

Oregon Cagers Hit by 'Sick' Bug; Rook Quintet Trounces Little Ducks

Wiley, Lavey In Infirmary

With the Oregon State basketball game only one day away, Oregon's chances for a victory took a sudden turn for the worse with attacks of dysentery bedding two members of the team, and being mildly experienced by other cagers.

Roger Wiley and Bob Lavey were confined to infirmary beds yesterday, and their playing status is questionable. Most serious consequence of the mild epidemic sweeping the Duck basketballers is not that it will keep the men out of the game but rather that the sickness tends to sap the strength and endurance of the players.

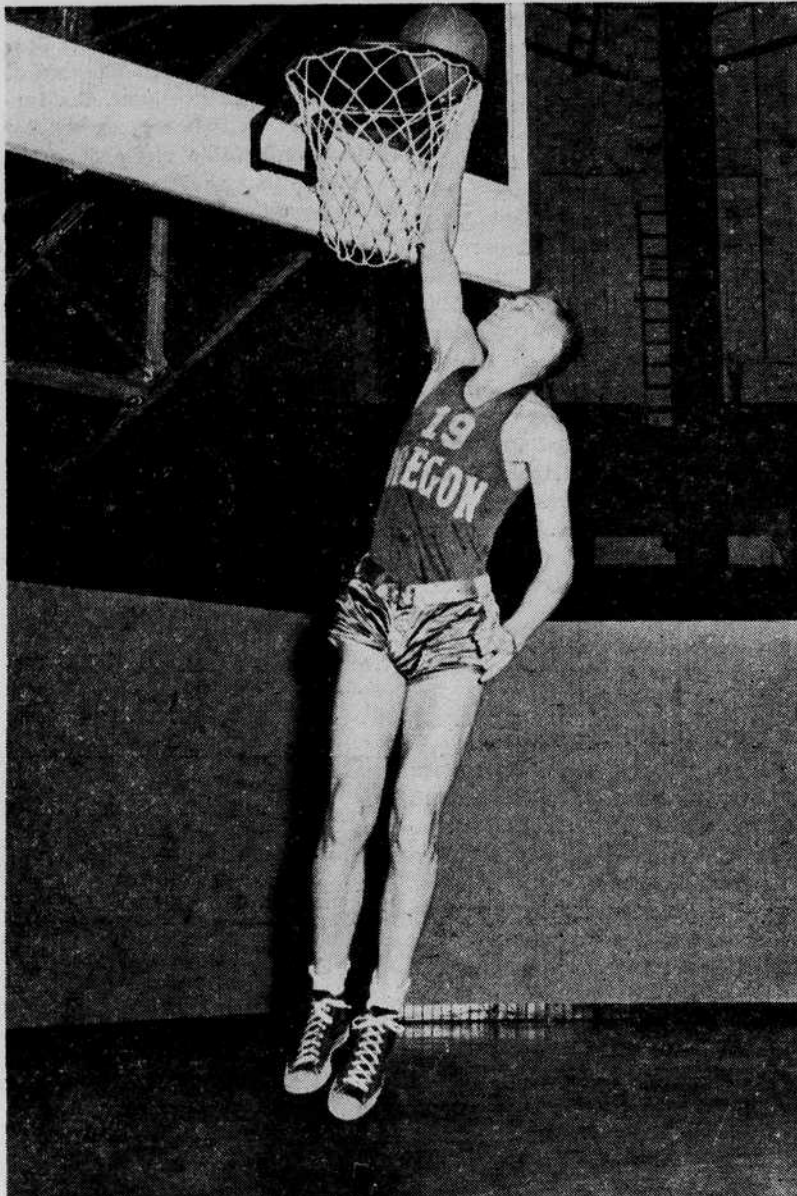

Dr. F. N. Miller at the infirmary told team physician, Dr. G. F. Guldager, that the disease "is sort of a bug which is going around the campus." Dr. Miller emphasized that dysentery was by no means prevalent at the University, but that its occurrence recently indicated that the basketball team was not alone in feeling the effects.

With Lavey and Wiley absent from yesterday's session, Warren held only a light workout for his stricken charges, using a starting team of Stan Williamson, Reedy Berg, Bob Amacher, Bob Don, and Dick Wilkins. Today, tapering-off drills will be in store for the Webfoots in their final practice before the crucial Aggie game.

Rapidly Improving

Turning in peak performances in the two Washington State contests this week, 6-foot, 8-inch Bob Amacher is slated for plenty of heavy duty for the Webfoots when they meet Oregon State tomorrow night. He may have to replace Roger Wiley, who is ill.

OSC Yearlings Romp Over Heldtmen, 52-32

Oregon's Freshman basketball squad ran up against a "won't be beat, can't be beat" crew of aroused Oregon State Rooks yesterday afternoon at Cornvalley, and came out on the short end of a 52-32 score.

This win for Paul Valenti's Baby Beavers evened the four-game Frosh-Rook series at two apiece, and marked loss number five into the records for the Heldtmen. With two more games remaining this weekend, the Ducklings have now won 15 and lost these five.

Led by smoothie Dick Hendrie, who hove in a big 17 markers, the Rooks piled up an 11 point margin at halftime, and went on in the second half to overwhelm the Oregons. Uncanny accuracy at the free throw line was a big factor in the Orange victory, for the Rooks connected for 20 gifters out of 24 attempts. The Frosh canned 10 free ones on 17 tries.

Rook Bill Harper added 16 points to the rout, and George Crandall hit 13, seven on free throws. The Lemon and Green couldn't seem to find the basket with any consistency. Will Urban and Bob Taggesell shared high-point honors for the Frosh, with six counters apiece.

Summary:

Fullerton, 1.....F.....	Crandall, 13
Mase, 0.....F.....	Johnson, 1

Oregon Coed Swimmers Have Chance to Retain Telo Crown

With Mary Ann Hansen leading the way, Oregon's co-ed swimmers have hopes of holding the far-western telegraphic swim meet crown which they captured last year.

The co-eds participated in the intercollegiate meet at Gerlinger pool Wednesday night, and results will be released from UCLA for the western division March 15. National statistics will be announced March 25 from Penn State. Last year Oregon placed third nationally.

Women from major colleges across the nation participate in the event annually, and the results of local swimmers are sent by wire.

Between-races entertainment was provided by Lottie Burger, who gave an exhibition of fancy diving; and a demonstration of synchronized swimming was given by Betty Moffitt and Lorraine Harris.
