

Flu Epidemic Shows Decline; Peak Reached

Latest developments in the virus X epidemic that swept the campus last week show definite signs of a lull, Dr. F. N. Miller said yesterday.

With only six cases of influenza now hospitalized in the infirmary, Dr. Miller, director of the health service, continued, there is reason to believe that the epidemic may be dying out entirely.

Immunizing shots had been administered to 142 students by late Monday. Infirmary spokesmen report that a few more students "are still straggling in for shots."

Delayed Action

Preventative treatment, however, is not responsible for the abatement of the disease, Dr. Miller emphasized. The serum does not take effect for two weeks after administration, and shots were not given until last Wednesday.

Peak of the epidemic was reached last Thursday, health service officials believed, with 24 cases hospitalized in the infirmary filling the building to capacity.

Only half of the twelve patients currently in the health center are flu victims, Dr. Miller said. The twelve are:

Louise Meade, Naida Fishback, Sarah Timmens, Eva Johnson, Frank E. Blackly, Marv Rasmussen, Kenneth Osen, Mortimer Bonime, Lucius Forbes, Louis Peelz, and James Curley.

Girl Scouts Offer Y Leaders Program

Girl Scout troop heads have offered the YWCA a newly organized leaders program for the purpose of directing and understanding the problems faced by troop leaders in scouting.

Under the newly sponsored program, the Y has placed two girls in Condon grade school as leaders' assistants.

Other University women interested in this program are asked to attend the meeting at 4 p.m. Thursday in the YWCA where advanced instructors will lead discussions in troop leadership.

Festival Heads Named by YW

International festival Co-chairmen Dedo Misley and Laura Olson announced Tuesday the committee heads for this year's festival to be held February 27 and 28. An annual event sponsored by the YWCA, the international festival honors foreign students from all over the Northwest.

Committee chairmen are Billiejean Riethmiller and Jessie Becker, invitations; Diana Dye, publicity; Marilyn Tuurner, promotion; Nancy Peterson and Joan O'Neil, discussions; Bep McCurry, luncheon; Janet Beigal, housing; Amy Lou Ware, hospitality; Barbara Kirsch, decorations; Mildred Chetty and Marcia Summers, Friday night discussions; Marjorie Petersen, registration; Rhoda Williams and Helen Gatewood, cleanup.

Chairmen for the Gerlinger tea will be Genevieve Siskey, refreshments; Marguerite Johns and Amelia Diamant, program; Anita Ha-

French Professor Translates Article

Laurence LeSage, assistant professor of Romance languages, recently translated an article by the French author, Albert Camus, in the winter issue of the Swanee Review.

The article was a character analysis of Chautort, 18th century French moralist writer. Chautort is best remembered for his cryptic epigrams, especially a well-known definition of love, LeSage said.
