

Mundt-Nixon Bill Acclaimed

WASHINGTON, May 18—(UP)—The Mundt-Nixon communist control bill got a strong vote of confidence in the house today but passage was delayed until tomorrow by prolonged oratory.

A move to kill it by sending it back to the house unAmerican activities committee was shouted down. The loud chorus of "noes" indicated the act will be passed by a wide margin.

Opponents are counting on the senate to kill the measure, but President Truman has indicated he is ready to veto it.

Rep. William J. Miller, R., Conn., offered the motion to send the bill back to committee. He pointed out that it figured prominently in last night's debate, broadcast from Oregon, between Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota.

"Even two such great leaders as these could not agree on the effect of the bill," Miller said.

Stassen said the bill would outlaw the Communist party; Dewey said it wouldn't.

Rep. Richard M. Nixon, R., Cal., co-author of the act, said the real winner of the debate was the bill itself.

"Both contestants were for it," he commented.

Asked whether it outlaws the Communist party, Nixon replied: "It outlaws subversive activities of Communists, Communism and/or the Communist party." He said it would not have the effect of destroying Henry A. Wallace's third party. But Rep. Vito Marcantonio, A.P., N.Y., argued that the Wallace party would be a ripe target for prosecution under the standards set by the bill. He pointed out that the Wallace movement has repeatedly been charged with Communist domination.

The bill requires registration of both "Communist political organizations" and "Communist front organizations" with the justice department. It sets up a number of standards for judging which organizations are Communist, the key test being foreign (Russian) control.

Grid Team

Shining lights of the practice were swivel-hipped Johnny McKay and lanky Dick Wilkins. McKay put on one of his better exhibitions of getting through small holes and squirming through the secondary for extra yards. And Wilkins pulled in all kinds of passes with great ease, and then either ran like a back or lateraled to someone else.

No Practice Friday

Aiken plans on having regular practices today and Thursday and no practice on Friday. He is sure that both the "Greens" and the "Whites" will be ready to go by then. The intersquad game will start at 2:00 Saturday afternoon.

Merrick 10, Westminster 1

Merrick hall ended their season with only a single loss in a three way tie for the championship of league three as they smashed out a 10-1 win over Westminster house. The winning team poled out ten hits and drew six walks while giving up three hits and four passes. Each team made a single error. Outstanding for the winning team was third baseman Bob Gibson. First baseman Bob Charnes did a lot to keep the losers constantly threatening.

Phi Psi 8, Fijis 0

Phi Psi's 8-0 whitewash of the Fijis put them in the same class as Chis Psi and Merrick hall as leaders of tough league 3. The ill-fated Fijis got six scattered hits and three walks from Dick Ward while the winners were collecting fourteen hits and three walks. The ties between Delta Upsilon

Orchestra Due At Mac Court

Possibly "the world's greatest orchestra" will be here on May 24 when the Philadelphia orchestra, directed by Eugene Ormandy, plays at McArthur court. The concert is part of a series sponsored by the Eugene Civic Music association.

Sergei Rachmaninoff, guest-conductor, composer and pianist for over thirty years, called it "the finest orchestra I have ever heard at any time or in any place."

At its full strength, the orchestra has 110 players. About 24 of them have been with the group for 25 years.

It began in 1900 with six concerts and large deficits the first season. However, generosity and interest of Philadelphia patrons increased from year to year because of the high standards of performance.

First director of the group was Fritz Scheel, followed by Carl Pohlig, and finally Leopold Stokowski, who made the Philadelphia group a model orchestra.

Eugene Ormandy, present conductor and music director of the orchestra, was appointed co-conductor in 1936. He had previously served on several occasions as guest conductor.

"The Philadelphia orchestra travels more miles to play more concerts in more different cities to more listeners than any other symphony orchestra in the world," according to advance releases.

In its eight-month season, the musicians plan, on an average, 1940 public performances.

Rasmussen Sees Patton

(Continued from page four) Panama surged to within a matter of inches of the winner at the tape. Rasmussen also pointed out that La Beach made three false starts, enabling Patton to grab a split-second advantage at the final start, which may have resulted in the hair-breadth victory margin.

Rasmussen was the only Oregon cinderman to make the southern trip. He was accompanied by Leo Harris, University athletic director.

and Alpha Tau Omega and between Chi Psi, Phi Psi, and Merrick hall have thrown the playoffs into a state of confusion. Only one game is definitely scheduled for today: Phi Delta Theta and Delta Tau Delta will meet at four o'clock on the North field. Other teams slated for play off action will be notified during the day.
