NORMAN, OKLA., Jan. 30—(UP)—Charles "Bud" Wilkin-son, University of Oklahoma football coach, has withdrawn his name from consideration as U. S. Naval Academy coach and will remain at O. U. next year, Dr. George L. Cross, University president, announced tonight.

Along with George Sauer, Kansas university mentor, Wilkin-son has figured prominently this week in the Navy's search for a coach to inaugurate its new policy of non-military foot- ball direction.

PARIS, Jan. 29—Premier Robert Schuman faced the threat of a new crisis in his currency stabilization program tonight when the national assembly's finance committee re- jected a government plan to withdraw from circulation an estimated $1,399,300,000 (B) worth of 5,000 franc notes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—(UP)—President Truman, disa- greeing with the stand taken by a high agriculture department official, said today th eadministration has not yet come to the conclusion that rationing and price control of meat are nec- essary immediately.

Mr. Truman made the statement at his news conference afetr reporters told him assistant secretary of agriculture Charles F. Brannan had warned a senate banking subcommittee that "the time is now" for controls on meat, eggs, poultry and dairy pro- ducts.

PESCADERO, Cal., Jan. 29—A raging drought-started brush mountains here today and threatened Butano forest in San Mateo county, the last stand of virgin Redwood forest on the Pacific coast not already set aside as a park.

ST. MORITZ, Jan. 29—(UP)—Avery Brundage, presi- dent of the U. S. Olympic committee, said flatly tonight that the amateur hockey association team will not compete in the winter Olympics opening tomorrow, but there was no indication whether his announcement reflected an official agreement with the Swiss organizing committee.

Brundage, the central figure in the dispute over whether the AHA team or the USOCS's team should be permitted to compete in the games, did not immediately reveal on what official action, if any, he based his announcement.

LONDON, Jan. 29—A foreign office spokesman indicated today that a Soviet protest against the reopening by the United States of its wartime base outside Tripoli, Libya, would be rejected.

The Russian protests, contained in two similar notes to the United States and Britain Jan. 20 and made public today by the Soviet news agency Tass, said that the "unlawful" reactivation of Mellaha Field by the United States violates the Italian peace treaty and "constitutes an act . . . against countries of the new democracy" (The Balkan satellite countries).

President Elected By Boise Alumni

Lloyd Tuppling, '39, was elected president of Oregon alumni living in or around Boise, Idaho, Monday evening. Tuppling was a member of Sigma Delta Chi and associate editor of the Emerald while at Ore- gon. His secretary for the year is Betty Blaine Parrish, '38.

The election, held in the Boise hotel, was attended by Les Ander- son, alumni secretary, Coach Jim Aiken, and Dean Paul Jacobson of the education school.

Movies of the Oregon-Oregon State football game were shown.

Nominations Due For King of Hearts

Candidates for King of Hearts must be entered by each men's living organization before Satur- day noon. Names of the candi- dates should be given to Sally Moore at the Kappa Kappa Gam- ma house or Marie Lombard at the Delta Delta Delta house.

Men nominated for the title of King of Hearts will meet Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at alumni hall in Ger- linger for eliminations. Campus clothes are in order for the judg- ing.

20 Years Ago

A pack of confident Husky cubs humbled the bewildered Webfoot ducklings in basketball, 32-24.

The International Relations club of the University of Oregon was reorganized at a meeting of the club directorate.

The University of Oregon team easily defeated the Willamette five 46-33.

The executive council of the ASUO voted unanimously to ac- cept the report of the publica- tions committee and suspend the United Press service of the Ore- gon Emerald.

The little basketball team from Waseda university, Tokyo, fought back gallantly but was unable to stem the avalanche of points rolled up by the Webfoots, 70-20.
