

Music Contest In Second Day; 2500 Entered

The first state music contest to include all types of high school music activity will continue today, with instrumental groups, choruses, and majorettes being judged at the school of music and McArthur court.

Yesterday 2500 students arrived for the two-day contest. Out-of-state musicians acting as judges watched 220 soloists perform.

Have Top Ratings

Superior and excellent ratings in district contests made the young musicians eligible to attend. They are staying in campus living organizations and Eugene hotels.

James Arment, junior in music, is general chairman of the competition. Other music students working on the contest are Dorothea Schaefer, office manager; Carl Gutmann, judges secretaries; Allen Kirk, announcers; and Rodney Wagner, tickets and admission.

Last Contest in '38

The last state-wide contest in 1938, was held on the Oregon State College campus, and was open only to bands and instrumental soloists.

This year 61 high schools are represented. The event is sponsored by the Oregon Music Educators conference. Howard Miller, vice-president, is chairman.

Judges are John O'Connor, Tacoma; Eleanor Tipton, Vancouver; Ben Hollgrinson, Cheney; Kenneth Schilling, Walla Walla; Bert Christiansen, Ellenville, Washington; George Barr, Sacramento; and William Ward, San Francisco.

Junior Symphony To Play at Theater

Between performances of "Claudia and David" the junior symphony orchestra of Eugene will play two short concerts at the McDonald theater on May 5.

The 57 young musicians will perform once at 7:30 and again at 9:45, under the direction of Byron Miller, who is in charge of the band and orchestra at Eugene high school.

"Claudia and David" will begin at 6 p.m. Tickets will be available on Friday before the concert at the theater's box office.

Proceeds will go to the Junior Symphony association.

YW-AWS Petitions Due by Monday

Petitions for chairmen of the combined YWCA duckling counselor and AWS student life program may be turned in to Barbara Stevenson at the Kappa Alpha Theta house until Monday at 4 p.m.

Chairmanships include file committee, form letter committee, training program committee, registration committee, and Eugene summer committee.

Annual BA Conference Scheduled

Speakers for the seventh annual student business conference to be held May 4, 5, and 6, were announced Friday by Dean Victor P. Morris of the school of business administration.

The conference will open at 2 p.m. Wednesday with a choice of three fields; accounting, real estate and foreign trade. Floyd K. Bowers, Salem CPA and former assistant state auditor, will speak on public accounting in 105 Commerce.

N. Thomas Stoddard, vice-president of Commonwealth co. of Portland, will be in charge of the session on real estate to be held in 106 Commerce. H. H. Wrightson, general agent for Coast Wise-Pacific-Far-East lines of Portland, and Charles P. Haney of F. P. Dow and co. of Portland, will share the section on foreign trade and shipping.

From 3:15 to 3:30 p.m. Phi Chi Theta, women's business administration fraternity will serve coffee in the YMCA lounge.

Traffic, Advertising, Too

At 3:30 p.m. Frank S. Clay of the Portland Traffic association will speak on traffic and transportation in the YMCA lounge. Advertising will be the topic for Harry Burton, Pacific Northwest manager of McCann-Erickson advertising agency of Portland in the YMCA recreation room also at 3:30 p.m.

These men, representing suc-

Phi Thetas Pick 'Twistie' Heads

Anne Goodman and Ann Morton, both freshmen in journalism, were named co-chairmen of the Phi Theta Twistie sale yesterday.

Others selected by members of the junior women's honorary to assist with arrangements are:

Eleanor Johns, finance; Connie Jackson, publicity; Glenna Hurst, promotion; Ruth Landry, posters; Donna Mary Brennan and Janet Wagenblast, house sales.

Jackie Hinds and Barbara Ness, booth sales; Emily West and Jean Armstrong, cleanup; Barbara Hamilton and Carolanne Wall, distribution.

Committee members will meet with Phi Theta at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house.

