Some Rules of Thumb for Monday

No matter who wins Monday's ASUO elections, it will have been a hard fight. The side that wins will not have had an easy time of it, this year of the three parties.

Certain debatable issues will also have been settled. Among these issues are the permanence of the social split on the campus, and the unassailability of the Greek bloc.

If Warren Miller and his USA don't come through this year when the conditions are favorable toward a third party, the campus may well dig in for an interminable siege. Students may then face the fact that Greeks and Independents cannot get along together, that political friendship between the two groups is impossible.

Greeks may then accept the fact that they are forever to be under the thumb of the "bloc" and the power politics it represents. They may take a dim view of ever again asserting themselves as individuals in the campus political picture. In future years they may have good cause to wonder if it is worthwhile even to go out to vote.

Sunday, unless we are misinformed, will see a series of Greek "scare meetings," with bloc politicians visiting doubtful houses and threatening the membership (especially the freshmen) with loss of Kwama and Phi Theta preference if they stray from the fold. They will doubtless carry with them the old fiction about "We know how you vote."

Obviously both assertions are false. Kwama and Phi Theta are too well balanced to be controlled by the bloc, and the secret ballot is still secret. Nobody knows how a person votes. Numbered ballots are no give-away. Ballots are numbered in the best of elections.

The only rule of thumb that can serve as a good guide to voting in campus elections is the old rule of "search thy soul." Vote for the person and vote for the party that you think best represents what is good in government. Consider the individual, of course. But consider, too, the system which put him up. Consider what he represents. Vote for the future. Vote for the system you honestly think should prevail.

With those principles in mind no students should go wrong.

tary of state: Flagg, 16,398; Newbry, 25,441. For state treasurer: Unander, 10,149; Bean, 15,237; Belton, 9,753.

Harris Ellsworth seemed assured of re-nomination to run for representative to congress from Oregon's fourth district, as early returns showed him leading Robert L. Parsons 5,987 to 824.

Other congressional returns follow:

First district: Norblad, 4,134; Hensley, 1,822. Second District: Stockman, 6,358; Weatherspoon, 1,834. Third District: Angell, 13,182; Rushlight, 2,567.

Tickets Available

Tickets for the intrasquad football game today for the general public will be on sale until noon today at the athletic ticket office in McArthur court. Prices are 60 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Veterans' wives will be admitted at student prices.

Frosh Counselors Must Attend Meets

Prospective freshman counselors will be oriented at meetings to be held at the YWCA bungalow May 25, 26, and 27. Meeting time is 4 p.m.

Those girls who have petitioned to be counselors should go to any one of the meetings. Girls not attending one of the meetings will be dropped.

Jordan Sangsters

Guest speaker at the 11 a.m. service at First Baptist church will be the Rev. Earl S. Kalland, Th.D., president of Western Baptist Theological seminary, Portland, who will speak on "Profitable Living." The evening service at 7:30 will consist of a concert by the "Wings Over Jordan Negro Choir," pictured above, followed by a brief message on "Triumphant Faith" by Dr. Harry O. Anderson.

was so deeply indoctrinated with new deal ideals as was Wallace's agricultural department. And no department so faithfully sought to have those ideas work.

Gets Nomination

In 1940 Wallace received the nomination for vice-presidency that put him into the same office his father had held under Warren Harding. Strong opposition to Wallace was beaten by the support of Roosevelt, who favored the Iowan.

Roy C. McCall, head of the speech department, will introduce the speaker Tuesday at 3 p.m. in McArthur court. Classes will continue as usual during the lecture time.

Tri-Delts Ready Pansy Ring Fete

Thousands of pansies are arriving by plane today to be used in the construction of the Tri-Delt pansy ring, according to Dede Hintzen and Barbara Henton, co-chairmen. All students are invited to witness the pansy ring ceremony which will take place on the Tri Delt lawn at 10 a.m. Sunday.

More than twenty engaged senior women, representing living organizations over the campus will walk through the seven-foot arch of flowers. A style show of costumes appropriate for the wedding trip as well as a bride's gown will highlight entertainment. Clothes are being loaned by Russell's store. There will be harp and vocal numbers.

Preceding the ceremony, there will be a breakfast for the honored guests. Miss Hazel M. Ohmert, retiring district president of Delta Delta Delta will be a special guest.

In the event of rain, the ring will be moved indoors, the committee has stated.

Husky Netters Ahead

PULLMAN, Wash., May 21—(UP). The University of Washington netmen swept both singles and doubles matches in the first half of the Northern Division tennis tournament here today to set the pace for Saturday's final sessions.
