

The Weather
Decrease in cloudiness today. Colder tonight. Cloudiness increasing Sunday, low temperature today, 38 degrees, high temperature, 50 degrees.

Dorm Fees
O. J. Lindstrom, business manager, answers students' questions concerning the recent raise in dormitory fees. See page 7.

VOLUME XLIX

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE

SATURDAY, MARCH 6, 1948

NUMBER 101

State Board To Inspect UO Needs

Members to Tour Campus, Buildings For First Hand View

The state board of higher education will meet on the University campus Monday and Tuesday, to study the University building needs and program, it was announced yesterday by Lyle Nelson, director of information.

The board members and their wives will have luncheon Monday at the vet's dorm cafeteria. In the evening Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, director of dormitories, has planned dinner for board members and their wives in John Straub hall dining room.

Board members will be taken through the various classrooms, living quarters, and administrative buildings to point out the needs of the University.

Regular meeting for the month of March will be held Tuesday morning. Those who will be present are Mr. and Mrs. Edgar W. Smith, president of the board; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Kleinsorge, Mr. and Mrs. Leif S. Finseth, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Meschan, Mr. and Mrs. George Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cabler, Mrs. E. B. MacNaughton, and Mr. A. S. Grant.

Spring Sign-up Figures Climb

Total pre-registration figures reached 1,980 yesterday at 5 p.m., according to James D. Kline, assistant registrar. Figures showed that 849 students, including 622 men and 227 women completed registration procedure yesterday. This was the second day that liberal arts class cards were being stamped.

Students may get their advisers' signatures and have their class cards stamped until noon today. Housing check, registrar's check, and payment of fees will continue all next week in Emerald hall. Pre-registration fees cannot be paid after 12 noon on March 13.

Portland Symphony, Gleemen To Present Final Winter Concert

McArthur court will be transformed into a concert hall next Wednesday evening by the combined artistry of the Portland Symphony orchestra and the Eugene Gleemen. The last educational activities concert of the term will start at 8:15 p.m.

Werner Janssen will conduct the orchestra in its first appearance on the campus. The group was reorganized last fall by Janssen.

The orchestra will open the concert with Mozart's overture to the "Marriage of Figaro." Janssen has been termed "one of the greatest Mozart conductors of our time" by critics. The second selection will be "Symphony No. 5 in E Minor" by Dvorak.

Observes Details

Janssen has been noted for his technical efficiency, to the extent of being called a stickler for details. His careful musicianship and feeling for style and finish is translated to the audience in terms of fine symphony playing.

Third selection is the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Beethoven's "The Mount of Olives." "Crucifixus from the Mass in B Minor" by Bach will follow.

The Eugene Gleemen will sing Handel's "Hallelujah, Amen."

The waltz from "The Serenade of Strings," by Tchaikowsky, and Ravel's "Bolero" will conclude the evening of music.

Janssen has conducted orchestras throughout the country and gained the reputation as one of the nation's most talented younger conductors.

Lusk Ork Set For 'Jump Ball'

After the game tonight, Johnny Lusk's orchestra will repeat last night's performance in Gerlinger annex from 9 to 12. The all-college band will play for interdorm students and their guests, stags or couples, at the Jump Ball. Campus clothes will be in order.

Sponsored by the interdorm council, the dance will cost 25 cents per student. Council representatives in the houses are selling tickets today. They can also be bought at the door.

Don Latham, president of the council; Eve Overback, representative from Hendricks hall; and Barbara Richter, representative from Susan Campbell hall, have made final arrangements for the ball.

Patrons and patronesses include Professor and Mrs. Laurence LeSage and Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, director of dormitories.

Red Cross Drive Winner to Get Cup

By 7 Friday night $1,080 had been donated by University students to the Red Cross drive, Collections Chairman Marguerite Johns announced.

She said that a few houses had not turned in their collections.

Houses contributing the largest amount per member will be awarded cups by the contest co-chairman Margaret Rauch. Because house competition was not stressed in the drive, winners will not be announced.

Eastern Trip Awaiting Dean

Dean Eldon L. Johnson of the college of liberal arts and the graduate school, will leave Wednesday for Washington, D. C. There he will see officials of the atomic energy commission about the atomic energy fellowship program. An undetermined number of these fellowships will be awarded the University of Oregon for the training of qualified persons in the medical and biological aspects of atomic energy.

Johnson will also attend the national convention of the American society of public instruction while in Washington. He is president of the Oregon chapter.

Chicago, Illinois, and Minneapolis, Minnesota, are on the deans business itinerary.

Mothers to Fete Club

Yeomen will be feted by the Yeoman Mothers' club at a dinner Monday. Yeomen attending are asked to meet at Gerlinger hall at 5:15 p.m., Bob Henderson, president, said. A regular meeting will be held after the dinner.

Council Recommends All-Student Committee To Control Discipline

A proposal that student discipline problems rest in the hands of an all-student disciplinary committee will be forwarded to the faculty senate by the executive council of the ASUO, the council voted Thursday night.

