

CO-OP MANAGER RESIGNS

Bep McCourry, Bev Pitman, Laura Olson Election Winners

Women's Groups Pick Officers for 1947-48

By Donna Kletzing

Heading the AWS, YWCA, and WAA respectively for the 1948-49 year will be Beverly Pitman, Laura Olson, and Betty Jean (Bep) McCourry, it was announced after yesterday's elections.

Other new officers of AWS are Prudy McCrosky, vice president; Marie Lombard, secretary; Mildred Chetty, treasurer; Martha Piper, reporter; Ann Case, sergeant-at-arms.

New officers of YWCA are: Senior cabinet president, Laura Olsen; Nancy Peterson, vice president; Janet Biegel, second vice president; Ann Woodworth, secretary; Jordis Benke, treasurer. The proposed revisions of the YWCA constitution and by-laws were approved.

Sophomore commission chairman for the YWCA is Barbara Stevenson; vice chairman, Jackie Barbee; secretary, Beverly Buckley. Junior commission chairman is Joan O'Neill and vice chairman, Dorothy Orr.

WAA Officers

The WAA officers are Betty Jean McCourry, president; Pat Mounts, vice president; Shirley Baker, secretary; Mary Stadelman, treasurer; Bonnie Gienger, sergeant-at-arms; Billjean Reithmiller, custodian.

A joint installation of officers of the three organizations will be held April 27 so that all retiring officers will hold office until after the AWS weekend April 23-25. The installation will be held during a dinner for all University women, AWS president Barbara Johns stated. Details for the banquet will be announced later.

The election showed a much better turnout than usual, and the balloting for AWS president was one of the closest in the history of the AWS, stated Miss Johns.

The new system of incorporating the three women's organizations into one election and installation was instigated by the AWS council composed of the AWS cabinet with Barbara Johns, president; Helen Hicks, vice president; Beverly Pitman, secretary; Prudy McCrosky, treasurer; Marie Lombard, reporter, and Mildred Chetty, sergeant-at-arms; Bjorg Hansen, president of the YWCA; Barbara Borevik, president of WAA; Nancy Bedingfield, president of Heads of Houses; Barbara Williams, president of Panhellenic; Helen Hicks, president of Mortar Board; Laura Olson, president of Phi Theta Upsilon; and Billjean Reithmiller, (Please turn to page three)

UO Campus May Receive Post Office

A classified post office will be established on the University campus if and when approval is given by the first assistant postmaster general in Washington, D. C. Ethan L. Newman, acting Eugene postmaster, reported Tuesday that negotiations between the University and local post office were completed more than a month ago.

Newman said the request has been in Washington for almost a month. The post office department will notify the University and Eugene post office when it decides whether sufficient funds can be granted.

Directly across from the journalism building on University street has been selected as a tentative site for the office, which will be a classified substation. If approved, it will serve the general public and University students.

The Eugene postmaster said carriers will report to the campus office if it is established. It will handle parcel post, money orders, stamps, and take care of all the regular postal duties.

"The University has been very cooperative in regard to negotiations for the postoffice," according to Postmaster Newman.

Women Hold Co-ed Fun Night

Co-ed Fun Nite, co-sponsored by the WAA and AWS, will be held from 8 to 11 p. m. Friday in the girls outdoor gymnasium.

With the emphasis on sports, the evening's activities include volleyball, shuffle board, ping pong, badminton, swimming, dancing, and square dancing.

There will be a refreshment concession throughout the program, and men are welcome to attend.

Marion D. Ross To Speak Here

Second lecture in the "Currents of Creative Thought" series will be given by Marion D. Ross, A.I.A., this evening in the browsing room of the University library from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The subject of Ross's lecture will be "Architecture Today."

This discussion will consider contemporary architecture with special emphasis upon domestic examples and the qualities of "space" and "grid." Ross is an assistant professor of architecture at the University.

Further lectures in the Wednesday evening series will include discussions of painting, sculpture, architecture, city planning, and the arts in home and education. They will be illustrated with pictures, slides, recordings, displays, and readings.

The new extension division lecture series is open to the general public but will not carry University credit. Miss Bernice Rise, circulation librarian, will be in charge of reference materials and browsing room displays. Registration fee for the course is $7.

Thomas Advocates Disarmament

By DON SMITH

Universal disarmament leading to international economic cooperation is part of the price of a lasting peace, Norman Thomas told an audience of more than 1000 students and townspeople last night in MacArthur court.

"The people of the world are sick for lack of hope and an idea for peace," the Socialist told the audience. "They don't want war, but are fatalistically inclined to accept the inevitability of war."

One powerful voice is needed to wake the people out of their nightmare. He called for the United States, as the strongest nation in the world today, to appeal for universal disarmament.

International Inspection Necessary

"The madness of competitive armaments cannot go on," Thomas declared. "We cannot get economic rehabilitation unless we place conflict on a different plane than that of mass destruction."

International inspection and control will be necessary, it was his belief, if disarmament is to be effective. The Baruch plan for atomic control is satisfactory in most respects, it was his opinion.

Advocates UMT Abolition

Abolition of universal military conscription on an international basis is also advocated by Thomas.

"Since the time of Napoleon," he recalled, "peace time conscription has never prevented war or guaranteed victory. It has hastened the coming of the totalitarian state, and World War I."

Forces for international use should be secured on a quota basis, Thomas believed. The mobile units

To Finish 32nd Year Of Service

G. L. Henson To Replace M. F. McClain

M. F. McClain, University Co-op manager since 1916, will retire from the managership, effective May 1, after his resignation was accepted at the Co-op board meeting Tuesday afternoon.

G. L. Henson, who has been assistant manager since June, will replace McClain as manager and McClain will be retained to work part-time in the Co-op until September 1, 1950.

First Manager

McClain has been the only manager of the Co-op since its inception in 1916, and Henson, who is a graduate of Oregon, has been employed at the store for about one year, according to the board. Henson also worked part-time at the Co-op while attending the University.

Other action taken by the board Tuesday was the acceptance of the resignation of Ray Johnson, Co-op board president, and the appointment of Gloria Grenfell as new president. Johnson's reason for resigning was ill health.

Miss Grenfell has been a member of the board for two years and with her appointment as president, Ann Woodworth will become vice-president.

Meeting Set

The board also set the date for the annual Co-op members meeting Chapman hall. At the meeting, revisions of the Co-op rules and by-laws will be presented to the members for approval.

Co-op board members this year are Gloria Grenfell, Ann Woodworth, Don Dole and Wes Nicholson, student members; and O. K. Burrell, professor of business administration, and Paul W. Ellis, associate professor of economics, as faculty members.

BULLETIN

MILWAUKEE, April 6—(UP) Harold E. Stassen led Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey by a wide margin tonight in early returns from the Wisconsin presidential preference primary.

In scattered returns, 20 Stassen-pledged delegates were ahead in the battle for the state's 27 delegates to the Republican national convention.

MacArthur had three delegates in these early returns and Dewey was blanked. However, four races in Milwaukee county had not yet been reported and returns still were too few to show a definite trend.

There were 13 Stassen-pledged delegates leading in the 10 congressional district contests. Stassen also was leading in the voting for the seven delegates-at-large, with his high man about 5,000 votes ahead of MacArthur's top man.

In the voting for delegates at large, returns from 4647 of the state's 3,138 precincts, showed that each of Stassen's pledged convention candidates had more votes than any of the MacArthur or Dewey candidates.
