

ASA Aspirants Outline Planks For Juniors

For the first time, as far as is known, the ASA candidates for junior class posts have formulated a concrete platform for the junior elections, according to Al Pietschman, ASA publicity director.

The platform was written by members of the junior class with the belief that such a platform is definitely needed, especially since the class is in charge of all Junior Weekend events, Pietschman said.

The platform is as follows:

1. Promote and encourage the successful performance of the ceremonies and traditions of this year's Junior Weekend.
2. Secure the dismissal of all scheduled classes during Junior Weekend.
3. Appoint all chairmanships of committees, including general chairmanship, on a just and impartial basis in order that the entire weekend may be representatively organized and carried out.
4. Increase the present activities of the Housing Committee so that housing is more readily obtainable and eliminate misunderstandings such as those that resulted from payment of two night's bill so that one night's lodging could be obtained.
5. Include in the Prom a "Mother's Dance" or inauguration of some other suitable means of recognition of mothers and guests at the dance so that they will not be left "sitting around."
6. Comply with and support the student administration at all times, and with popular opinion as expressed through the action and words of the Junior Class and student body.

These are not being put up as

Ye Tabard Inn Returns to UO

After an absence of five years the tabards of Ye Tabard Inn returned to the Oregon campus Friday. Hans Wold, Dick Nelson, Warren Collier, Dick Rayburn, and Frederick Wickman, who were recently accepted for membership in Tabard Inn of Sigma Upsilon, national men's honorary, will wear the brown and green cloaks on the campus for the next week.

Ye Tabard Inn recently reactivated through the aid of several writers and members of the University faculty.

The present membership includes Maurice O'Callaghan, Bill Moxley, Robert Payne, Edward McNulty, Gerald Lundy, Gordon Rennie, Robert Hollis, Alvin Wiebe, Leland Huff, Charles Steel, Robert B. Smith, Robert Dasch, and Jack Lawson. Faculty members are Randall Mills, Carlisle Moore, Frank G. Black, and Robert D. Horn.

Ye Tabard Inn was established at Oregon in 1914 by Edison Marshall and other student writers. It was sponsored by Dr. W. F. G. Thacher, who guided the organization until the war depleted its membership in 1941.

Cleanup Squad Meets at Igloo at 9

Members of the Mortar Board Ball cleanup committee will meet at McArthur court at 9 this morning to receive instructions. Jeanine Macaulay, chairman, asks that all on the committee report.

idle campaign promises, Pietschman stressed, but as planks that will be worked for and carried out to the best of the candidate's ability.

University Propeller Club 'Port' Celebrates Maritime Day Today

Examining one of the posters being used in connection with the Propeller club celebration of National Maritime day today are, left to right, Bill Rau, Professor A. L. Lomax, and Leland Lenneville. (Photo by Kirk Braun.)

Celebrating National Maritime day on the campus today is the University's "port" of the Propeller club of the United States. In connection with the celebration the local group has arranged special exhibits in the library and Commerce hall.

"National Maritime day," according to Bill Rau, president of the University port, "is a time set aside to evaluate properly the place of American shipping in the national scheme."

History has shown that between America's wars the merchant marine has been cut adrift from national planning and permitted to fall into a position weaker than the country can afford, Rau said yesterday.

"While we celebrate National Maritime day," he said, "we should resolve that American shipping, like American armed might, must not be less than our nation needs."

The University port was founded in 1937 under the direct sponsorship of the Portland Propeller club. The national organization was founded in New York in 1923 by a group of shipping men who believed that national attention should be focused upon the need for an American merchant marine.

Thirty colleges and universities now have student ports.

Officers of the local port, besides

Info on Graduation Ready After June 1

Seniors can pick up graduation information at room 8, Friendly hall, any time on or after June 1, according to Les Anderson, alumni secretary.

He said this will include three commencement tickets and instructions for the ceremonies.

Hours of the alumni office are 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. daily.

Math Honorary Elects Officers

Pi Mu Epsilon, mathematics honorary, elected new officers this week. They are John Olson, director; Carl Pride, vice-director; and Gene Thompson, secretary.

The officers announced that new initiates may pick up their membership certificates in the mathematics office, quonset 4B.

Coast Trip Planned By Outing Club

Coast trip plans by the Outing club have been completed and arrangements made for the use of the 4. Re-evaluation of the Service for May 29, 30, and 31.

Any girl may attend the trip by signing the notice posted in Gerlinger hall as soon as possible. Transportation will be provided, but each girl should bring her own bed roll.

Warm weather came just in time to save the shorn taxpayer.

Rau, are John Lewis, vice-president, Hollis Anne Hackley, secretary, and Max Angus, treasurer. A. L. Lomax, professor of business administration, is port adviser.

NO. 1

BOB HENDERSON

Council Reps:

- Senior — JUNE GOETZE
 Junior — ART JOHNSON
 Sophomore — ANITA HOLMES

Open, Direct Primaries
 Student Managed Intramurals
 Available Constitutions
 Revived Assemblies

NO. 2

HELEN NICKUM

Class Officers:

- Senior—Don Latham
 Eleanor Belgum
 Junior—Lauren McReynolds
 Virginia Thompson
 Soph.—Don Smith
 Jackie Barbee

VOTE ISA

Paid Advertisement

Co-op Board:

- DON DAVIS
 PHIL HEPPNER
 DAVE CROMWELL

Yell King:

Steve Gann