

Special Board Of Accrediting Visits Campus

A six-man accrediting committee will complete its evaluation of the University of Oregon school of journalism today.

The committee is composed of Earl English, professor of journalism at the University of Missouri; Ralph O. Nafziger, professor of journalism at the University of Minnesota; R. J. Jones, general advertising manager for the Portland Oregonian; J. Ernest Knight, executive editor of the Tacoma News Tribune; Lester A. Halpin, director of news broadcasts for KOIN, Portland; and Charles A. Sprague, editor and publisher of the Oregon Statesman, Salem.

Sit in Class

As part of their two day tour of the school committee members spent Friday sitting in on classes, interviewing staff members, and questioning journalism seniors as to their opinions of the school. They will continue the same type of investigation today.

English is executive secretary of the accreditation committee of the American council on education for journalism. Nafziger is a member of the committee.

The committee has a report of courses, faculty, and student activity at the University school of journalism. In addition to inspecting the school and meeting the students, the committee is also checking on the progress of alumni working in the field.

Were Guests

The six men were guests of the University administration Friday at a luncheon at the Eugene hotel. In the evening they were guests of the journalism staff at a dinner at the Eugene hotel.

Finding of the committee will not be known immediately, according to George Turnbull, dean of the journalism school.

Friendly House Organized

With the consent of the Unitarian church board of Eugene, the building on the southwest corner of Eleventh and High streets has been made available for student and community use. To be known as "Friendly House," it will be open every day of the week, and will be directed by Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bryant, who have been associated with student activities on the Oregon campus for over fifteen years.

The directors said that the program will be non-denominational and will depend in greatest part on the people who use the house. They have invited all to participate in making it a center for friendly association, recreation, and citizenship training.

The house will offer facilities for studying, social gathering, and forum discussion. An open house will be held on Tuesday evening, April 6 from 8 o'clock to 11:30 p.m.

Sunday, April 4, there will be a fellowship hour, with music, short worship period, brief talk, and discussion. This will be followed by a potluck dinner at which all are invited.

Dr. Johnson Elected

Dr. Eldon L. Johnson, dean of the school of liberal arts, was recently elected to the executive council of the American Society for Public Administration at a meeting in Washington, D. C.

Earlier this year he became president of the Oregon chapter of this society.

Justice Brand To Speak Here

Associate Justice James T. Brand of the Oregon Supreme Court will speak at a general assembly of the University of Oregon school of law student body at 2 p.m., Tuesday afternoon, April 6, concerning his experiences as a judge at the war crimes trials held at Nuremberg, Germany.

The assembly will be held in room 3 of Fenton hall.

Justice Brand will explore the subject of crimes against the peace and crimes against humanity, with particular emphasis on the foundations of international law which made possible the trials for these crimes.

Circuit Judge

For many years Justice Brand was circuit judge for the second judicial district of Oregon, which includes Lane county. He lectured on jurisprudence at the University of Oregon school of law during the 1937 summer session, was a member of the Board of Governors of the Oregon State Bar from 1935 to 1938, was president of the Oregon State Bar association during 1934-'35. He received his L.L.B. from the Harvard law school in 1914.

Justice Brand's appearance on the University of Oregon campus for the lecture Tuesday is sponsored by Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity. The group is honoring him at a luncheon at the Anchorage preceding the address to the law school student body.

Killman Concert To Climax Study

The senior recital of pianist Sylvia Killman will be presented Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the University school of music auditorium. Miss Killman's concert will climax four years of study at the University, during which she accompanied the choral union, several faculty recitals, and presented several recitals throughout the state. Last year she appeared in a Portland art museum concert, and she has been requested to return for another appearance this month.

Following her graduation this term, Miss Killman plans to continue graduate work in music, and then to enter the field of accompaniment and teaching.

Parade Petitions Called

Mo Thomas, chairman of the Junior Weekend float parade, yesterday issued a call for petitions from students interested in helping make arrangements for the annual Weekend event. He asked that all petitions be submitted to him at the Emerald offices by 5 p.m. Monday.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Group Elects UBC Professor

Succeeding F. M. Combella as president of the Classical Association of the Pacific States is Professor O. J. Todd, who was elected at the annual meeting held here Saturday. The retiring president is assistant professor of classics at Oregon. Professor Todd is from the University of British Columbia at Vancouver.

Besides election of officers, the meeting included presentation of papers by professors from the University of California, University of Washington, Montana State College, UCLA, and the University of Oregon.

Quirinus Breen, associate professor of history, presented "The Isocratean Ideal of an Educated Man."

Other officers elected at the one-day session were Walter P. Clark, Montana State college, vice-president; William M. Green, University of California, secretary for the Pacific coast; and Miss Margaret Smutz, secretary for the north section.

Beaverton Beagle Joins DU House

Dina has pledged DU. She is quite small with reddish-brownish-black hair and white feet.

She lives in the house, but is forced to eat scraps and sit on the floor. Dina came to the University from Beaverton with Warren Lovell, Delta Upsilon junior in medicine.

A fraternity brother described Dina as "looks very beaglish"—probably because she is a six-month-old beagle, succeeding Fritz as mascot of the house.

She seems to be more lively than Fritz, according to members of the house. In fact, it is rumored that she sits in on more classes than her new guardians attend.

Robinson, who is touring the Northwest under the auspices of the Portland PCA, will sing folk songs and ballads and accompany himself.

Constance Reports Registration Down

Registration for spring term, as of Tuesday night, totaled 5,050 students, two per cent below registration for the corresponding date in spring term, 1947, Associate Registrar Clifford reported yesterday. One-hundred and twenty-four students registered yesterday.

Final registration for this term should approach that of the 1947 term, when 5,268 were enrolled, Constance said. The total will be known after registration ends April 10.
