

Ad Honoraries To Co-Sponsor Conference

Gamma Alpha Chi, national women's advertising honorary and Alpha Delta Sigma national men's advertising honorary will be co-hosts to the University advertising conference to be held this Friday and Saturday.

Speakers scheduled for this conference include J. B. Twiford, Portland "Oregonian"; Frank Coffin, station KGW; Merle W. Manly, secretary-treasurer of Botsford, Constantine, and Gardner advertising agency; and Art Markewitz, vice-president of Bushong's.

The conference will begin Friday afternoon and last until Saturday noon. Held in room 105, Journalism, the two-hour discussions will begin at 1 p.m. Friday, and 9 a.m. Saturday morning. The four speakers will discuss each phase of four fields of work—newspaper, radio, technical, and agency.

Alpha Delta Sigma will sponsor a banquet Friday evening in honor of the speakers. All interested students, including underclassmen, are invited to both the discussions and banquet.

Gamma Alpha Chi will serve coffee at 3 p.m. Friday afternoon.

Music School to Pay Tribute To Benefactor in Performance

Faculty and student talent will be heard Thursday night at a Douglass memorial concert, in honor of the late University librarian and his wife. Matthew Hale Douglass left $10,000 to the library for scores, records, and books on music.

Starting at 8:00 in the music school auditorium, the program includes a vocal number by the University singers, two compositions played by an instrumental ensemble, and an organ sonata.

The faculty string quartet will the nucleus of the instrumental group.

Student soloist is James Kays, tenor. Herman Gelhausen, bass-baritone, and Donald W. Allton, organist, are faculty soloists.

Student instrumentalists participating are Janet Shafer and Ellen Liebe, violins; Eric Cooper and Margaret Perkins, violas; Jeanne Carlson and Loren Bush, oboes; John C. Wellborn and Barbara Wick, horns; Jeanette Grant, oboe and English horn; Keith Cockburn, cello; Dorothea Schaer, double-bass; Albert Marshall, flute; Jean Hudspeth, bassoon; and Virginia Roffe, organ.

Performers on the faculty are Mary Kapp Allton, George Boughton, Edmund Cykler, Milton Dieterich, Arnold Elston, and John Stehn.

The music collection purchased with the money Douglass left, is housed in the library's Douglass room, used for recreational and instructional purposes.

French Girl Arrives

(Continued from page one) the ice." Strangers spoke to each other on the plane, and walking through the campus "everyone says hello." The French people, she said, have a little more reserve, but no less enthusiasm.

Living Standards Differ

The standard of living in the United States is much higher than in France. The French, she explained, have a hard living and the range of salaries of the different groups of people vary greatly. Prices are out of proportion with each other to their significance and "the average employee in Paris cannot purchase a great deal with a month's salary." As an example, Miss Beylier cited a coat priced at about 10,000 francs and a handbag selling for 4,000 francs. "Most employees" she stated, "are earning about 15,000 francs ($50) a month, so few people can buy very much."

If an American could take a walk in Paris, Miss Beylier said she felt he would find some of the central districts very beautiful and elaborate. She said the window displays seem to show more personality and are very artistic and creative.

Dancing Popular

For entertainment in Paris, she said dancing was very popular, and "especially the Tango and waltzes." The dances are small and usually are just a small circle of friends meeting at a home. There are many movies, the American movies supplemented with French translations being numerous and popular, she added.

The Parisienne will definitely miss one tradition the French schools have—that of the students presenting a parody on their professors. She explained, laughingly, that there were no inhibitions and all of the professors attended the pageant. Each quirk of characteristic is exaggerated by the students who play the parts of the professors. An afterstatement—"they are all good sports and expect anything."

On dating Miss Beylier said she has a boyfriend in Paris, but that boyfriends are not an institution there. Also, she added, the American girls spend much more time primping before leaving the house.

a trip to California. She plans to work most of the time and will live with Dr. and Mrs. Paul B. Mears. As yet, Christiane has seen little of the United States, as her travels were hurried and with almost no stops. Leaving Paris April 2, she boarded the S. S. America, and immediately on arriving in New York, she boarded a plane for Portland. Three minutes later, she was flying to Eugene.

Mrs. Means, a local Chi Omega alum who lived with Christiane's family in Paris while studying there, was instrumental in arranging her trip. Also helping her passage were the Zonta club, the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs, the Eugene Business and Professional Women's club, the Eugene Spinners club, and some private individuals. The Chi Omega alumnae will furnish her school supplies.

Miss Elizabeth DeCou of Eugene also stayed with Miss Beylier's family while in Paris recently on a YWCA trip.