The all-student committee would replace the present faculty-student committee, and would contain seven students chosen by the council upon petition. Committee members would be required to maintain a 2.75 cumulative GPA, and would be allowed to petition only upon the recommendation of advisers.

Ultimate control of student discipline would continue to be a faculty responsibility under the proposal, since the faculty senate could dissolve the committee, and since an avenue of appeal to the faculty is left open.

Vote of the executive council was unanimous. Members saw the proposed committee as a "step toward real student government," and as a "laboratory experiment in citizenship responsibility."

The proposal will be referred to the faculty group for "comment and consideration," at this time, and not for final approval or disapproval.

Text of the executive council's recommendation appears on page 2. Additional details of executive council proceedings appear on page 6.

Dushane Leaves Oregon Campus

Donald DuShane will leave today for Lawrence college. The new director of student personnel services for the University has been on the campus one week.

During his brief stay, he made a study of the duties of his new office and conferred with various faculty leaders and student groups.

He will return to the campus around June 1.

Political Group Registers 409

A total of 409 residents of Lane county have registered as voters at the Co-op, Art Wahlers, chairman of the Young Republicans' registration committee, announced yesterday. Two hundred twelve of this number were registered Friday.

Republicans numbered 265, Democrats, 121, and 23 registered unaffiliated. The men registering led the women with 313 men listed and only 96 women. One hundred nine of the men registering were Republicans; 103 Democrats, and 19, unaffiliated. Of the women listed, 74 were Republicans; 18, Democrats, and 4, unaffiliated.

"We want to thank the Young Democrats for their help on our registration drive," Wahlers said.

No decision has been made by the University Young Republicans club as to whether the booth will re-open spring term.

Oregana to Shoot Lettermen Monday

Pictures of the Order of "O" for the Oregana will be taken Monday, March 8, according to Ross Yates, editor of the yearbook. Members of the organization are asked to meet on the steps of Fenton hall at 12:45 and each man is asked to wear his letterman's sweater.

Two UO Dorms To Close Doors

Two University dormitories, Gerlinger and Villard halls, will be closed at the end of this term, Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, director of dormitories, announced yesterday.

At present the two halls house 38 students, with 24 women in Gerlinger and 14 men in Villard. Students living in the two halls will be moved into the regular dormitories, which will have vacancies at the end of this term.

By moving these students into the other dorms, all halls will be filled for spring quarter, Mrs. Turnipseed said.

Gerlinger and Villard were first used as emergency student housing in winter term 1945 and have since been used to house the post-war influx of students.

Mrs. Alda Stilwell, housemother at Gerlinger, will become housemother at Susan Campbell hall spring term, according to Mrs. Turnipseed.

Oregana Goes To Press Soon

By March 15, the 1948 Oregana will have gone to press Ross Yates, editor, announced Friday. Publication date has been set as "sometime during Junior Weekend," Yates said.

He added that completed sections of the yearbook have already been received and "results are highly satisfying." Other sections are being printed by Irwin-Hodson printers in Portland. Monday, Shelton-Turnbull-Fuller printing company of Eugene will begin work on the 8-section book.

Olga Yvetich, business manager of the yearbook, said yesterday that the recent response to the student body in ordering Oreganas "was gratifying." Because there were sufficient orders, she said it was necessary to revise the budget to a total of 4100 books, the same number that was sold last year.

PNCC Encounters Bitter Arguments

By WARREN MILLER

WHITMAN COLLEGE, Walla Walla, Wash. (Special to the Emerald)—The third annual Pacific Northwest College congress went into the final general assembly sessions yesterday after a series of bitter committee sessions and a complete absence of social life. The general assembly will vote on the resolutions brought forth by the committees.

The committee sessions were marred by close irreconcilable conservative-liberal split on major issues. A vote of six to five was recorded in favor of the Little Assembly of the United Nations which would exclude Russia from UN membership.

Warren Miller, delegate from the University, led the minority attack against the majority resolution concerning the Little Assembly. Dr. Paul S. Dull, University assistant professor of history and political science, moderated the Little Assembly committee.

The committee discussing the Marshall plan ended in a dead-lock with five votes cast for the plan, five against, and four abstentions.

Delegates see the possibility that the final plenary session of the congress may reverse the committee recommendations.

Bob Allen, University delegate, has been serving on the "Freedom of the Press" committee and reports "much talk, little action."

Professor Olav Paus-Grunt, chief of the educational liaison department of public information of UN, spoke to the Wednesday night session of the congress in favor of the United Nations and of UNESCO.

The Thursday night session heard Charles L. Wheeler, executive vice-president of Pope and Talbot, Inc., and vice-chairman of committee on international relations for the NAM. He spoke in favor of the Marshall plan and of the present American capitalistic system.

Donovan M. Richardson, chief editorial writer of the Christian Science Monitor, spoke to the assembly last night on "The Responsibility of the Press in World Affairs."

Other committees have also been meeting this week to discuss UNESCO and the enforcement of UN decisions. The resolutions which will be brought back to the campus for student vote and discussion will be limited to between five and ten points this year.