

Lunch Planned For UO Seniors At Eugene Hotel

The junior-senior luncheon, honoring graduating senior girls, will be held May 1, at 12:15 p.m. at the Eugene hotel.

All juniors are urged to take the seniors in their living organizations to this traditional luncheon.

There will be a guest speaker, and Bjork Hansen, past president of the "Y," and Laura Olson, new president, will also speak. Musical entertainment is included in the program.

Tickets are on sale in each living organization for 90 cents. House representatives should phone Marge Wickenden at the Alpha Omicron house by noon Saturday and report the number of girls planning to attend.

Committee chairmen are: general chairman, Renee Cowell; entertainment, Jean Lichty; programs, Jessie Becker; tickets, Marge Wickenden; and publicity, Joy Miller.

Skiers School Set Tomorrow

Instruction in belays, rapling and techniques of rope climbing will be part of the Obsidian Mountaineering school tomorrow at Coburg Caves. Students interested in the field trip are requested to register for transportation at Hender-shotts or the YMCA.

Cars will leave from the city hall and the YMCA at 9 a.m., and will go to the caves via Mt. Baldy. The Eugene Obsidian club, sponsor of the school, has suggested that climbers bring their lunches.

Obsidians have scheduled similar trips for May 1, 9, and 16.

Sometime in May, they plan to show an instructional movie, "Good Days on the Trail" on the campus. It was made by the University of Colorado.

Kreuger to Speak For Lutherans

The Rev. Kreuger of Salem will speak on the topic, "Through a Christian Congregation," Sunday evening at a supper meeting of the Lutheran student association in the YWCA. It will last from 5:30 to 8 p.m.

Janet Kelsey will be in charge of music and Esther Olson will lead devotions.

The association has announced that the meeting is open to any interested students.

Tomorrow morning 9:15, the Lutheran student Bible group will discuss the book of Romans. Breakfast will be served.

Beggar's Opera Presents Story Of 18th Century Human People

By ANNE GOODMAN

Heading the cast of "Beggar's Opera", to have a three night run on the campus May 12, 13, and 14, are Mary Margaret Dundore as Polly and Wayne Sherwood as MacHeath.

The story revolves around the adventures of disreputable but "human" people of the eighteenth century. As the beggar, played by Robert Fulton, explains at the beginning of the tale, "This is the most natural opera in the world."

Other Characters

Other leading characters in the cast are Virginia Walker as Lucy, Jim Kays as Filch, Claire Lewis as Mrs. Peachum, Jim McMullen as Peachum, and Bill Putman as Lockit.

Directed by Herman Gelhausen, the opera, written by John Gay in 1728, will be presented in Chinese theater fashion on the stage of the music school auditorium. No curtains will be pulled between acts.

In charge of stage equipment is Denton D. Rossell.

Small Orchestra

Musical accompaniment will be provided by a small orchestra, called for in the original script. To cover the cost of production, an admission fee will be charged.

The opera was last presented on the campus in the early 30's, at which time Dr. R. D. Horn, professor of English, performed in it.

Although it is one of the oldest English operas, and "probably the most important," according to Gelhausen, recent performances over the nation show that it is not dying in popularity. The University of California and Stanford by coincidence produced it within a week of each other two years ago. The St. Louis Civic Opera company presented it last year.

Students Select Festival Rulers

Three Marys, a Nancy and a Donna were chosen Wednesday by University students to rule over this year's "Story Book Land" Junior Weekend.

Mary Joy Ham, junior in business, is from Silverton, B.C., and was Chi Omega's representative in the Queen selection. Mary Handelin, junior in foreign languages, hails from Coos Bay and represents Alpha Phi. The third Mary, Mary Lou Hill, Kappa Kappa Gamma, is a junior in English from San Jose, California.

Donna Stageburg, Alpha Gamma Delta, is a Eugene girl, and is majoring in business. Representing Gamma Phi Beta is Nancy Swem, junior in liberal arts from Medford.

The queen will not be announced until her coronation, which will officially open Junior Weekend festivities on Friday, May 7, at the All-Campus Sing.

Plymouth Election Slated for Sunday

Election of new officers will take place Sunday evening at Plymouth house. Warren Miller, senior in political science, is the retiring president of the group.

The spring retreat of the club has been changed to May 21, 22, and 23.

All students are welcome at the snack supper at 5 p.m. Supper will be followed by the election and a discussion. Plymouth house is located next to the First Congregational church on 13 ave. East.

with the audience on all four sides.

Lighting Difficult

Howard L. Ramey is in charge of lighting, said to be the most difficult ever attempted by the University Theater. Charles Ingram, instructor in speech and drama, is assisting Mr. Robinson.

Under the guidance of Gilbert Williams, technical director, the stage design class has constructed the sets and properties.

Box Office Open Today

The box office will remain open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Johnson hall today. It will reopen at 6:30 p.m. in McArthur court where the doors will open at 7:30. Reserved seats are $2.40, $1.80; general admission, $1.20; students $.60.

Security Cards Needed to Work

Students who do not have social security cards and who plan to work this summer in industrial or commercial positions should get them before starting work, said Carl D. Monroe, manager of the Eugene office of the social security administration.

This is in order that wages may be properly reported, identified, and credited to their social security accounts.

4—Must—Society to honor

Suzanne Bertillon, speaker sponsored by the French government, will be honored at a tea given Monday by Zeta chapter of Pi Delta Phi, national French honor society.

A talk by Miss Bertillon will highlight the afternoon. The tea will be held at 4:30 p.m. in the alumni room of Gerlinger hall.

Winter Isn't Over

Not yet anyway. So you'll want to keep a supply of fuel on hand for those cold days ahead.

MANERUD HUNTINGTON FUEL CO.

Norman Weekly, who will appear as Oberon, king of the fairies, instigates much of the moral difficulty in tonight's production of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The presentation will begin at 8:30 p.m. in McArthur court.

Honorary Requests Freshman Petitions

Kwama, sophomore women's honorary, will accept petitions from freshmen women with a 2 point accumulative GPA until May 3.

Petitions should include name, accumulative GPA, last term's GPA, specific campus activities, eligibility slip from Dean Wickham and a personal photograph.

Petitions should be turned in to Yolanda Stoll at the Alpha Xi Delta house or Billjean Riethmiller at the Alpha Chi Omega house.

KOAC Features School Children

Children from one- and two-room grade schools throughout Oregon will participate in the final broadcast of "Let's Sing, America!", a weekly feature of station KOAC's School of the Air Series, to be held in McArthur court April 29.

Directed by Miss Maude Garnett, the program will have numbers by the Eugene high school band, the Eugene a cappella choir, and Chester Pietka, accordionist and former University student.

Costumed folk dances of Mexico and Holland will be performed by Eugene grade school children. To illustrate each song on the program, paintings will be drawn by Miss Hazel Fishwood, supervisor of art of Eugene public schools. They will be displayed in McArthur court.

Over 2000 children are expected to attend, topping last year's 1700.

Students from the school of music who perform on the broadcast are public school juniors Earl Anderson, David Van Zandt, Mary M. Dundore, Eleanor Culver, Elizabeth Nelson, Dorothea Schaer, Althadel Johns, Nadine Hutchison, and James Kays, announcer.

Concert to Feature Chinese Records

Authentic Chinese music collected by Wallace Baldinger, associate professor of art, will be played at tomorrow's browsing room concert in the library at 4 p.m.

The concert is sponsored by alumnae of Mu Phi Epsilon.
