Aiken's 1948 Football Machine To Perform on Hayward Field; Whites Favored to Win Contest

A preview of the gridiron machine that will carry Oregon's 1948 Rose Bowl hopes next fall will be shown today, starting at 2 p.m. when Coach Jim Aiken sends his charges through an intrasquad football game on Hayward field.

The intrasquad fray will climax the two-day second annual high school coaches' clinic sponsored by the athletic department Friday and today. Over 100 coaches have been attending the clinic.

Large Crowd Expected

Eight thousand spectators are expected to be on hand for the game if the weather is good. The 75-man squad has been divided into two teams, the Whites and the Greens, with the first and third elevens combining for the former, and the second and fourth strings making the Greens.

Aiken predicted a high scoring contest, with a slight edge given to the whites on basis of their greater experience. A determining factor may be the quarterback posts, which will be filled on the White squad by All-coast Norm Van Brocklin, and on the Green eleven by slender Joe Tom, a willing but inexperienced youngster. Backing up Tom will be Earl Stelle, strong-armed lad up from last year's Frosh team.

Coaches Here

The visiting coaches will be guests of the athletic department, and a special section in the west grandstand has been reserved for them today. The clinic will conclude at noon today, with a luncheon at John Straub.

Spectators will get a chance to see several newcomers in action in backfield posts. Woodley Lewis, number one candidate for Jake Leicht's old spot at left half, will start for the Whites in that position. On the Green's, the left half-back slot will be filled by Johnny McKay, Purdue transfer, who is closely pressing Lewis for the first string job.

All Lettermen

The remaining members of the Whites are all lettermen, and everyone but Bob Anderson at right end is a holdover from last year. Anderson was a letterman on the 1945 eleven.

The Green squad has several newcomers on its starting roster. At left tackle is Sam Nevills, former first-stringer and teammate of McKay on the Purdue team. Left guard Chet Daniels was a mainstay on the Frosh team last fall, and so was Center Dave Gibson. Right end Les Hagen is also a newcomer, up from Tacoma junior college. At fullback, Bud Boqua, husky Springfield lad who was ineligible last year, will perform.

Regular Rules

The game will be played under regulation rules and conditions, with conference officials. Honorary referee for the tilt will be Gretchen Fraser, the Olympic ski champion, who will flip the coin before the kickoff.

Regular officials for the game are: Mickey Davis, referee; Ed Beach, umpire; George Eilers, head linesman; Wayne Bauer, field judge.

The starting lineups will be slightly changed for the kickoff, with Ben Holcomb and DeWayne Johnson likely in the Green backfield, and Bob Oas in the Whites.

Two Frosh Hit Homers As Linfield Falls, 21-7

By SAM FIDMAN

Uncorking a 16-hit batting attack, Oregon's Frosh baseball squad overwhelmed the Linfield Junior Varsity yesterday at McMinnville by a score of 21 to 7.

The hitting barrage featured home runs off the bats of Catcher Eddie Artzt and First Baseman Don Peterson. Peterson's blow came in the seventh inning with Brad Fullerton on base, while Artzt poled his four-bagger in the fifth with no one aboard.

Bob Palmer hurled eight and one third innings for the Ducklings, and was relieved in the last stanza by Joe Elkins. The Linfielders shelled the Frosh offerings for 13 safeties, but only in the ninth inning could they muster up a real threat. At this point, with one away, Elkins came in to put out the fire, which had flared up with four runs.

This was the second Duckling triumph over Linfield this season, the first being a 10 to 2 on lower Howe field.

Linfield's starting pitcher, who happened to be named Miracle, couldn't produce one in his six innings of toil, as Barney Koch's terrors devastated him for 16 of their 21 runs. Included in Linfield's hitting attack was one four-master, which made a total of three hit during the afternoon.

Koch's charges, who now have a season's record of six wins against only three defeats, headed for Portland immediately after the Linfield slaughter was over. They are slated to meet Vanport college in a double header this afternoon on the Vanport lot.

Score by Innings

Frosh	503	413	230-21 16 2
Linfield JV	102	000	004-7 13 5

Palmer, Elkins (9) and Artzt; Miracle, Burchart (7) and Huntley, Walker (7).

Golfers Ready for ND Finals

By KEN JOHNSON

Spectators will be treated today to a Northern Division golf tournament that promises to be the best of all time. The teams tee off at 8:30 this morning on the Eugene Country club course to decide the champion of northern teams and to pick the squad which will travel to the National Collegiate Athletic association playoffs.

All competing teams practiced on the newly lengthened course yesterday to get the feel of their clubs after the journey here. Washington, Washington State, Oregon State, Idaho, and Montana will fight it out with the favored Oregon squad for top honors.

OSC Rated

Oregon State, previously underrated, won a match with Washington State Thursday which, coupled with another season victory of Oregon, labels them as a team to watch.

The highly-touted Washington divoteers are rated about even to Oregon but the Webfoots are given a slight edge because of experience on the home course. Washington features such golfers as diminutive Ed Draper and Jim Mallory, both long-hitting, smooth-stroking boys. Draper was medalist in the Washington-Oregon match earlier in the season and has not been defeated in Northern Division golf this year.

Oregon will claim such stars as Lou Stafford, last year's medalist in the tourney and runner-up in the national public links championship in 1946, and Dom Provost, who has been leading the Ducks in medal scores this year. Provost was a doubtful entry with an arm infection, but will play today.

The honor or medalist in the tourney will be sought by many outstanding golfers this year. Most probable contenders for the lau-
