

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27—(UP)—The Pacific Coast league today voted that no club owner may dispose of the controlling stock in his team without the unanimous consent of the other seven club owners.

The action, taken during the second day of the annual mid-winter convention, followed approval of Oscar Salenger's purchase of the Sacramento Solons by a 6-2 vote, only a majority vote being needed prior to today's action.

Salenger's purchase was objected to on the grounds that Sacramento should remain home-owned. Salenger is a former owner of the Milwaukee Brewers of the American association.

At this morning's session the PCL adopted a plan calling for an arbitrated price on all players drafted by the majors. The plan also established the first draft year at the end of six years instead of the present four.

The plan, presented by Charley Graham of San Francisco, called for a three-man board to set a price on each player a major league wished to draft—one representative each from the PCL team owning the player, the major league team drafting him and Commissioner A. B. Chandler's office.

Cagers Drill For Coming WSC Date

Coach John Warren sent his Webfoot cagers through a 45-minute scrimmage with the Frosh team yesterday, in preparation for the coming Washington State series at Pullman, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Stan Williamson was given a day's rest from the practice, following his two good, yet tiring, exhibitions against Washington last weekend. The rest of the varsity men were worked on different five-man combinations by Warren, in an effort to find a scoring quintet.

Scoring Ragged

In the first 10-minute session, the team of Reedy Berg, Roger Wiley, Al Popick, Dick Wilkins, and Jim Bartelt edged the yearlings 21-17. This Webfoot squad at times showed signs of a scoring punch, but it couldn't consistently find the range.

The second quintet composed of Bob Lavey, Kenny Seeborg, Wiley, Wilkins, and Bob Amacher came up with the highest point effort as they defeated the Ducklings 35-18. Wilkins was exceptionally hot, as his two-hand set shots were plopping in perfectly from the 30-foot range.

Frosh Ties Varsity

Seeborg and Lavey gave a good exhibition of heads-up, fast-break basketball, as they several times caught the Frosh defense short. In the third scrimmage, Carl Heldt's first year men held the team of Seeborg, Lavey, Amacher, Lynn Hamilton, Paul Cooper, Bob Don, and Jim Bocchi to a 15-15 tie.

Lavey again caught fire, driving in to click with one hand pushers. The next game found the varsity team of Seeborg, Lavey, Unis, Amacher, Wilkins, and Cooper on the long end of a 22-19 count. Amacher was deadly under the basket, as he snagged rebounds
