

DUCK TRACKS

By KIRK BRAUN

(Note: Kirk Braun, general handyman of the Emerald, spent last weekend at Corvallis, covering the sporting events on an assignment. He herewith gives his personal account of activities in the rival fort.—Ed.)

There was quite an array of athletic entertainment at Aggieville over the weekend, and while there (on a photographic assignment) we took in a total of three basketball games and the Oregon - Oregon State swimming meet. Two of the hoop games, of course, included the two clashes between the Beavers and Huskies in which the Beavers showed their teeth and roared to the top of the heap in Northern Division play.

ROGER WILEY

After their Friday night display of incredible speed and uncanny accuracy, no one except the most ardent Aggie rooter expected a repeat performance on the following night—but repeat is exactly what they did. This improved Beaver aggregation, highly superior to the team that the Ducks nosed out in the first encounter between the two fives, ran faster than any Slat's Gill team we have ever seen—including last year's championship squad. Evidently, Mr. Gill has seen the light and decided that the fast-breaking race-horse type of basketball play was the only answer to his lack of height this season.

State Floor in Bad Shape

Beaver fans showed a little disgust at times when officials failed to call traveling on a Husky who slipped on the dusty floor attempting to stop suddenly. As usual, the Oregon State court was in terrible condition. Not only does it show no evidence of having been painted since last year, but there seems to have been no attempt to remove the heavy layer of dirt and dust that has accumulated. The floor was not even dusted between halves.

Among the spectators for the series were Webfoot coaches "Honest" John and Don Kirsch and some of the members of the Oregon team who went up to look over the Oregon State squad before leaving on the Inland Empire trip.

Roger Wiley expressed visible delight whenever an Aggie player was detected fouling Jack Nichols, the high scoring Husky center. And he had plenty of chance to cheer, for the big point-getting Husky was fouled repeatedly by the two and three Beavers who were swarming over him constantly in an effort to keep him in check.

Duck Swimmers Win Again

While the score was not as decisive as in their previous match at Eugene, the Oregon swimmers had little trouble in defeating their cross-valley rivals Saturday afternoon, to the tune of 52-23. The only first place that the Beaver mermen could garner was in diving, with Ray Staub, the defending Northern division champion, winning over the Webfoots' Willie McCullough. One of the diving judges, however, was obviously relying on the other two when awarding points. Several times he was crossed up when holding up scorecards because he apparently thought his colleagues were pulling up different cards.

Rooks Finally Get Beaten

In the other athletic contest of the weekend at Cornvalley, Milwaukie high school's Maroons (plug for the old home town) handed the Rooks their first defeat of the season, 33-30. Ted Loder, eagleeye Milwaukie forward, looked terrific racking up 21 points. Loder, who is a senior this year, is going to look mighty good to some college freshman coach next winter.

Provided the Milwaukie squad can get by its District 13 rivals, local fans will have a chance to see young Loder in action when the State high school tourney gets under way at McArthur court March 6th through the 19th, providing that final exams which come in the same week don't interfere.

TODAY'S HANDBALL

Legal Eagles vs Omega hall
By JOHN BARTON

Tuesday's basketball at the P. E. plant saw six games completed with thrills and spills for all. Results were: Nestor hall 23, Cherney hall 19; Beta Theta Pi 30, Minturn hall 11; Sigma Phi Epsilon 29, Lambda Chi Alpha 12; Sigma Alpha Mu 20, Delta Tau Delta 8; Fiji 18, Campbell club 6; and Sigma Nu 12, Phi Delta Theta 8.

Using a tight defense and a hard-driving offense, the team from Nestor hall downed the squad from Cherney 23-19 in the only "A" game. Cherney was troubled throughout the game with a lack of height, and this proved to be the winning edge for the Nestor quint, who led at half time 13-3.

Beta Theta Pi rolled over an inexperienced team from Minturn hall in the second game 30-11.

The Betas played hard and fast, driving all the way. High for the Betas was Chuck Kitchel with ten points.

Sloppy ball handling featured the SPE-Lambda Chi game, as the Sigma Phis came out ahead.

Sigma Alpha Mu swept the handball games yesterday from the Beta Theta Pi squad. The Sammies won three straight in the singles and doubles matches.

29-12. The ball was stolen and restolen as play grew more lax in the final minutes. Dick Northam of SPE topped scorers with 11 markers.

A fast, accurate band of cage masters from Sigma Alpha Mu over a quint from Delta Tau Delta 20-8. Most of the Delt scoring was done from the foul line. High for the Sammies was Harold Light with five points.

Phi Gamma Delta defeated

Campbell club in the next game 18-6. Half time score stood at 6-4 in favor of the Clubmen, but the Fijis roared back to cinch the win. Ray Heidenrich dumped in nine for the winners.

Sigma Nu downed a fighting Phi Delt team 12-8. The score at half time was tied at six-all, but the Sigma Nus put themselves ahead in the third quarter. High man was Phi Delt Dick Garret with seven points.

Stag Lines

SPORTS: Brad Eklund is jumpy these days. Ask him about the sun-lamp experience. Seems Brad doesn't trust the lamp and when it pinged a couple of times he was ready to take off through the wall. While he was perplexed, fellow athletic friends could hardly keep from laughing. Honestly Brad, the machine won't explode.

FASHIONS: Well, men, here it is. We might as well expect a lot of razzing from the gals because the men's wear retail trade is countering the women's "New Look" styles with their own "Bold Look."

That's right, the "Bold Look." You are going to hear a lot about it in the future. So you might as well get used to it. Most of the merchandise will not be released until April, but the latest issue of Apparel Arts, a retail trade magazine, has the complete scoop.

Here is the inside dope on what to expect in clothing:

Shirts are revamped. They will feature what is known in the trade as the "Command Collar." It is a widespread collar with just a bit of a roll and its seam is a line of bold stitching set a half-inch in from the edge of the collar.

The same bold treatment is given to the center pleat down the front. The buttons are bigger and easy to finger. The French cuffs are longer and wider and use bigger links.

Neckties feature bold stripes, a full 3 inches wide, bold polka dots, and bold figures.

Shoes are also in the bold pattern. They are heavy and rugged, reflecting, as the manufacturers put it, "the American ruggedness."

The general announcement to the public will appear in April's issue of Esquire. Keep your eyes open for it. Something new for the men at last (although we wonder how the college man is supposed to finance it.)

What with the bold look coming up, we might say that if you need any jewelry accessories, we suggest CARL GREVES, Jeweler, in Portland.

RADIO: Tonight Perry Como salutes the disc jockeys in Detroit and will play their current top tunes.

SPORT: Seems Pat Wohlers enjoys the whirlpool in the training room. Some of the boys say that he doesn't use it just because he has a sore leg. Is that true, Pat?

Two things every college man should know!

1. This is a woman. Synonymous with legs, tears, and gold. But necessary. Fragile. An independent dependent. Knows what she wants and how to get it. Always turns arguments around to whether you love her or not.

2. This is a "Manhattan" Lasher Shirt. Very necessary too. Has slick long collar points so popular now. Distinctive "Manhattan" tailoring. Residual shrinkage less than 1%. Study this and other fine "Manhattans" here today!
