Dean Morris Comments:

The decision does not in any way change the assignment of the University of Oregon. The University is still the possessor of the school of business administration and will continue to train business leaders for all areas of Oregon business.

In addition, by this decision all graduate work in business is definitely assigned to the University.

Of course I regret the decision very much. The board made clear, however, that the work assigned to the college is to be definitely related to certain technical minors in the various professional schools on the state college campus. It is not to duplicate the basic professional work of the University of Oregon school of business administration.

2.1: Children Per Grad Family

College graduates, say statistics, have an average of 2.1 children. To verify this and gain additional information, the alumni office is taking a poll to determine the average number of children of 1923 and 1938 Oregon graduates. The alumni office is particularly interested in gathering more information on the "point one" child.

They want answers to such questions as these.

"Have you ever been married?" (There must be a straight yes or no answer on this. No ifs or explanations.)

"When did you graduate?"

"Number of children born?"

If married more than once, alums must record the total number of children. Adding machines are not provided with the poll, the alumni office revealed.

The results, according to the alumni office, will be tabulated by the latter part of next week. Bets on results should be placed now.

Tourney Entries Chosen

NEW YORK — (UP — Western Kentucky, St. Louis university and Texas, three of the nation's college basketball titans, were selected for the 11th annual National Invitation tournament which will be held at Madison Square Garden, March 11 to 17.

Asa S. Bushnell, chairman of the Metropolitan Basketball association which sponsors the tourney, announced the selections and said that the remaining five teams will be chosen within the next week.

June Deadline Set For Alcohol Essay

June 30 is the deadline for entries in the $500 prize editorial contest of the Intercollegiate Association for Study of the Alcohol Problem.

Entries submitted at once may qualify for extra awards in addition to the $200 grand prize and 12 other annual prizes, according to Edwin H. Maynard, contest secretary. A $10 award is made each month for the editorial selected for publication in the International Student magazine.

The prizes are offered for short editorials, limited to 800 words, on the subject, "Applying Preventive Medicine to Alcoholism." Any undergraduate college student may enter.

The subject of the 1947-48 contest, second in a series, reflects a growing interest in the development of medical, psychiatric and educational means to prevent alcoholism. The sponsoring agency has been doing educational work in its field since the first of the century and prominent educators are members of its council.

A bibliography on preventive medicine for alcoholism has been prepared by the intercollegiate association. It and other contest helps may be obtained by post card request to Edwin H. Maynard, contest secretary, 909 Webster avenue, Chicago 14, Ill.

Farmers in the cash-grain area of Illinois are producing a bushel of corn with six minutes of man labor, whereas 30 years ago it required 32 minutes.

WORLD HEADLINES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—Several ranking members of the senate foreign relations committee left a closed meeting with Secretary of State George C. Marshall today convinced that any large scale American military commitment in China would be a "tragic error."

That view was not shared, however by one influential senate Republican who said he will propose writing arms-for-China into the new bill for the Greece-Turkey "Quarantine Communism" program.

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer told the committee that he regarded military and civilian aid to China as "urgent," and that no "European recovery program should be formed without regard for China. Wedemeyer, under questioning, said he believed the United States had fallen short on fulfilling her promises to China.

With the weather forecast indicating that no rain is expected in northern California for the next 24 hours, livestock growers tonight began moving thousands of cattle from drought-parched ranges to the Pacific Northwest.

C. A. Melcher, superintendent of the Kern County Land company, estimated that 10,000 head of cattle were being moved from the San Joaquin valley. The animals were estimated to have lost about 200 pounds apiece in weight. Sheepmen with 500,000 lambs and an estimated 800,000 grown sheep in jeopardy likewise are seeking out-of-state ranges.

The state public utilities commission reported only moderate success in a drive to conserve electric energy by "brown out" regulations. Further surveys will be made, officials said, to seek a solution. Farmers in the San Joaquin valley indicated they will fight moves to reduce use of power for pumping irrigation water, because they feared crops would be seriously damaged by such procedure.
