

Four Oregon Speakers Take Linfield Honors

Four Oregon students captured honors at Linfield college's eighteenth annual Northwest invitational forensic tournament, under direction of Roy D. Mahaffey, professor of speech at Linfield.

Dorothy Orr, sophomore in business administration, won first place in the lower division women's oratory and second place in women's after dinner speaking. Betty Misner, senior in liberal arts, took first honors in upper division women's oratory. Warren Miller and Ralph Teters, comprising the men's varsity debate team, placed second with six wins and two defeats.

USC won first place in the tournament with eight straight wins. Washington and Utah tied for second with five victories and two losses each.

University Students Given Vote On College Congress Resolutions

Thirty-six per cent of the Oregon student body voted on the Pacific Northwest college congress resolutions in 1946. The resolutions, accepted by a 182 vote majority, were: 1) Any nation which is party to a dispute can bring the dispute before the international court and the court's decision be final and binding. 2) Remove the veto power of members of the big five in any dispute to which a member is involved directly. 3) After the period of military occupation is over occupied nations come under the jurisdiction of the United Nations.

4) Atomic bomb secret kept until reliable world organization set up to handle it. 5) Every nation give necessary funds and power to UNESCO. 6) Approve United States loan to Britain and advocate further reciprocal trade treaties.

UN on Social

7) Bring all social and economic organizations which deal with international phases of control under the United Nations, including a world university. 8) All nations not self-governing, states affected by the war, be placed under the trusteeship council. 9) United States department of education take definite steps to educate the people in international affairs and principles of UN.

In 1947 each resolution adopted by the second congress was voted upon individually. Ted Hallock and Catherine Crombie were the Oregon delegates.

In the preamble to the resolutions of 1947 the FNCC urged that "the United States delegation support the study of, and promote, a plan for the evolutionary development of a world government... capable of providing the following fundamentals to all peoples: Higher standards of living and economic security; basic political rights and civil liberties to all individuals; cultural autonomy to all peoples; eventual abolishment of national military forces; freedom of travel, communication, and the interchange of ideas."

Submitted to the students were 26 resolutions to "further this evolutionary development."

with SAE Wayne "Lubo" Stroyaker. FeeGee Sam "Late Date" McKinney went with Eva Moore.

AOPI pledge Jean Hamilton was up to see Phi Pi Jim Bocchi and take in the Phi Psi fireside. Also at the fireside were several Mill Race combos, Gammafies Jan Bradbury with Dick Eckley and B. J. Hansen with Pete Hoar. Mac Eply escorted Delta Zeta Marilyn McLoughlin.

ChiOJackie Dilly went all out preparing her costume for the zany Beaux Arts Ball. She was seen in the back alley mopping up her shirt in the mud to give it the "down to earth touch." Guess she went as a beach comber. Zeta hall's Barbara Heywood was with Anders Lorene. Cyrus Nims and his wife, Crystal, won first prize for their costumes. They went as "Space." Bob Nelson was a cave man, complete with skins, ivory tusks, a bone, and date Bernice Johnson. John Benneth of Campbell club dressed as Fieldmarshall Heintz von Lugerholster, a Nazi officer, featuring a swastika and medals. His fraulein was Doris Jean Miller.

Question, though. Who was the lady with the sack over her head who kept asking everyone "who the hell are you?"

ChiO Dedo "Misled" Misley became quite a buddy of Ernie Haycox at the International Festival luncheon. They talked about psych.

Just ask DG Joan Heron about cowboy songs and wait for a reaction.

Pi Phis Joan Carr and Phyl Stewart are back from the slopes looking like a couple of tomatoes.

Two recent pinnings on the Mill Race are: Gamma Fie Janet Easterday to Sigma Nu Dave Moores and Pat Starling to Beta Hal White.

Phyllis McMahon took Dick Howard to the Hendricks hall house dance. Recent combos of note are: Sigma Chi Swede Johnson with Pi Phi Ann Seabrook, Theta Casey Jones with Delt Norm Morrison, and Theta Joan Edwards with Phi Kappa Sigma Keith Murphy. Still going strong is the combo of Alfa Fie Maggie Wells and Phi Kappa Sigma Cliff Mallicoat.

Alfa Chi Bobby Twiford seen about with Sigma Chi Jim Hickman, and Gaffafie Joan Preble, retired house prexy, a steady with Phi Delt Bob Ellis.

Pinning over the weekend of Delta Zeta Nancy Humble to Delt Bob Harper, and a sparkler for Alfa Gam Thelma Bailey from Phi Kappa Sigma Ed Coles.

If you see Mariann Thielen limping around the campus, it's because she and a horse had a rough time of it. She got the worst end of the deal.

With apologies to Shelley:
If it's coffee and coke,
A laugh and a joke,
Go to the Side,
At least for a smoke.

Women Announce Planning Retreat

April 11 has been set as the date of the YWCA retreat. President Bjorg Hansen announced that all old and new officers will attend and discuss spring terms program and policies. Work of winter term will be evaluated.

Marcia Summers, conference chairman, is in charge of selecting the place of the retreat. She has said it will probably be at one of the Oregon beaches.

YW to Send Four To California Meet

Four representatives of the campus YWCA have registered to attend the Western Regional conference at Asilomar, California, March 18 to 22.

Laura Olson, Amy Lou Ware, Nancy Peterson, and Lois Greenwood, executive director, will attend. Miss Greenwood has requested that any other women students who would like to go contact the YWCA office.

CALIFORNIA DRY

LOS ANGELES, March 1. (UP) —Southern California, caught in its worst drought in 70 years, today entered its 61st successive week of below-normal rainfall.

Brief rains over the weekend brought only a small fraction of an inch of rainfall and gave parched farmlands no relief.
