

Oregana Crew Plans Banquet

More than 60 guests have accepted invitations to the annual Oregana banquet which will be held tonight at 6:30 in the Persian room of the Eugene hotel.

Six of the 1948 Oreganas will be exhibited at the banquet, according to Larry Davidson, chairman. He said the Oregana plaque and 27 certificates will be awarded at the banquet.

Ross Yates, editor of the 1948 yearbook; Trudi Chernis, editor for next year; Olga Yevtich, business manager both years; and Dick Williams, educational activities manager, will give short speeches.

Several musical numbers are also included on the program, Laura Olson, program chairman, said Tuesday. Mike Mitchell, sophomore in journalism, will be master of ceremonies.

Movies Flaunt Lucrative Titles

"The World Is Rich" and "China's Forty Million" will be shown tonight in 207 Chapman, first showing beginning at 7 p.m.

An account of the war before 1939, "China's Forty Million" shows the resistance of the Chinese people to the Japanese invasion, and their attempts to form a democracy.

One of the pictures in the documentary feature class, "The World Is Rich" discusses the world food program, and points out the reasons for the world's lack of food in many areas. It places the blame on backward agricultural methods, waste, and maldistribution.

Music, Speech Honorary Initiates

Phi Beta, music and speech honorary, held its spring term initiation last week. Those initiated were Maryen Roberts and Betty Perry, music; and Emilierose Jackull and Mary Easter Brock, speech.

Louise Cloustan and Grace Hoffman were also to have been initiated but were unable to attend as they were touring in the cast of "The Dover Road."

The initiation was held at Geringer hall. Refreshments were served following the ceremony. Joan Abbett, president of the fraternity, officiated in the ceremony.

Radio to Carry Happenings

Coronation ceremony, the all-campus sing, Will Osborne's music, and princess interviews will reach Eugene listeners over local radio stations, John Larner, chairman of radio promotion for Junior Weekend, announced Tuesday.

Today at 11 a.m. KUGN announcers will interview Mary Handelin and Donna Stageburg, princesses for the Weekend. Miss Mary Lou Hill, also a princess, will be interviewed sometime this afternoon.

Both KUGN and KOAC will carry on-the-spot broadcasts of the coronation ceremony Friday at 8 p.m. Governor John Hall will announce the Junior Weekend queen.

Larner said this ceremony may be broadcast in Portland and on KOAC. However, it is not definite, he stressed.

A rebroadcast of the all-campus sing is scheduled for Saturday at 7 p.m. over KORE. From 9 to 9:30 the same evening, KOAC and KUGN will feature Will Osborne and his orchestra direct from the Junior Prom in McArthur court.