Kwama Petitions Due on Monday

Kwama petitions are due Monday to Billjean Riethmiller at the Alpha Chi Omega house, or Yolanda Stoll at the Alpha Xi Delta house.

Petitioners should be third-term freshmen and should have a 2.25 cumulative GPA. The petitions should list all activities and should be accompanied by a picture. The sophomore women's service honorary will tap at the Mortar Board ball May 21.

Mary Lou Hill

After that the Hills bought a trailer and went to "all the interesting places in the country. Dad picked them out, but we started and ended up in California."

Miss Hill mentioned an older sister and a brother, Jim, who is a freshman at Stanford.

"Kind of nerve-wracking" was Mary Lou's description of the contest finals. "Standing before the judges made you feel that you were being sentenced for prison or something. The hardest part of the contest was trying to smile."

Queen Dudley Walton I

to any great extent, although he said he "did a fair to middlin' rendition of 'Dangerous Dan McGrew'."

Combining coordination with beauty, the queen said he enjoyed all spectator sports—with the exception of bridge, of course, which he plays but never kibitzes.

Queen Dudley's court includes Princesses Neil "Loophole" Brown, who was a favorite way back in the fifth grade, and sylph-like Jack Wagstaff, former brigadier general in the salvation army.

Flower girls will be Bill "Slightly Bald" Cramer and Edward L. "The nisi prius Nymph" Nininger.

Queen Dudley will be gowned in a flowing robe of royal blue tulle designed by Tristram Door. The gown is daringly cut and is trimmed with Brussels lace. She will carry a corsage of skunk-cabbage.

Princesses Brown and Wagstaff will be attired gaily in finger-tip length negligees, and the flower girls will show uneven sets of teeth from under pink and blue sunbonnets.

Dud I is looking forward to his reign, especially the baseball game with the BA school. "Victory is a foregone conclusion," he said. But he quickly modified his statement by adding, "if those clerks and bookkeepers get their noses out of their profit and loss statements long enough to show."

Athletic Minded? WAA Needs You

Petitions for managers of women's intramural sports and public chairmen of the women's athletic association are due Monday at 5 p.m., WAA President Bep McCourry announced Thursday.

The petitions may be turned in to the women's physical education office in Gerlinger hall or may be given to Miss McCourry at the Delta Gamma house before the deadline.

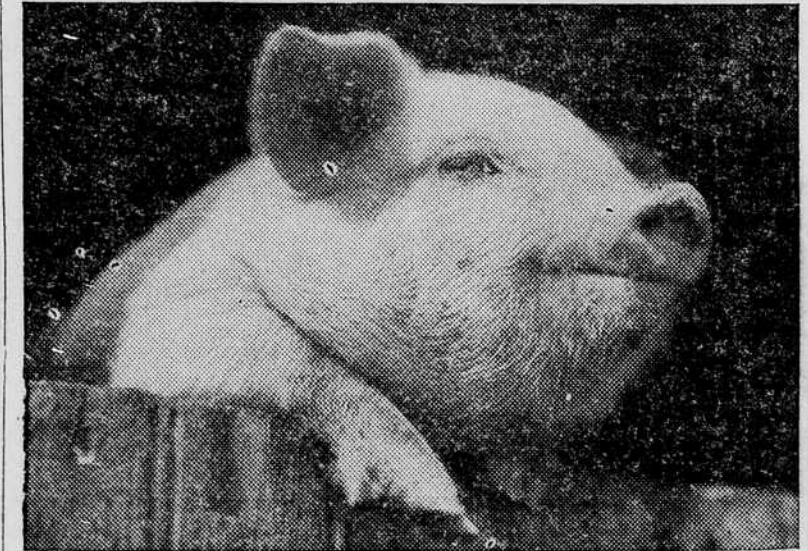

Sports managers and the publicity chairman will become members of the WAA executive cabinet. Manager positions are open for golf, tennis, softball, basketball, volleyball, badminton, and swimming.
